The King's Blood Stream.
No More Ice Age.

By ARTHUR BRISBANE

(Copyright, 1928.)

One hundred years ago a small piece of land, part of the old Botanical Gardens in New York, was bought for $4,807.36. The land, three blocks, is on Fifth avenue.

John D. Rockefeller, Jr., has just secured that piece of property for $100,000,000, an increase to make a good Single Taxer shudder.

MR. ROCKEFELLER will use part of the property for a new opera house, to be built in a fashion to allow students and others that have musical talent, but no diamond necklaces, to see and hear.

The money goes to Columbia College, which now owns the land.

That probably reconciles Mr. Rockefeller to so large an investment.

He inherits from his father, who gave tens of millions to the University of Chicago, an interest in educational enterprises.

THE King's condition worries his doctors once more. Actinic rays, artificially produced, stimulating the blood's white cells to activity, have worked wonders.

But they must work with such blood as the King has. That blood is tired, poisoned by the invading streptococci.

Transfusion of young, energetic blood, at intervals of three or four days, in small quantities, should have been resorted to.

DR. LEOPOLD STIEGLITZ, a distinguished physician of New York, could tell the King's doctors of a recent case in his practice in which a blood infection, almost invariably fatal, caused by the streptococcus mocosus entering the blood stream from the mastoid sinus, was cleared up as though by miracle in a few days, thanks to blood transfusion.

FOLLOW the discussions of 5,000 scientists, gathered in New York, and gain wisdom.

The various ice periods made us what we are, largely. Chasing living creatures from the North towards the Equator they mixed up the races of men and animals.

Before the first ice age, 1,250,000 years ago, the earth's climate was mild everywhere. It will return to that condition about 100,000 years hence.

WE HAVE seen the last ice age, probably shall never have another, and should be grateful for those we have had. They made men use their brains and drove them into caves to escape the cold. There, sitting around a smoky fire, primitive man got acquainted with his wife and children. That civilized him, and permanent marriage started.

THE ice age started the clothing business. This is not as was formerly believed a young planet, only 500,000,000 years old. It is at least 1,000,000,000 years old. This is proved in many ways, among others by the amount of salt that streams and rivers have washed into the ocean during the billion years.

For the first time since George Washington, the President is an engineer, and one that knows the United States, its problems, and knows thoroughly the science of engineering.

NO KNOWLEDGE is more important to our industry and prosperity, in which science and engineering play so great a part.

Scientific engineering can protect the United States against all possible danger of invasion or air attack.

It can find work for all those that need it, work for the government, and tremendously profitable to the government.

AN ASSOCIATION organized in honor of Woodrow Wilson held its annual dinner, but didn't give a peace prize to anybody. Secretary Kellogg certainly worked hard enough to deserve a prize.

President Coolidge deserves two prizes, for continuing to mind his own business, and for minding the business of the United States, leaving Europeans to mind theirs.

PERHAPS the Woodrow Wilson committee doesn't like to honor any Republican, like the colored lady whose apartment was invaded by a burglar while a Bryan parade was passing. Asked why she didn't scream, she put her head out of the window and replied, "I didn't want folks to think I was hollering for Bryan."

The one remaining awake and talking, for the greatest number of hours, receives $1,000.

A civilization that does not allow one man to torture another should not allow human beings to torture themselves for profit.

THE "holy man of Benares" who sits all day on sharp spikes, collecting cash from the devout, ought to be taken off his spikes and put to useful work, assuming that he is not a fraud.

Even the Reverend St. Simeon Stylites, sitting on top of his column, would have been a better Christian had he climbed down and worked for the poor.

SEWICKLEY VOTES TO LIFT BAN

Sunday amusements and Sunday concerts will be inaugurated at the Sewickley Young Men's Christian Association tomorrow. The new policy has been adopted in obedience to popular demand. Entertainment will be provided for both sexes.

Putting into effect the decision of Sewickley citizens, as expressed recently in a vote taken by mail, in favor of a more generous attitude towards Sabbath observance, the borough Y. M. C. A. has arranged an attractive program of athletics and music. A large crowd is expected.

TIME DIVIDED WITH GIRLS

The swimming pool will be opened for girls at 1:15 p. m. At 2 o'clock the girl swimmers will give way to boys.

At 3 o'clock a concert will be given by a chorus under the direction of Amanda Vierheller. Christmas music will be featured.

At 4 o'clock there will be a meeting for men and boys in the gymnasium. Group singing, instrumental music and a short address will compose the program. Refreshments will be served. All men and boys of Sewickley are invited.

Heretofore the borough's $150,000 Y. M. C. A. building has been deserted on Sunday. It was permitted to use it on that day only for religious exercises. Efforts were made from time to time to hold religious meetings, but they were not successful, as only a handful of people attended.

RICH GOLFED, POOR DIDN'T

The Y. M. C. A.'s nine-hole golf course, its tennis courts and its baseball diamond also were deserted on Sundays. The members were not permitted to use them. In the meanwhile, however, the golf course of the Allegheny Country Club and the tennis courts of the Edgeworth Club, not far distant from the "Y," were thronged with Sunday players. The membership of these clubs is drawn from the more wealthy residents.

The movement in favor of opening the "Y" on Sunday gained such momentum that it was determined not long ago to put the question up to the citizens through a mail referendum. A large majority voted in favor of permitting the institution to be used for harmless sports and entertainment, even though not of a religious nature.

Quake Reported In Philippines

MANILA, Dec. 29.—(AP.)—The weather bureau reported today that a "fairly strong" earthquake had occurred at Zamboanga, capital of the province of that name. The shock also was felt at Jolo, Island of Sulu, but was much less intense.

No damage was reported.

Dead Chicken Used To Kill Sweetheart

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 29.—(INS.)—James Chandler, a Negro, was held today for murder following a coroner's inquest which revealed Chandler had beaten his sweetheart, Jessie Gafford, to death with a dead chicken.

11-Degree Drop To Bring Snow Here Tonight

The mercury will take an 11-degree slump to 25 tonight, accompanied by occasional light snow flurries, Forecaster W. S. Brotzman predicted today. The lowest last night was 36.

Predicted rain, if any, will be light, Brotzman said, as a forerunner of the cold.

"Cloudy weother with normal winter temperature is the week-end prospect," said the weather man.

ALL-STAR GRID TEAMS WAIT WHISTLE

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 29.—(AP.)—Football squads from opposite sides of the country were on their toes for their fourth annual East-West intersectional charity game here today.

Gridiron stars from many colleges and universities are included in the starting lineup.

EAST PICKED TO WIN

The westerners held a big edge in the matter of victories thus far, having won the last three games played, but the easterners were favorites to win.

Injuries forced a reorganization of the West team two days ago, when Mort Kaer, former University of Southern California star, was substituted for Brick Marcus, California halfback. The latter broke his shoulder in a scrimmage session.

50,000 TICKETS SOLD

Practice for the eastern eleven has gone along smoothly in the Stanford University Stadium, and reports of their showing there have made them favorites.

Upwards of 50,000 tickets have been sold for the contest, and game officials expect a capacity crowd of 60,000.

Howard Harpster, all-America quarterback, of Carnegie Tech; Getto, all-America lineman, and Fox, of Pitt, and Aschman, of W. & J., will start for Andy Kerr's East team.

SCHOOL HEADS PONDER FLU

School boards in many boroughs and townships will meet today to decide whether the county public schools will reopen as scheduled on Wednesday.

As a precautionary measure against influenza, classes at the University of Pittsburgh and the Carnegie Institute of Technology will not be resumed until January 7.

The city's public schools will reopen Wednesray, it has been announced.

A slight decrease in new pneumonia cases in the city was noted yesterday, when 114 cases were reported, as compared with 141 for Thursday. Pneumonia cases to date this year total more than 700.

The department of drama at Carnegie Tech has postponed its production of "Richelieu, or the Conspiracy," from the week of January 3 to the following week.

BANK PLAN OK'D BY MELLON

Secretary of the Treasury A. W. Mellon, who is spending a few days vacation here, said today that a new government building to house the Western Pennsylvania branch of the Fourth District Federal Reserve Bank is contemplated in Pittsburgh.

"The matter has not been settled," he said. "The Federal Reserve Board must make the decision. However, the present quarters on Penn avenue are inadequate and I feel that the new building will come."

Secretary Mellon would not comment on the report that the Grant School site at Strawberry way and Grant street is being considered as the location of the new structure, but said that he believed the Liberty avenue property eventually will be sold.

The story that the new branch is contemplated rst was published exclusively in the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph yesterday.

Secretary Mellon, reticent as usual, declined to give any expression of opinion on what the New Year holds for the Pittsburgh district. Standing by a window in the Mellon National Bank overlooking Smithfield street, smoking a miniature cigar, he gave his reason:

NO PREDICTION

"I do not like to make predictions," he said. "So many p redictions are made at this season of the year and another would be commonpleace. I am hete to spend the holidays with my family and have nothing to say on public questions. But there is nothing wrong with Pittsburgh. Pittsburgh is keeping pace with other American cities."

Asked to comment on the many improvements in the Pittsburgh district, he said, "Every time I come here I see new buildings, but I haven't had much time to go around during my visit."

Duce's Land Seizure Arouses Germans

VIENNA, Dec. 29.—(P.)—Innsbruck dispatches to Vienna papers say that Premier Mussolini has ordered forcible expropriation of 2,750 acres of pasture land in the Italian South Tyrol. The 2,000 German families who are dispossessed are said to be deeply indignant over the small compensation offered. According to the dispatches the land is to be given to former soldiers who are members of the Fascist organization in order to replace German elements with Italian settlers in this territory.

Marines Will Quit China In January

SHANGHAI, Dec. 29.—(INS.)—Most of the Sixth Regiment of United States Marines, stationed at Tien-Tsin, will sail for San Francisco aboard the transport Henderson early in January, it was learned today. It was reported that Gen. Smedley Butler, commander of the Marines in China, will leave for the United States about the same time.

Heiress to Barker Millions Divorced

CHICAGO, Dec. 29.—(AP.)—Mrs. Catherine Barker Spaulding, heiress to a $33,000,000 estate, was granted a divorce from her husband, Howard H. Spaulding, yesterday by Judge Joseph Sabath in Superior Court. Mrs. Spaulding is the only heir of John H. Barker, of Michigan City, Ind., railroad car manufacturer. Spaulding is a lumber manufacturer.

DAMAGED INTERIOR OF SIXTH STREET RESTAURANT

This is the damage caused by fire and firemen's activities in fighting it in Bell Restaurant, 121 Sixth street, early this morning when a score of guests were routed from the Hotel Strand, on upper floors. Total damage was estimated at $10,000.

PITTSBURGH AID BARES KING'S REAL DANGER

The arrival in England of a Pittsburgh shipment of Carrell-Dakin antiseptic solution, ready for use today in Buckingham Palace in efforts to save the life of King George, has revealed the fact that the King had undergone a far more serious operation than was generally known.

Nearly a month ago, it became known today, a section of rib was removed to permit draining of pus. This left a large wound. The Dakin solution is for use in keeping that wound surgically clean.

CALLS ON WAR COMRADE

The preparation was ordered by cable through the British embassy by Lord Dawson of Penn, one of the King's physicians, who became familiar with the use of the Dakin solution during the World War in his association with Dr. William O'Neill Sherman, chief surgeon of the Carnegie Steel Company here. Remembering the marvelous results in the treatment of wounds with the fluid, Lord Dawson ordered the solution from his old comrade in arms in Pittsburgh.

American-made Dakin antiseptic manufactured by an electrolytic method is declared to be chemically pure and more effective than the preparations made in England and other European countries. It has been disclosed only now, even in Britain, that in removing the pus formed in the chest of the royal patient following a condition of empyema, a section of the seventh rib was extracted. This left a wound so large, physicians said, that a quart of Dakin's solution will be required in each treatment. It

Lithuanian Bishop Dies In Scranton

SCRANTON, Pa., Dec. 29.—(AP.)—Rt. Rev. John Gritenas, first bishop of the Lithuanian National Catholic Church of America, died at his home here last night. The bishop was taken ill shortly after his return to the city on December 2 from Pittsburgh, where he consecrated St. George's Lithuanian National Catholic Church. Bishop Gritenas was 44 years of age and is survived by one sister, Mrs. Michalino Petrauskas, of Brooklyn, N. Y.

N. Y. Rector Shies At Bigger Job In Phila.

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 29.—(AP.)—Doubt that he would accept the position of Bishop-coadjutor of the Protestant Episcopal Church of Pennsylvania, was expressed yesterday by Dr. Walter Russell Bowie, rector of Grace Church, New York, after a tour of the diocese with Bishop Garland.

"It is a question whether I can leave my present responsibilities," Dr. Bowie said to newspapermen. "There is much to be done. Naturally one is inclined to stay where one is instead of uprooting old associations."

Dr. Bowie said his final answer would be made probably next week.

KING'S CHANCES UNCERTAIN

International News Service.

Some hope was seen in the bulletin issued this morning by the King's physicians. It read:

"The King has had a quiet night and there is a very slight change for the better in His Majesty's condition."

It was signed "Hewitt, Rigby, Dawson."

The Prince of Wales went to Leicestershire today for a fox hunting excursion, which was generally regarded as a sign of more optimism in the royal family.

The hunting expedition was marked by a tragedy. W. M. Wroughton, former master of the Woodland-Pytchley hunt, was thrown from his horse and killed. The Prince did not witness the accident.

HEART TROUBLES

The greatest fears for the King now center about the condition of his heart. His general condition, according to the physicians in at-

WASHINGTON, Dec. 29.—Senator-elect William S. Vare, of Pennsylvania, who for two years has been kept out of his seat in the Senate, was speeding to Florida today on his private car, despite his being summoned to appear January 4 before the Reed senatorial committee that has investigated his case.

Vare passed through the Capital last night. His physician said he was in no shape to appear in Washington. Members of his party denied that he left Atlantic City hurriedly or bcause of the threat to take the Senate committee to him in the New Jersey resort.

DOCTOR TO SEE COMMITTEE

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 29.—(AP.)—Senator-elect William S. Vare, stricken with paralysis five months ago, was en route to his Florida home at St. Lucie today on the order of his physician, Dr. Ellwood R. Kirby.

Dr. Kirby accompanied his patient as far as Washington, where he is prepared to go before the Senate committee investigating campaign funds and explain that it is "physically impossible" for Mr. Vane to appear at this time. Recently the Senator-elect had been notified that January 4 was the final date on

Ale Taster, Pig Driver Fees Cut Out

ASHBURTON, Eng., Dec. 29.—(INS.)—Municipal fees that have been paid for 800 years will be abolished, according to a decision just taken by the Ashburton Urban Council. These fees include 60 cents each to the official ale taster, pig drover, town crier, bread weigher and scavenger, and 25 cents to the bell ringer.

6 FIREMEN HURT IN 6TH ST.

A hotel guest and six firemen were overcome by smoke or injured early today in a fire that did damage estimated at $10,000 to two Sixth street business houses which occupy the first floor of the Strand Hotel. More than a score of guests at the Strand were forced to the street.

Many of them were chorus girls who fled from their rooms into the cold street in night clothing.

F. H. Glasco, 28, an automobile salesman, of Tampa, Fla., was found hanging over a balustrade on the third floor of the hotel by Fireman Frank Seibert, of No. 1 water tower. Suffering from the effects of smoke, Glasco was treated at the Allegheny General Hospital and then returned to the hotel.

STARTS IN RESTAURANT

Fire started in the cellar of the Bell Restaurant, at 121 Sixth street, and spread to the basement of the Henry Shirt Shop, at 123 Sixth street. Firemen were forced to face dense clouds of smoke in entering the place. District Chief George Spahr suffered a sprained back and injured right leg when he fell down a flight of steps in the rear of the hotel. He was treated by Dr. Daniel E. Sable, chief surgeon of the Public Safety Department, and sent home.

Fire Capts. Sol Kreamer, of No. 3 Engine Company, and Edward Kerr, of No. 1 squad wagon, were overcome, as was Fireman William Lynch, of the squad wagon. They were taken to Mercy Hospital along with Hoseman John Greneth and Fireman William Brophy. Lynch and Kerr also were burned about

Grand Duchess Marie Visits Film Studios

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 29.—(INS.)—Grand Duchess Marie of Russia, first cousin of the late Czar Nicholas, was in Los Angeles today confessing a frankly plebian curiosity about the movies.

She is scheduled to visit several of the largest motion picture studios today as a guest of honor.

She looks forward with pleasure to renewing acquaintance with Douglas Fairbanks and Mary Pickford, whom she met abroad. It is her first visit to America.

Guard Kenosha Jail Against Gangsters

KENOSHA, Wis., Dec. 29.—(INS.)—Receipts of a tip that five New York gangsters were en route to free Eddie Kane, alleged member of the "Boston Billy" gang of jewel thieves, caused an unusually heavy guard to be set up around the Kenosha county jail today.

Kane is wanted for the murder of policemen by both New York and Greenwich (Conn.) authorities. He also is wanted in New York in connection with the $90,000 Livermore jewel robbery.

Man Drops Dead, Shooting at Wife

Failing to shoot his wife after firing at her twice, James Boyler, 54, Negro, of 7300 Tioga street, dropped dead of heart disease in his home late yesterday, police say.

Boyler's estranged wife, Erana Boyler, 39, visited him yesterday and an argument arose. Boyler is alleged to have fired at her as she fled and then collapsed and died from the excitement.

Thieves With Sweet Tooth Loot Stores

Thieves with a sweet tooth were abroad last night. Candy and cigarets valued at $50 and $40 in cash were taken from a chain store at 2211 Fifth avenue, according to police. Another chain store at 289 Forty-third street was robbed of candy and cigarets and $2 in cash.

Counterfeit $20 Bills Discovered

ST. PAUL, Minn., Dec. 29.—(AP.)—Circulation in Fargo, N. D., of counterfeit federal reserve bank notes of $20 denomination has been revealed in shipments of currency from Fargo to Twin City banks.

PREACHER AND YOUNG GIRL FOUND IN CABIN, ARRESTED

DILLSBURG, Pa., Dec. 29.—(AP.)—Peter Wise, 61, unordained minister, who disappeared with Miss Annie Shields, 20, last Wednesday night, was in jail today and the girl was returned to her parents living on a farm near Hogestown, Pa.

They were discovered late last night in a cabin along the road between Dillsburg and East Berlin by four men hunting foxes.

Wise was held on a charge of misappropriating $12 from the Salem Methodist Church, where he conducted services.

Their disappearance was noted last Wednesday night when Wise failed to appear for a scheduled prayer meeting at the church. J. K. Shields, parent of the missing girl, asked police to search for them.

GUNS' SALUTE AT THEATER FETE SHATTERS WINDOWS

Windows in the John A. Scott Company building and in the new Enright Theater at Penn avenue and Beatty street, were shattered by concussion during the firing of a salute at the dedication of the theater last night.

Although the glass showered the streets, no casualties were reported to police, they say.

A battery of the One Hundred and Seventh Field Artillery participating in the ceremonies of the theater named after Thomas F. Enright, the first Pittsburgher killed in the World War, fired the salute in front of the theater as several thousand persons looked on. A ticket window and a large plate glass window were shattered in the theater building.

CARELESS CITIZENS BLAMED FOR DIRTY STREETS HERE

MORE STRICT LAW URGED ON FILTH

A more severe penalty for throwing rubbish on the streets and the strict enforcement of the ordinance forbidding littering them with trash, are two ways to make Pittsburgh's thoroughfares clean, according to Charles A. Hillegas, superintendent of highways and sewers. Mr. Hillegas' department is charged with keeping the streets clean.

Hillegas today admitted the need for some such movement for cleaner streets as suggested in an editorial in The Sun-Telegraph yesterday. The city can cope with the dust, Hillegas said, but is unable to overcome the deluge of rubbish which citizens daily toss into the streets. All of Pittsburgh's trouble in this respect, he says, is due principally to the people themselves.

The city ordinance which forbids throwing of rubbish onto the streets is punishable by a maximum fine of $5, Hillegas said, and herein lies much of the trouble.

STREETS CLEANED NIGHTLY

"We clean the downtown streets every night," he said, "and then along come careless citizens in the morning who undo our work. This $5 fine does not act as a deterrent and in most cases it is not enforced. Although my department is not the law-enforcing department, we have caused several arrests to be made as test cases, but in most instances the offenders were either discharged or given the small fine.

"What is needed is more teeth in the present ordinance governing this throwing of rubbish into the streets. Time after time we have attempted to stop it and offenders have been let go with a warning or fined $5. We are practically powerless to stop it under present conditions."

SAN FRANCISCO CITED

Hillegas cited the case of San Francisco, said to have very clean streets, due, he said, to the fact that the ordinance there against littering streets with papers and rubbish is enforced. Strict enforcement of a strong ordinance here, he said, would not only make the city more attractive but would also save the taxpayers the thousands of dollars now expended for labor in cleaning up.

Street cleaning here up to June 30, 1928, cost the city $692,654, Hillegas said, and this year he is asking that this amount be increased to $777,800. Mr. Hillegas said he would welcome any concerted campaign on the part of city officials, civic organizations and citizens which would tend to bring about clean streets and keep them clean.

38 Events Planned At Munich Carnival

MUNICH, Germany, Dec. 29.—(INS.)—Thirty-eight events, most of them artists' balls, will be crowded into the 37 days of the coming Munich carnival. The first of these will take place on Epiphany, January 5, although the festival really begins with the entrance of "Prince Carnival" on January 7. In addition to the chief events of the season there will be numerous small artists' festivals and carnival attractions in the great Munich beer halls, and special performances in the cabarets and large hotels.

Mother of 8, Cuts Throat at Renton

NEW KENSINGTON, Pa., Dec. 29.—Temporary insanity is thought to have led Mrs. Mary Testa, 47, house 133, Renton, to slash her throat with a butcher knife. Today at Citizens General Hospital her condition was reported as serious. Mrs. Testa was found by one of her eight children, who called her husband, Louie.

Marries Today

IRENE PAVLOSKA

Mme. Irene Pavloska, Chicago Civic Opera prima donna, and Dr. Maurice Elias Mesirow will be married today. Announcement was made only a few hours after Dr. Mesirow's wife, Mrs. Eda Mesirow, had been granted a divorce on the grounds of desertion.

is administered at intervals of two hours.

Lord Dawson, a general officer on the medical staff of the British army, adopted the Daken preparation in British hospitals during the war and made further experiments on subsequent trips to the United States. His last American visit was about two years ago.

REQUESTED BY EMBASSY

On a telephone request from Sir Esme Howard, British ambassador at Washington, Dr. Sherman dispatched 12 quarts of the fluid by special messenger to Sir Henry Armstrong, British consul general in New York. The package was placed in a special embassy mail sack and rushed on board the Olympic, which sailed just a week ago. A king's messenger took the package at Southampton and a special train carried him to London.

SHERMAN RETICENT

Dr. Sherman today was reluctant to discuss the part he had played in the effort to save King George's life. "In view of the delicacy of the situation it would be unbecoming for me to discuss the matter," he said. "The information should come from official sources in London."

The fact that a major operation had been undertaken was not disclosed until copies of a report of the king's physicians, published last week in the Lancet and British Medical Journal, reached this country. Bulletins issued by the physicians had mentioned a pleural puncture for the removal of pus, and a second operation also, but it was assumed that this second one, too, had been performed with a needle.

However, the Lancet revealed the need for an antiseptic of the Dakin type, as well as further details, hitherto unknown outside the Royal circle itself, that the King had periods of delirium, that he had turned livid for a time due to cyanosis (insufficient aeration of the blood); that his tongue had become cracked like that of a typhoid fever patient, and that he had the greatest difficulty in breathing.

5,340 Durant Plans Urge Modification

NEW YORK, Dec. 29.—(INS.)—Out of the 64,000 plans submitted in W. C. Durant's $25,000 prize contest, it was announced today, 5,340 of them urged modification of the Volstead act as the best way to make the Eighteenth Amendment affective.

40 NEW CITY JOBS SPIKED BY COUNCIL

Council balks at transferring 40 employes, engaged on special bond issue work, to the regular city payroll list. The request, made yesterday by Director of Public Works Edward G. Lang, would have involved an additional salary set-up of $135,000 for his department.

Sitting as budget committee, Council withheld approval of the Director's recommendation, but instead, appointed a committee to investigate the need of continuing the 40 employes on the payroll regularly.

"What is needed," declared Councilman P. J. McArdle, "is not more employes, but more service from those now employed. It is well known that some city employes come to work at 11 o'clock and quit at 4 o'clock."

The employes involved in the discussion had been hired by the Bureau of Engineering of the Public Works Department for bond issue work, and had completed those special duties.

Council will resume its budget sessions Monday.

WORRIES BRING SETBACK

"I am not concerned about political matters," Dr. Kirby said, "but solely with the welfare of Mr. Vare. His recovery is paramount to his family, business and politics, and for that reason he is going to Florida at my request and insistence.

"Conditions which have occurred in Philadelphia and recently in Washington have caused him so many worries and annoyance that a distinct setback has occurred in the progress of his recovery. Should the worries which occasion these symptoms continue, grave complications would result. The responsibility rests upon me to bring about the Senator's recovery."

POLITICS TO BE FORGOTTEN

Dr. John J. Shaw, who will accompany Mr. Vare to Florida, said when asked what would be the effect of an attempt by Mr. Vare to appear before the Senate committee:

"It would probably result in his death."

"My sole idea in going south is to regain my health," Mr. Vare said. "I am going to remain as quiet as possible and try to forget the worries of politics and business."

About 150 politicians met the train upon its arrival in Philadelphia from Atlantic City, and a few of them were permitted to shake hands with the Republican organization leader.

Auto Hurts, Thought Minor, Prove Fatal

DETROIT, Dec. 29.—(AP.)—Robert M. Jeffers, 43, vice president and general manager of the Richards-Oakland Motor Company, died in a hospital here yesterday from complications developing from what were believed to have been minor injuries suffered December 8 in an automobile accident here. He was president of the Cadillac Athletic Club of Detroit.

NEW YORK, Dec. 29.—Gov.-elect Franklin D. Roosevelt yesterday announced the appointment of Edward J. Flynn, New York City, chamberlain and Democratic leader of the Bronx, to the post of Secretary of State in his cabinet.

PRESIDENT IS HOST TO SCRIBES

By GEORGE E. DURNO.
International News Service.

SAPELO ISLAND, Ga., Dec. 29.—Reporters who attempt to "cover" President Coolidge's hunting trip yesterday from an airplane will give a close view of the chief executive's activities today, for they are to be the guests of honor at the festivities.

Today is "newspaper day," and all of the reporters and photographers at the island estate of Howard E. Coffin, where President and Mrs. Coolidge are spending their Christmas vacation, have been invited to report and photograph the day's doings. The program includes a deer drive, a barbecue luncheon, a beach "rodeo" and singing by a "spiritual" Negro choir, composed of Negro inhabitants of the island.

Five of the scribes are somewhat crestfallen over the failure of their scheme yesterday of "spying" on the President by airplane.

WANTED "EVIDENCE"

They wanted a physical report on the shooting of the six quail which represented the total bag of the third hunting expedition of the President's lifetime.

They got a beautiful aerial view of Sapelo Island and of Blackbear Island, where the day's hunt was held.

They got the story by telephone, as usual, third hand. Their only achievement was in getting within 4,000 feet of the huntsmen. They feared that low flying would have scared off any of the birds in the vicinity.

The plane returned and landed on the beach at St. Simons, where a telephone call to Sapelo finally elicited the information that "six quail had been shot by the party." The informant from the island would say only, however, that "most of them" had been shot by the President.

the face and hands. Greneth and Brophy were burned.

Firemen were forced to chop a hole through the tile flooring of the restaurant to direct streams of water on the blaze. A score of the fire fighters were endangered when an explosion shattered the large restaurant window.

SECOND ALARM

Chief Spahr sounded a second alarm when it was discovered that the blaze had spread to the shirt shop. Smoke also filled the clothing store of Raab Brothers at 125 Sixth street and the lobby and hallways of the Roosevelt Hotel. The management of the Roosevelt Hotel informed all the guests that the fire was in another building and that there was no real danger.

When the smoke began to fill the rooms of the Strand Hotel, which is located above the two damaged establishments, Percy Klein, the night clerk, ran through the halls arousing the guests.

The damage was estimated by Fire Chief Richard Smith. Assistant Superintendent of Police Leo Coleman, with a squad of police, kept traffic routed through other streets and kept crowds out of danger.

The fire damage was confined to the restaurant and shirt shop. The hotel proper and the clothing store suffered only slight loss through smoke.

Ex-Sheriff Gets Two Years in Embezzling

COATESVILLE, Pa., Dec. 29.—(AP.)—Ralph L. Hampton, former sheriff of Chester county, convicted of embezzling $25,000, has been sentenced to serve two to four years in the Eastern Penitentiary. Sentence was imposed by Judge Henry C. Niles. The defense was allowed 10 days in which to file an appeal and the former sheriff was released under $5,000 bail pending such action.

Our Cheer Boys Vex English Co-Ed

NEW YORK, Dec. 29.—(AP.)—Nancy Samuel, who has toured the country as a member of an English university debating team, is disappointed about cheering at American college football games. She had been told the leaders turned cartwheels. Those she observed only swayed.

HELDMAN JURY MEETS JAN. 7

CANTON, O., Dec. 29.—(AP.)—A grand jury will convene here January 7 to consider the cases of Wilbur O. Heldman, 27-year-old Lorain (O.) furnace salesman, charged with murder in the death of his wife, Margaret, 21, here December 13.

Immediately following announcement of the jury call, Frank N. Sweitzer, Heldman's counsel, demanded a preliminary hearing.

County Prosecutor Henry W. Harter, Jr., Sheriff Edward Gibson and Sweitzer conferred and set the hearing for 10 a. m. Monday.

The preliminary hearing has the power to hold Heldman for the grand jury or to release him. In event of his release, however, the prosecution can make its presentment to the grand jury as originally planned.

Coroner T. C. McQuate declared the state would attempt to build up a case of "moral murder" against Heldman, who claims his attractive young wife killed herself while he was bringing her to Canton to answer for the murder of Vernard E. Fearn, Canton coal dealer.

Utah Deputy Admits Thefts of $100,000

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah, Dec. 29.—(AP.)—State Treasurer John Walker announced yesterday that David J. Pugh, a deputy in his office, had confessed defalcations of more than $100,000.

Pugh made no effort to cover up the alleged shortage, and told Walker he had bet the money on horse races. He surrendered to the sheriff.

Falling Slate Kills Brownsville Miner

BROWNSVILLE, Pa., Dec. 29.—Caught under a fall of slate in the mine of the Rainey Coal Company at Fredericktown, three miles from here late yesterday, Albert Bonci, 45, was instantly killed. He leaves a wife and three children residing at Fredericktown.

Cochranton Man Shot Cleaning Own Gun

MEADVILLE, Pa., Dec. 29.—(AP.)—Ford Bailey, 19, of Cochranton, near here, was seriously wounded today when a revolver he was cleaning was discharged. The bullet struck him near the heart. He is in a local hospital.

HYDE AND WIFE DEAD, SAYS SEARCHER

PEACH SPRINGS, Ariz., Dec. 29.—(AP.)—Conviction that Glenn R. Hyde and his wife, formerly of Pittsburgh, perished in the swirling waters of the Colorado River, which they attempted to navigate on a honeymoon trip, was expressed here today by Emery Kolb, veteran river man.

Kolb and his brother, Ellsworth, first men to navigate the Grand Canyon, returned last night after a hazardous journey in the deep gorges in seach of the venturesome Hansen (Idaho) couple who left Bright Angel Trail in their homemade scow November 18. The Hydes expected to reach Needles, Cal., about December 1.

FOOTPRINTS PUZZLE

The Kolbs' theory leaves unexplained, however, the finding of footprints in the snow at points along the canyon rim above Diamond Creek by searchers who believed the prints had been made by the Hydes attempting to return to civilization.

The riverman reported that examination of the scow used by the couple to shoot the rapids indicated that disaster had overtaken them December 1 near where the craft was found, lodged in the rocks which clog the tortuous canyon riverbed, and where it was seen by Army aviators who joined in the extensive search begun two weeks ago.

Apparent testimony to the tragic end of the Hydes' adventure was found in their log book, which was recovered with other personal effects from the scow. Entries in the diary, with code notations, recorded progress of the journey.

H. C. Hyde, father of the bridegroom, who has posted $1,000 reward for finding of his son and daughter-in-law, refused to abandon hope today and announced plans to continue the search.

He planned to start for Diamond Creek today, to make an intensive search on foot from there as far as he can travel up the river, a distance of 10 or 12 miles.

MAN'S DEBT TO APES TOLD

By JAMES L. KILGALLEN.
International News Service.

NEW YORK, Dec. 29.—Humanity's debt to the ape, the sense of humor of Vassar girl students, the antics of twin stars millions of miles away and the part science can play in peace and war—these were a few of the wide variety of subjects discussed today before 5,000 learned men and women attending a score of inter-sectional meetings of the American Association for the Advancement of Science.

Prof. William K. Gregory, of Columbia University and American Museum of Natural History, said man derives his hands and feet from apes, "our nearest anthropoid progenitors."

Man, he pointed out, has an erect posture—a condition traceable to the "climbing animals," whose bodies were of a vertical rather than a horizontal posture, in contrast to the position assumed by deer, dogs, horses and other animals of a lower order. Then, too, we are indebted to our anthropoid progenitors for being able to live in variable temperatures and "for our mobile face." Apes can smile, it seems, while other animals wear "an inflexible mask."

Miss Polyzenie Kampouropoulous, of Columbia University, said that the Vassar girls' sense of humor is most highly developed in situations which involve their own superiority. They get the least number of laughs out of nonsense and incongruous ideas, she revealed.

Girls of the "introvert type" kept the longest record of laughs; those of "extrovert type" the shortest. The lower the degree of intelligence, the greater number of times the girls laughed without humorous cause, she said.

The suggestion that scientists in various fields be organized in "a naval research reserve," as a preparedness measure, was made in a paper prepared by Capt. C. S. McDowell, of the United States Navy.

Man Is Killed Over 15-Cent Paper Debt

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., Dec. 29.—(AP.)—Dispute over a 15-cent account, weekly subscription price of a local newspaper, cost the life of W. D. Sullivan, 43, who was knifed to death on the street near his home here last night. Arrested on a charge of murder, Herman Blair, 19, told officers that he killed the older man because he had refused to pay Blair's younger brother the 15-cent account. Blair was taken to a hospital where it was found that he was suffering concussion of the brain and other injuries.

Bursting Flue Burns Pump Station Worker

WASHINGTON, Pa., Dec. 29.—Mack Stollar, 35, employed at the Burnsville pump station of the Natural Gas Company of West Virginia, was painfully burned about the face and hands when a flue in a boiler at the plant burst and caused flames to belch out of the firebox of the boiler, striking him in the face.

FUELING OF PLANE IN AIR DEMONSTRATED IN DARK

SAN DIEGO, Cal., Dec. 29.—(INS.)—Aviation experts today expressed satisfaction over the test flight last night of the Army plane Question Mark and her refueling plane. For the first time in history two planes in midair established contact in absolute darkness.

The feat was accomplished over Rockwell Field during the rehearsal for the epic endurance flight on which the Question Mark will set out at dawn of New Year's Day.

Some 30 minutes after the two planes had roared off the field, they came close at an altitude of 2,500 feet. Then the "nurse ship" swung into position just 10 feet above the giant Fokker.

A gasoline hose was lowered from the refueling ship to the plane below. In that position they flew for exactly three minutes, the hose stretching between them, both enveloped in absolute darkness.

No fuel was passed at the time, but Army Air Corps officers at the field declared that the feat would be easy now they knew that the ships could "contact" in the dark without mishap.

At the end of the test they returned to the ground, a freak aviation record in their possession, and the feasibility of refueling in the air at night definitely established.

HOSPITAL'S DOORS OPEN FOR FIRST TIME TO WAIF

The first infant to find a sanctuary in the John W. Painter Memorial Maternity Hospital, opened in connection with the McKeesport Hospital this week, was a homeless baby boy, 6 weeks old, picked up by the police.

The new hospital, a modern four-story brick structure, erected at a cost of $175,000, was donated by Robert C. Painter, McKeesport banker and manufacturer, as a memorial to his father, the late John W. Painter. The building contains 16 private rooms and 24 ward beds and accommodates 40 patients. It has every modern convenience in keeping with hospital practice, telephones beside each bed and baths with each private room. A nursery and laundry are on each floor and there are two operating rooms.

The building was furnished by the Ladies' Auxiliary of the McKeesport Hospital. The new addition is in charge of W. H. Cox, superintendent; Morris T. Kessler, assistant superintendent, and Minnie Werry, supervisor of nurses.

CRACK ICE TO WASH UP
Zero weather and ice did not stop these Boy Scouts from making their morning toilets at their winter camp in Guyasuta Hollow, Aspinwall. Here are Earl Dodson, Troop 68, and Whittingstall, Troop 58, cracking early morning ice to wash up.

ELDRIDGE VANCE TAKES A BIT OF BREAKFAST
At home, Eldridge Vance, Troop 1, Ben Avon, eats a meager breakfast before going to school, but at the camp he is champion bacon-and-eggs eater. He says he ned this second portion to do a day's work.

WINTER CAMP GREAT SPORT, SCOUTS SAY

Ask any of the 20 scouts from the various troops in Allegheny county who have pitched their winter camp in Guyasuta Hollow, Aspinwall, what they think of winter scouting, and they will tell you it is even more fun than summer scouting.

When visitors reached the camp yesterday, the bugler had just blown reveille. Twenty sleepy-eyed scouts crawled from beneath warm army blankets, shivered a moment, but soon were as limber as pugilists in training. A dash of lively sprinters followed to the open-air washroom—a frozen-over creek. A pick crushed the coat of ice and crystal water, a little colder than that flowing from bathroom spigots, beckoned the scouts to make their morning ablutions. It was cold, all right, but put life and zest into 20 youthful bodies.

Breakfast of cereal, bacon and eggs, bread, butter and steaming hot coffee made a meal fit for any king. Then a few minutes around the open fireplace with a lively crackling fire warming them, and the scouts were ready to begin their day's work and play.

A schedule of regular scout work will be carried out every day at the camp until next Tuesday. T. C. Venable, assistant executive of the Allegheny Council, West, is scoutmaster. The camp is the first one held in winter by the Allegheny Council.

FALLS 3 FLOORS TO HIS DEATH

Clad in underwear, a bathrobe and slippers, the body of Samuel Scanlon, 76, was found in a courtyard in the rear of an apartment house at 348 South Millvale avenue, early today. He is believed to have fallen from his apartment on the third floor of the building.

Neighbors called the West Penn Hospital and the man was pronounced dead by the ambulance crew. Police at the Forty-third Street Police Station were called and the body was removed to the morgue. The man's skull was fractured and he had suffered internal injuries, it was said at the morgue.

Members of his family did not know how the accident occurred. It is believed the man was restless during the night and went to the fire escapes, lost his footing and fell.

Dr. Hektoen Elected By Bacteriologists

RICHMOND, Va., Dec. 29.—(AP.)—Dr. Ludvig Hektoen, of the University of Chicago, was elected president of the Society of American Bacteriologists at its annual meeting here yesterday. Dr. S. Bane Jones, of the University of Rochester, was named vice president, and Dr. James Sherman, of Cornell University, was re-elected secretary-treasurer.

Dr. Rachel E. Haffstadt and associates, of the University of Washington, told of a new method of protection against typhoid fever by feeding dead germs to humans instead of the present intramuscular injection.

Chicago's Budget Cut 5 Millions

CHICAGO. Dec. 29.—(INS.)—It will cost $56,845,283 to run the city of Chicago during 1929, according to budget figures announced to the City Hall today. This is $5,000,000 less than the appropriation for the current year

The Council Finance Committee called the new budget "the soundest in 10 years."

Gas Fumes Kill Line Repairman

SHARON, Pa., Dec. 29.—Gas fumes claimed the life of Joseph Ross, 23, while he was repairing a gas line at the plant of the Shenango Furnace Company, Sharpsville, late yesterday. Two other workmen, William Swym and Thomas Irwin, were overcome, but recovered.

EYE ON 'THRONE' IS DENIED BY MISS BOOTH

LONDON, Dec. 29.—(AP.)—"I have not come to seize the throne," declared Evangeline Booth, Commander of the Salvation Army in the United States and its possessions, on her arrival here yesterday. She gave out a message for America which had been prepared for the Associated Press. It said:

"I have been summoned to London to attend a meeting of the High Council of the Salvation Army on January 8. This meeting has been made necessary, I regret to say, by the long illness of my brother, Gen. Bramwell Booth, and the effect of that illness upon the world-wide operations of the Salvation Army.

ENVOYS ARRIVE

"Sitting on the council will be five American commissioners, making six delegates in all from the United States. Fifty-seven other members are hastening from all parts of the world on the same errand.

"It would obviously be improper for me to express any opinion on the important questions which will be discussed at the council meeting. Inseparably linked with the calling of the High Council, however, is the urgent matter of a constitutional change within the Army.

"This change has been urged upon my brother for some years and is designed to place the government of the Army on a broader basis.

SHAKEUP 'INEVITABLE'

"The demand for the change has spread throughout the world and practically every leading officer endorses the proposals. America, as always, has responded unanimously to my lead in the matter and with my five American delegates we present an unbroken front in support of the change. It is inevitable that it should come.

"Meanwhile I would assure our host of friends and supporters in the United States that the Salvation Army will not slacken its efforts on behalf of those whom we seek to serve."

W. A. CORNELIUS QUITS TUBE CO.

The resignation of William A. Cornelius, manager of the McKeesport Works of the National Tube Company, was announced yesterday at a luncheon meeting of company officials and mill superintendents. This followed closely the announcement that Taylor Allderdice, president of the company, had resigned.

Friendship for President Allderdice and sorrow over his departure from the company's roster, were given as reasons for Cornelius' resignation, it was said at his home last night. Both resignations are to take effect January 1.

Cornelius has been associated with the company 28 years and for 20 years has been general manager at McKeesport.

State Police Catch Erie Theft Suspects

ERIE, Pa., Dec. 29.—Half hour after they are alleged to have held up and robbed a private club in Kearsarge, C. A. Rosensteil, 20, of R. F. D. 4, and James Edick, 29, of 2407 Cascade street, were arrested by state police. They were ordered held to await Criminal Court at a hearing before Alderman Eugene Alberstadt.

Homer City Church Damaged by Blaze

INDIANA, Pa., Dec. 29.—(AP.)—The interior of the Greek Catholic Church at Homer City, near here, was badly damaged by fire yesterday. The fire, believed to have started from an overheated furnace, caused an estimated loss of $5,000. Two members of the Homer City fire department were slightly hurt.

ALUMINUM KING ESTATE TO AID 21 SCHOOLS

NEW YORK, Dec. 29.—(AP.)—The $10,000,000 residium of the estate of the late Charles M. Hall, "father of aluminum," is to be distributed by his trustees to 21 higher educational institutions of the Near East and the Orient, the trustees announced yesterday.

Their action is in line with the stipulation in Mr. Hall's will that the money be used for "educational purposes in Japan, Continental Asia, Turkey and the Balkan States of Europe." The trustees are Arthur V. Davis, of Pittsburgh, president of the Aluminum Company of America, and Homer H. Johnson, of Cleveland.

Mr. Hall, a resident of Niagara Falls, N. Y., died in 1914. He was the inventor of the process by which aluminum is made. He was a major stockholder in the Aluminum Company of America and allied corporations.

The principal part of the estate was distributed several years ago to beneficiaries designated in the will.

THEFT SUSPECT GOES TO N. Y.

Waiving extradition, Enrico Commune, 51, said to have been the secretary of the New York Italian Chamber of Commerce, was returned to New York last night where, detectives say, he is wanted for grand larceny in connection with the disappearance of $125,000 of the chamber's funds. New York police said they had been seeking him for two months.

A tip from New York police that Commune was in this city resulted in his arrest in a Hill district restaurant yesterday. They forwarded a warrant to Pittsburgh and sent a detective along to identify the fugitive.

Police say he is under indictment in New York for systematic theft of the chamber's funds.

Leap Year Snare No Bar to Work, Judge Rules

CHICAGO, Dec. 29.—(INS.)—Leap year husbands must support their wives, according to a ruling on file in Judge Edgar A. Jonas' court today

Herman Matten, countering his wife's suit for non-support, said he had succumbed to her wooing last April and married her. Matten argued that leap year husbands should not have to work, his wife charged.

LANDIS IN 'GIFT' SPORTS PROBE

BOSTON, Dec. 29.—(INS.)—It is reported here that Judge Kenesaw Mountain Landis, high commissioner of baseball, will be in Boston next Wednesday afternoon when Charles F. Adams, vice president of the Braves, goes before the Boston finance commission to tell his story of an alleged attempt by a councilman to "collect" $60,000 to "sugar" the way of the ratification of the Sunday professional baseball bill through the City Council.

According to the report, the meeting of the finance commission was postponed in order to give Judge Landis time to reach here from Chicago, but members of the finance commission denied this.

The Sunday sports bill was ratified Thursday by the Council and the next step will be the granting of permits to the major league baseball clubs to play Sunday games.

"Bawling-Out" Costs Woman Autoist $10

It cost Mrs. Bertha K. Sawyer, 35, of 5810 Black street, $10 to call Traffic Patrolman Joseph E. Skillen a "crook" and a "bum." The fine was imposed by Magistrate A. D. Brandon in Morals Court today after Skillen testified the epithets had been hurled at him by Mrs. Sawyer when he halted her auto as she attempted to drive it against traffic at Liberty avenue and Sixth street, yesterday. He arrested her on a disorderly conduct charge.

HOOVER SPEEDS NORTH--WILL LAND JAN. 6

By LAWRENCE SULLIVAN,
International News Service.

ABOARD U. S. S. UTAH, Via Arlington, Va., Radio Station, Dec. 29.—Now north of the equator, the battleship Utah increased its speed to 16 knots an hour today so it will reach the Virginia Capes Sunday, January 6, even if storms are encountered on the remainder of the journey.

Although those in his party feel a triumphal ride up Pennsylvania avenue would be a proper finale to his many receptions in the Latin-American countries visited, it is known Hoover has arranged for a Sunday evening arrival especially because he wishes to avoid anything approaching a public reception.

Hoover is determined to observe the traditional etiquette which demands that a president-elect keep completely out of the political and administrative picture until inauguration.

The entire Hoover party is scheduled to leave Old Point Comfort, Va., aboard a special train for the capital at 2 o'clock Sunday afternoon. The train will arrive at Washington at 7 o'clock the same evening.

B. & O. Agent Here Moved to Toledo

A. W. Miller, city passenger agent of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad here, has been promoted to the position of division passenger agent at Toledo, O., it was announced at Baltimore yesterday. His is one of several advances announced with the retirement of Col. W. V. Shipley, general passenger agent at New York, to become passenger traffic manager of the Central Railroad of New Jersey.

Million Motorists Have 1929 Licenses

HARRISBURG, Pa., Dec. 29.—(AP.)—More than 1,000,000 motorists in Pennsylvania now have their 1929 automobile licenses, Benjamin G. Eynon, registrar of motor vehicles, state department of highways, announced. This is more than the number issued up to January 1, 1928. The bureau, which will close Monday night, expects to have 1,125,000 in the hands of automobile owners at that time.

Million-a-Year Partnerships For Three

NEW YORK, Dec. 29.—(AP.)—The international banking house of Kuhn, Loeb & Co. today announced the elevation of three employes to partnerships, valued in Wall street at a "million dollars a year."

The three new partners are George W. Bovenizer, 49, who has been with the firm since he was 18; Lewis L. Strauss, 32, who joined Kuhn, Loeb & Co. in 1919, and Sir William Wiseman, 43, who has been with them seven years. Sir William was a British officer during the World War, and was chief of the British intelligence service in the United States from 1916 to 1919.

MORROW PLOT LEADER SHOT

MEXICO CITY, Dec. 29.—(AP.)—The bullet-riddled body of Gen. Maximilliano Vigueras, bandit leader and commander-in-chief in the federal district of the "army of liberation," lies in a military hospital awaiting the claims of relatives. He was executed yesterday by a firing squad less than 24 hours after his capture.

Testimony at his court martial was secret, but he was generally supposed to have made two unsuccessful attempts to capture United States Ambassador Morrow during the last six months.

His death before the firing squad was the first since President Portes Gil issued instructions on Christmas Eve abolishing summary executions after drumhead court martials. It was explained that Vigueras was tried by a formal court martial and was represented by counsel.

WILSON HAILED AS PRACTICAL IDEALIST

NEW YORK, Dec. 29.—(AP.)—Franklin D. Roosevelt, governor-elect of New York and assistant secretary of the Navy under Woodrow Wilson, told those gathered in New York for the Wilson memorial dinner last night that in hailing the war-time President as a great idealist the fact that he also was a great administrator often was forgotten.

The dinner, held at the Hotel Astor, was the eighth memorial gathering for Wilson here. Henry Morgenthau, former ambassador to Turkey, presided

"During those years which have passed since the death of our great leader," Mr. Roosevelt said, "the greater emphasis in our thoughts of him has been placed on his idealism—on that quality which stirred the nation to its depths in the most critical period of world affairs.

"But there is the other side of Wilson which we are apt to forget—a side for which due credit has never been rendered him. Woodrow Wilson was not an impracticable idealist—not a man only of vision, as so many of his political opponents would have us believe.

"Woodrow Wilson was not a business man by training, but the whole record in Washington is constant proof, first, that he knew how to pick subordinates, and, secondly, that he himself kept in close and careful touch with the practical affairs of administering the government."

Eulogizing the late President, Mr. Morgenthau drew a picture of a great moral leader and a great formulator of the doctrines of democracy.

1 SLAIN, 1 HURT AT AMBRIDGE

AMBRIDGE, Pa., Dec. 29.—Domenic Iconboni, 40, was instantly killed when shot through the head, and Carl Spadino, 19, was shot through the chest near the heart and cannot recover, in what police believe may have been a resumption last night of a feud, which resulted in a murder here last May. Sam Landerilla, 30, the alleged gunman, escaped.

The three men lived at 1539 Merchant street. On May 12 Iconboni witnessed the murder of Patsy Visingardi, 35, Alliquippa, who is alleged to have been shot by Angelo Lazzarni, Ambridge, a friend of Iconboni, and made signed statement concerning the shooting, police say. Lazzarni is in jail at Beaver under sentence of death.

12 Hurt in Crashes After Sleet Storm

BLOOMSBURG, Pa., Dec. 29.—(AP.)—A dozen persons were injured, none seriously, in more than a score of automobile accidents in this vicinity yesterday, caused by icy pavements after a sleet storm. The injured included Steven Landau, of Pittsburgh, through the top of whose car six persons were hurled when the machine overturned. At one curve on the Berwick-Shickshinny highway six accidents occurred.

Mrs. Mary Welsh, 75, accompanying Mr. and Mrs. H. Lewis Amerman, of New York, suffered shock when the Amerman car overturned near Berwick.

Lynchings in U. S. At Lowest Figure

NEW YORK, Dec. 29.—(AP.)—The National Association for the Advancement of Colored People yesterday announced a low record had been set this year for the 40-year period for which lynching statistics have been kept in the United States. The total to date was nine, as compared with 175 in 1889.

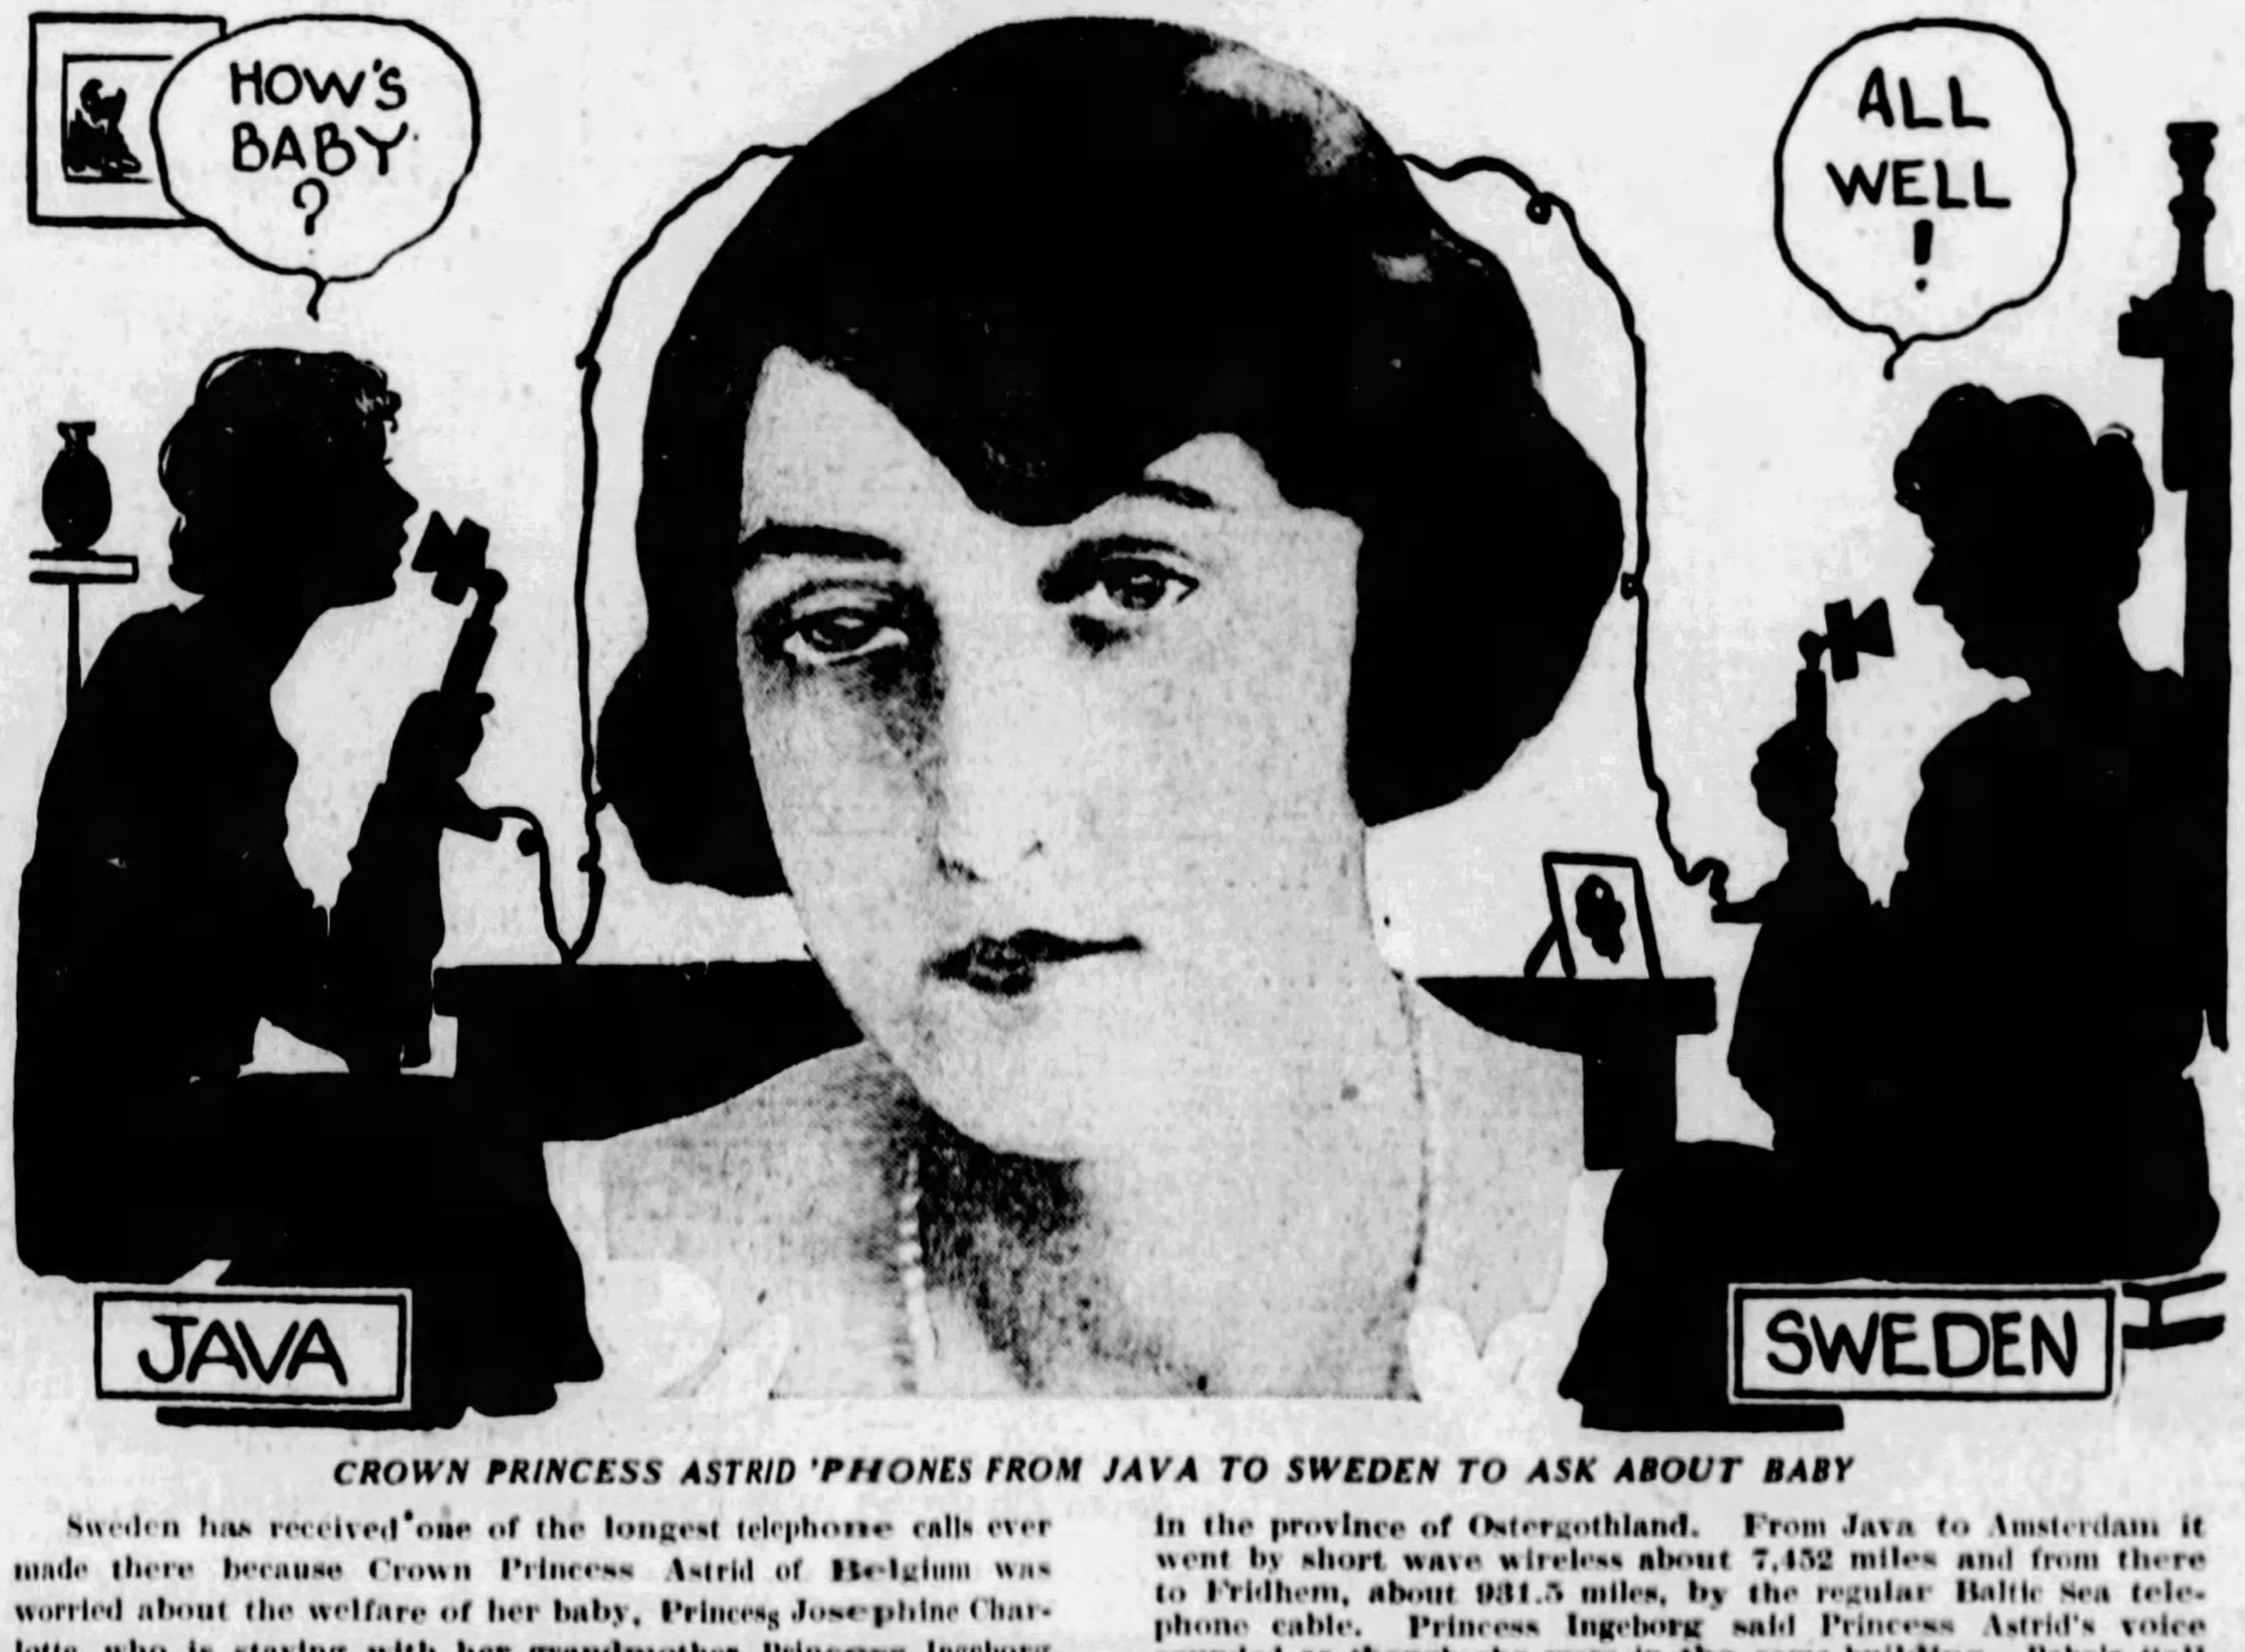
"How's Baby?" Royal Mother Asks in 8,383-Mile Call



HOW'S BABY ?
JAVA
SWEDEN

CROWN PRINCESS ASTRID 'PHONES FROM JAVA TO SWEDEN TO ASK ABOUT BABY

Sweden has received one of the longest telephone calls ever made there because Crown Princess Astrid of Belgium was worried about the welfare of her baby, Princess Josephine Charlotte, who is staying with her grandmother, Princess Ingeborg of Sweden. The call was from the Island of Java to Fridhem in the province of Ostergothland. From Java to Amsterdam it went by short wave wireless about 7,452 miles and from there to Fridhem, about 931.5 miles, by the regular Baltic Sea telephone cable. Princess Ingeborg said Princess Astrid's voice sounded as though she were in the same building. Baby's "all well."

MILT'S LARYNX LEGIONS TO BREATHE ON BROADWAY

NEW YORK, Dec. 29.—(INS.)—Milton Crandall, who produces thoughtless spectacles for thoughtless people, planned to pull a Mohammed tonight.

Crandall will move his "gabfest rodeo" into the Broadway night life district at midnight. He admitted the public wasn't catching on to the benefits of viewing his talking marathon, attributing it to the present location on Fourth avenue and Thirty-fourth street.

So he will take the 14 survivors in his tonsilitis-defying contest and have them talk their way uptown into a dance hall on Forty-second street, smack in the heart of the White Light area.

The promoter said that offers were beginning to pour in from various cities for him to hold similar contests there. He said he had received such requests from "responsible parties" in Milwaukee, Detroit and Buffalo, among other places.

Certain contestants charged that partiality was being shown Miss Wilson in recording her as not having taken any time out. Both Crandall and Miss Wilson denied the allegations.

EX-GOV. NELLIE ROSS' SON KILLED AS AUTO UPSETS

DRIVE IN STORM ON ICY ROAD COSTS LIFE

CHEYENNE, Wyo., Dec. 29.—(AP.)—Ambrose Ross, son of former Gov. Nellie Tayloe Ross, of Wyomin., was killed when his car overturned on a hill just out of Saratoga, Wyo., 100 miles west of Cheyenne last night, says a special to the Wyoming Tribue-Leader here.

Ross, 25, had been working as a traveling salesman for a stock feed concern. He and John Paulsen, a former companion at the University of Wyoming, went out from Saratoga together in Ross' light roadster in the face of a biting sleet storm. The return trip was over a treacherous road.

On the hill leading to the main street of Saratoga the car overturn, throwing Paulsen clear, but pinning Ross beneath.

Ambrose Ross, one of twin sons of former Gov. Ross, was an outstanding football player at the University of Wyoming. His summers were spent as a ranger in Yellowstone Park and as a contestant in bucking horse contests at various rodeos over the state where he was considered a good rider.

MOTHER STARTS HOME

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Dec. 29.—(AP.)—Mrs. Nellie Ross, former governor of Wyoming, whose son, Ambrose, was killed in an automobile accident yesterday, left last midnight with a nurse for Cheyenne, Wyo. Mrs. Ross was here to speak at the convention of the Illinois State Teachers' Association. She made two speeches, then went to her hotel when she became ill. She is suffering from influenza and had a fever of 101 degrees, a physician said.

NAME REVISERS OF RUM TREATY

WASHINGTON, Dec. 29.—(AP.)—Admiral F. C. Billard, commandant of the United States Coast Guard, will head the group of American delegates who will participate in the conference with Canadian officials at Ottawa, beginning January 7, to discuss commercial smuggling, including the revision of the liquor treaty between the two countries.

The complete American delegation, announced by the State Department, besides Admiral Billard, will be made up of: James M. Doran, commissioner of prohibition, Treasury Department; E. W. Camp, commissioner of customs; Ferdinand L. Mayer, counsellor of the American legation at Ottawa; Irving N. Linnell, American consul general at Ottawa; Francis Colt DeWolf, assistant to solicitor, State Department; Harry J. Anslinger, liaison officer between State and Treasury departments; Arthur W. Henderson, special assistant to the attorney general, and Lynn W. Meekins, commercial attache at Ottawa.

BANK CAR LOOT $9,000

BOSTON, Dec. 29.—(INS.)—A daring daylight robbery netted three armed bandits $9,000 from a collection truck of the National Rockland Bank, of Roxbury, yesterday.

No shots were fired by the collection truck guards, police said. No trace of the bandits was found.

There was a similar robbery in Boston a few weeks ago when two bandits escaped with $6,000 from a Boston elevated truck.

Deaf Mute Wanderer In Peru Puzzles U. S.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 29.—(AP.)—The identity of a deaf, dumb, and totally illiterate young man, possibly hailing from Philadelphia, who was found wandering about Callao, Peru, in November, is engrossing State Department officials who are appealing for information to determine who he is.

George Makingon, in charge of the Calloa-Lima Consulate, cabled here that the youth was brought to his office by a Peruvian. He had no money, nor was there anything on him which might serve to identify him.

PANAMA FLIERS LEAVE NEW YORK TODAY

ROOSEVELT FIELD, N. Y., Dec. 29.—(INS.)—Oliver C. Le Boutiller and Capt. Lewis A. Yancey, who plan to fly nonstop to Panama, continue by easy stages to Pernambuco, Brazil, and fly back to Roosevelt Field without stopping, plan to start for France Field, Canal Zone, at 1 p. m. today. Their plane is the Bellanca North Star, owned by Mrs. Anne U. Stillman.

The fliers plan to carry 440 gallons of gasoline on the nonstop flight to France Field. When they reach Pernambuco they will take on 550 gallons for the return nonstop flight. They say if the return journey, more than 5,000 miles long, is made without a stop, a new long-distance flying record will be established.

The afternoon starting hour was selected, the fliers declared, because Capt. Yancey, the navigator, prefers night navigation. The plane will carry a barograph sealed by Harry Booth, of the National Aeronautic Association.

Weather Conditions.

The low pressure areas developed rapidly northeastward. Lowest barometer this morning is 29.18 inches, at Eastport. A trough formation extends southwestward over the Middle Atlantic states to Tennessee, and rain is falling over the mountains of West Virginia. The rainfall for the last 24 hours was limited to West Virginia, Southern Ohio and Southern Western Pennsylvania. There was also light rain in Washington and Oregon and snow in the Rocky Mountain states.

High pressure covers the Plains states section, highest barometer, 30.38 inches, at Huron and Valentine. The high caused a substantial drop in temperature over all the Plains states and over the upper Mississippi Valley states. The coldest weather is in North Dakota, where 12 degrees was reported from three stations.

River Conditions.

The rivers are about stationary at low stages. Stage at Pittsburgh is 11.5 feet; Dam No. 2, 8.5, and Dam No. 6, 8.3. The dams are up. There is no ice in the main rivers.

AMERICAN BRIDE TELLS OF KABUL PLANE RESCUE

PESHAWAR, Northwest Frontier Province, India, Dec. 29.—(AP.)—Mrs. Carol Isaacson, a pretty, young American, described for the correspondent for the London Daily Mail her experiences when the Afghanistan revolt interrupted her honeymoon. She was one of the last group of refugees brought out by British military airplanes from Kabul, the capital of Afghanistan.

"We had nearly given up hope," she said, in describing the situation just before she was rescued. "My ears are still resounding with the shock of shell fire. I will never forget that period."

Mrs. Isaacson had motored half way around the world with her husband. Their wedding tour came to an abrupt end when she, with other women and the children of the foreign settlement in Kabul, were removed from their precarious position by British airplanes. Although it was hoped that all foreigners could be evacuated eventually, Isaacson remained behind with the other men, and reports of heavy snowfall at the Kabul airdrome made the chances of quick relief seem remote.

"Of course I am anxious for the safety of Allen, my husband," said Mrs. Isaacson, "but I hope the wonderful British pilots and their machines will be on hand if there is any more trouble.

"Lady Humphreys (wife of the British minister) was mother to us all—surely the most cosmopolitan company ever gathered for safety under the British flag.

FIGHT NEAR LEGATION

"Of course we were under severe conditions. I and some other women had a corner of the library to sleep in. It was bitterly cold at night except around the fire. The second night we were alarmed by shots near the legation. We jumped up in fright, although I can say the women behaved magnificently. Sir Francis Humphreys had men assembled in the hall and himself went out to inspect the guards posted around the legation walls. It was evident that skirmishing was going on within 100 yards of the legation on the road to Pagman.

"The night was lighted by flashes of fire, and bullets passed over the legation walls. The next day we settled down to short rations of Afghan food, though the legation cook did his best for the huge family.

"Then came the great day when we heard that the machines had actually left Peshawar. Sir Francis announced the news to the silent crowd. Some women wept. I knew that my husband would be left while I went to safety.

"Then, early in the morning, we heard the whirr of the machines and were told to prepare ourselves immediately for a dangerous march under escort to the landing ground.

"The last I saw of that fateful building was from the air, with its flag still flying. One wing and one outer house in the ruins of the beautiful garden were torn with shell fire.

"A sense of relief occupied all my thoughts as we flew over the barren country to the grim Khyber Pass and landed at Peshawar.

Smith Pardons Six On Retirement Eve

ALBANY, N. Y., Dec. 29.—(AP.)—Gov. Smith, three days before his term of office expires, yesterday announced six commutations, of which two were granted to persons convicted of murder, second degree.

One is a woman, Paultte Saludes, who killed Oscar Martellere in New York. She is freed on condition that she return to her native country, France, and never come back.

AFGHANS DENY ABDICATION

LONDON, Dec. 29.—(AP.)—A rumor that King Amanullah, of Afghanistan, intended to abdicate in favor of his son was repudiated by the legation of that kingdom here yesterday. The rumor grew out of the conflicting reports as to the progress of the rebellion in the mountain realm.

The legation, which received advices from the Afghanistan foreign office at Kabul, said that the capital was in a normal state. The legation also announced that the rebel movement in the eastern province was losing ground and eastern province was losing ground that the northern rebels were in full flight.

Five Taken in Raids In Braddock, Rankin

Four raids were made in Braddock and another in Rankin yesterday by prohibition agents, who reported seizing quantities of moonshine and wine. Five persons arrested were ordered to appear before the United States commissioner.

Raids were made at 1212 Braddock avenue, 1234 Washington street, 648 Corry avenue and at 1123 River avenue, Braddock, and at 35 Chartiers avenue, Rankin. John Fertel, 43, John Fargo, 40, Dominick Graney, 61, John Prokosk, 25, and John Skept, 40, were arrested.

French War Ace Lauds Former Foe of Air

PARIS, Dec. 29.—(AP.)—Enemies once, bent upon meeting in deadly combat above the clouds, Ernst Udet, one of Germany's leading aerial fighters, and Rene Fonck, France's ace, exchanged compliments and cordial handshakes yesterday.

The occasion was an official reception to Udet by the Aero Club of France. Fonck happened to be head of the reception committee of the club and he insisted on welcoming his former enemy.

"I am proud to welcome so chivalous a fighter," said Fonck, as the two met.

COLLEGE GROUP RILES ACTORS, WALKS OUT

BOSTON, Dec. 29.—(AP.)—More than 200 delegates to the national convention of the Delta Kappa Epsilon fraternity and their women relatives and friends walked out of the Copley Theater here last night during the performance after the manager, E. E. Clive, twice had stopped the show and asked that the actors not be disturbed.

Early in the performance, Clive ordered the curtain dropped and made a speech from the stage in which he accused the delegates of talking during the performance and mimicking the actors. He urged that they be quiet.

Later the curtain again was lowered and Clive said it would not be raised until the occupants of the first three rows in the orchestra had left the house.

The delegates claimed that Clive said the actors objected to being mimicked by "fellows from college or worse" and also used the words "bums' rush."

James Anderson Hawes, alumni council secretary of New York, made a speech in which he objected to the statements of the manager and suggested that the delegates leave the house. The entire party went to a nearby hotel for dancing.

Man of 72 Pleads Guilty in Son's Murder

UNIONTOWN, Pa., Dec. 29.—Entering a plea of guilty to the murder of his son, Hiram, at White House near here, Benjamin Epley, 72, is to be sentenced on January 4, when the court will hear the testimony of Emma Lincoln, a widow, to whom Hiram was engaged to be married, which is believed to have led to the shooting.

OFFERS TO SERVE TERM FOR SLAYER OF HUSBAND

LA CROSSE, Wis., Dec. 29.—(AP.)—For the love of the man she says she goaded to murder, Mrs. Helen Biesen Bartovick offers to finish the life term John Beier, 29, is serving in Wampun prison for slaying the woman's husband, District Attorney Lawrence Brody has announced.

Hers was the moral responsibility, the district attorney quoted the woman as saying for the killing of Nick Biesen on his farm in August, 1920.

Beier, given a five-day respite from his prison cell in an effort to prove his innocence, aside from the woman's confession of moral responsibility, today still stood branded as the slayer.

He had planned, he said, to contend that the woman killed her husband in self defense while he was a helpless captive in a closet. It was this story that he expected to win him freedom after eight years in prison.

But when he faced the woman in the La Crosse county jail, with opportunity to tell again the story as he had recounted it to prison officials, he cast aside his story and again admitted his guilt, the district attorney said.

The woman has served two years in prison for her association with the farm boy.

Turkey Wishbone Proves Undoing Of Thief

UNIONTOWN, Pa., Dec. 29.—Had it not been for the presence of mind of a wishbone in the pocket of Leonard Wicher, he probably would have escaped a charge of the larceny of a nicely roasted turkey from the home of Daniel Hunt, of this city.

Leonard was arrested on suspicion and had almost convinced the officers of his innocence when the wishbone was found. The suspect then pleaded guilty. He said he stole the turkey because he was hungry.

DRY LEAGUE CHIEFTAIN'S PRISON PARDON ANNULLED

INDIANAPOLIS, Dec. 29.—(AP.)—A 60-day term on the state penal farm, again confronted E. S. Shumaker, superintendent of the Indiana Anti-Saloon League today.

The dry leader, who was sentenced to the farm by the Indiana Supreme Court on a contempt charge, went to the institution last October to begin serving the sentence, but was greeted there with word that he had been pardoned by Gov. Ed Jackson. The Supreme Court yesterday held that the Governor had no authority to issue the pardon and Shumaker was ordered recommitted, effective today.

Shumaker and his attorneys declared that the attempt to make him serve the sentence would be resisted by application to the Federal District Court for a writ of habeas corpus.

The Anti-Saloon League superintendent was sentenced on August 6, 1927, after the Supreme Court had found him guilty on contempt charges filed by Attorney General Arthur Gilliom. Statements published in the annual report of the league declaring that certain justices of the court were prejudiced in decisions on liquor appeal cases formed the basis for the charges.

STATE TEACHER BODY ELECTS DR. FOSTER

READING, Pa., Dec. 29.—(AP.)—With a lead of 171 votes over his only competitor, Dr. C. R. Foster, principal of the Indiana State Teachers' College, Indiana, Pa., was elected president of the Pennsylvania State Education Association yesterday. He was opposed by Dr. D. W. Armstrong, Lock Haven. At the same time the house of delegates, in the final session of its 1928 convention, elected Landis Tanger, superintendent of Reading public schools, as second vice-president, and chose New Castle as the 1929 convention city.

Dr. Foster succeeds Dr. Joseph F. Noonan, Mahanoy City, to the presidency of Pennsylvania's 58,000 teachers. Dr. Noonan automatically becomes the association's first vice-president. Tanger succeeds H. E. Gross, Lancaster, to the second vice-presidency.

New Castle's victory over Philadelphia for the next convention was by a wide margin. The Quaker City was the choice of 120 delegates and New Castle was preferred by 328. Uniontown, with 23 votes, ran third.

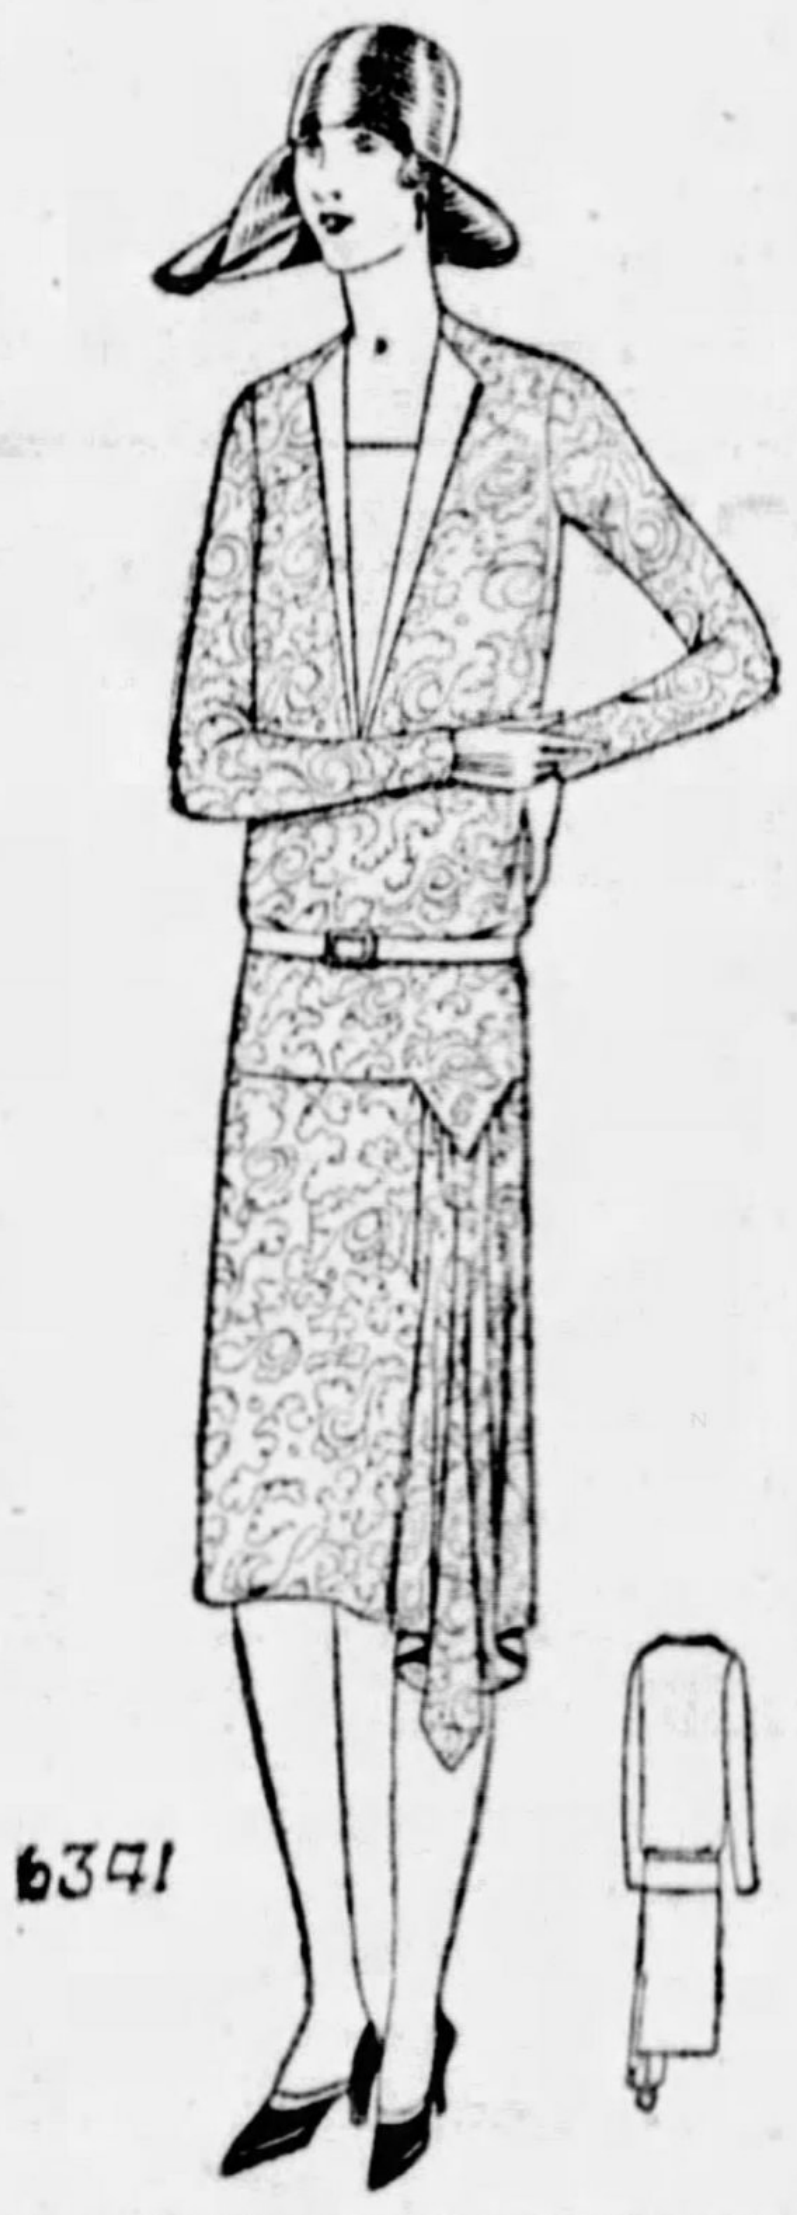
TEACHERS' HOME URGED.

At their closing session, the delegates decided to investigate the merits of group life insurance for teachers and of a teachers' home for Pennsylvania public school instructors, adopted reports from the state school employes' retirement board, a committee on retirement allowances, and a committee on junior high school and college entrance requirements.

"There is clearly a need for a teachers' home," Dr. R. E. Laramy, Altoona, told the delegates. "It would settle the difficulties Dr. Broome spoke of yesterday, in which about 200 Pennsylvania retired teachers are in dire need. It would also furnish a home for teachers financially competent but not situated so that they could readily supply a home for themselves. It might also be a place of recuperation for teachers who, having been ill, are convalescing preparatory to going back to their work. But there is nothing in the situation that suggests more than a need for immediate study of the problem."

A committee of nine will be appointed by the incoming president to study the question and report back to the 1929 house of delegates.

The Sun-Telegraph Fifteen Cent Pattern



A CHARMING AFTERNOON FROCK.

The side dip scores below the shaped skirt yoke of this attractive model. The waist blouses slightly above the narrow belt. A vestee squares the deep V which is outlined by narrow revers. Printed crepe was selected for this design, with facings of plain crepe. The model is also attractive in printed velvet, silk tweed, or satin. An underbody that may be of lining holds the blousing of the waist. The sleeve is a one-piece fitted model.

The pattern for this design is cut in 5 sizes: 34, 36, 38, 40, and 42 inches bust measure. To make the dress for a 38-inch size will require, ¾-yard of 32-inch lining for the underbody, and 3⅝-yards of 35-inch material together with 1 yard of contrasting material for facing on revers, vestee and belt, and underfacing on the dip of the front. The width of the dress at the lower edge with fullness extended is 1⅛-yard.

COUPON.

Celebration of Theater Opening Observed in Festive Manner

NEW ENRIGHT THEATER OPENS WITH GALA CELEBRATION IN EAST LIBERTY

THE new Enright Theater in the East End, built by the Stanley Company of America at a cost of $3,000,000, was opened to the public last night. The opening ceremony, at 8 o'clock, was the climax of a day's celebration in honor of the new theater. There was a luncheon in the Rittenhouse at noon and a parade and dedication exercises in the afternoon.

The theater attracted a capacity crowd to its opening—every one of the 3,500 seats being occupied. Following an address of welcome by President of Council James F. Malone and an acceptance speech by C. F. Bayard, president of the East Liberty Chamber of Commerce, the regular theater program was offered. This featured the photoplay, "Adoration," starring Billie Dove, which was synchronized with sound and music, and included a Vitaphone presentation by Harry Delp, Broadway comedian.

There also were a number of stage acts, including Nee Wong, ukelele player; Pauline Alpert, recording pianist, and Ina Alcova and Company in a dance offering. The Enright Concert Orchestra, under the direction of Umberto Egizi, presented a special overture.

The new theater, at Penn avenue and Beatty street, is named after Thomas Francis Enright, Pittsburgh boy, who was the first American doughboy to be killed in action in France. A bronze tablet, commemorating the sacrifice of Enright, has been placed in the theater lobby. It was unveiled as part of the dedicatory exercises held yesterday, preceding the official opening of the playhouse.

The parade yesterday afternoon was lead by Maj. C. B. Shaffer, as marshal. Several flyers, who are members of the Three Hundred and Twenty-Fourth Observation Squadron, flew over the parade route and dropped wreaths. Preceding the parade, the luncheon in the Rittenhouse was addressed by Mayor Charles H. Kline, County Commissioner E. V. Babcock, State Treasurer-Elect Edward Martin and Magistrate A. D. Brandon.

The new theater is constructed of marble, limestone and brick. Its decoration has been carried out in the French modernistic style.

RECORD FLIGHT PLANE DOWN

IMPERIAL, Cal., Dec. 29.—(AP.)—Striking a downward air current which forced their heavily-loaded ship earthward, Charles Rocheville and John Guglementi, pilots of the Albatrose B-1, dumped all their 650-gallon gasoline supply and made a forced landing 15 miles west of Niland, Cal., yesterday.

The ship had been up an hour and a half in an effort to smash the world's endurance flight record. The pilots said the propeller and one wheel had been smashed and that it would be necessary to dismantle the ship.

Miss Foster Becomes Bride of Conde Nast

AIKEN, S. C., Dec. 29.—(AP.)—Miss Leslie Foster, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. Volney Foster, of Lake Forest, Ill., was married here late yesterday to Conde Nast, president of the Nast Publications Corporation, publishers of Vanity Fair and other periodicals. The bridegroom is 54 and the bride 27.

The wedding ceremony was performed at the winter home of the bride's parents, with only a few relatives and close friends present.

New Year Services At Salvation Army

Special New Year services will be conducted tomorrow morning and evening in the Salvation Army headquarters building, Second avenue. Sunday school services will be held in the afternoon and at 6 p. m. the young people will meet. Monday night watchnight services will be conducted by Col. J. Atkinson.

STAGE BILLS INCLUDE MUSIC

"Music in May," an operetta, comes to the Alvin for an engagement of one week, beginning next Monday night, with matinees New Year's Day and Saturday—no matinee Wednesday. "Music in May" is expected to be a worthy successor to the prior operettas of the Shuberts, "Blossom Time," "The Student Prince," "Maytime" and "My Maryland."

Next week in the Nixon The Players Club of New York will present George Farquhar's farce comedy, "The Beaux' Stratagem," under the direction of George C. Tyler. There will be a special New Year's Day matinee, Tuesday, and the regular matinee, Saturday.

"The Trial of Mary Dugan," which has achieved success in the Pitt this week, will continue for one more week, beginning Monday night. The engagement is to end Saturday night, January 5.

Gilbert and French, who were brought to America as part of an all-English bill that has become an annual event at the Palace Theater, New York, will be on the bill of Keith-Albee-Orpheum two-a-day vaudeville in the Davis next week.

"Conquest," Warner Brothers' all-Vitaphone special, starring Monte Blue, coming to the Stanley as the New Year's week attraction, has no silent sequences. It contains all natural sound effects including the whir of a great monoplane.

Before "Mother Machree," synchronized screen feature in Loew's Aldine next week, was made, a group of directors made a thorough tour of Ireland to pick locations for the picture. Abbeys and ancient castles, quaint rustic nooks, the sea, rivers and waterfalls were "shot."

Coming to the Penn screen next week, Greta Garbo and John Gilbert will be featured together for the third time, in "A Woman of Affairs." The bill also includes a stage revue with Teddy Joyce as master of ceremonies.

Billie Dove, in a story of old Russia and modern Paris, will continue in the new Enright Theater, East Liberty, next week.

Cleora, oriental dancer; Jimmy Pinto and his Jazz Kings, and 10 artist's models in classical poses are extra features engaged for "Dimpled Darlings," next week's burlesque in the Academy.

The Harris and Sheridan Square will present two midnight shows next week, one of them Sunday and the other on New Year's Eve. The first will be screen subjects, the second will be vaudeville acts in each theater and the screening, via vitaphone and photophone, of "Annapolis."

Rum Runner Leaves Liquor-Laden Auto

A rum runner escaped prohibition agents by abandoning his automobile, containing 65 gallons of moonshine, at Hazel and Fullerton streets last night. The bootlegger spied the agents and jumped from his car, permitting it to run down Hazel street. An agent leaped into the car and brought it to a stop. The identity of the owner is known to them, and he will be arrested soon, the agents say.

'TALKIES' SEEN AS SPEECH LEVELER

CHICAGO, Dec. 29.—(AP.)—A prediction that America's speech will be uniform through the land in 25 years if talking pictures kept on developing was made yesterday by Prof. John H. Muyskens, of the University of Michigan, addressing the National Association of Teachers of Speech, meeting here.

The Southern drawl, the nasal twang of the Easterner, the broad "A" of Boston, the provincialism of the Westerner, all were heard when representatives of these sections gave readings to show sectional differences in speech.

Prof. Muyskens urged uniformity in speech as an asset to national progress.

John P. Ryan, president of the association, wired the American Academy of Arts and Letters, on behalf of the group, expressing appreciation for the effort being made for better speech in radio broadcasting. A wire also was sent to the Academy of Motion Picture Arts and Sciences commending them for their efforts in keeping the speech standards of talking pictures on a high level.

Woman Philadelphia Music Bureau Head

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 29.—(AP.)—Mayor Mackey yesterday named Mrs. Clara Barnes Abbott as chief of the new Bureau of Music, effective January 1, and Mrs. Helen Pulaski Innes, assistant chief.

The annual budget provides an appropriation of $96,700 for the bureau, of which $15,000 is for salaries.

Organ Recitals Tonight and Sunday

Strauss' symphonic poem, "Death and Transfiguration," will be included in the free organ recital program by Dr. Charles Heinroth at 8:15 o'clock this evening in Carnegie Music Hall. The program also includes: Suite, "The Good-Humored Ladies," Scarlatti; Allegretto Scherzando, from Eighth Symphony, Beethoven; Novelette, Parker; Adoration, Borowski; Toccata "Tues Petra," from "Byzantine Sketches," Mulet."

The program for 4 o'clock Sunday afternoon is as follows: Prelude to "Parsifal," Wagner; Barcarolle from "The Tales of Hoffman," Offenbach; Serenata, Moszkowski; symphonic poem, "Danse Macabre," Saint-Saens; Liebestraum (Dream of Love) in A Flat, Liszt; Pastoral Sonata, Rheinberger; offertory on a familiar melody, Gottschalk-Dunham; Toccata, Callaerts.

OUR DAILY SHORT STORY

FIGHTING BLOOD

By HERBIE O'BRIEN

JIMMIE FALLON'S head was full of ideas—thousands of them. The first idea was centered around Mary McGrath, and the last idea in his brain reel was in constant issue from the same little piece of femininity.

Jimmie wasn't as bright as some of the other lads who made it a practice never to miss the fights in Madison Square Garden, but he had a wallop, packed neatly away under his snappy outfit, that held out promise of his graduating some time into big money mix-ups. The idea of such a consummation, devoutly as it should be wished, was the smallest thing in Jimmie's wishing wallet, the little girl always predominating his wishes just as she was the center of all his ideas.

Mary mustn't have been any too bright either, as any prudent girl could tell her right off the reel, because she seemed to think the constant admiration of her Jimmie more important than his getting a lot of money or a car or any of the things that so many girls consider a necessary portion of being a fellow's steady.

In the paper house where the boy friend worked he was known as a regular fellow who wasn't above putting on the gloves with some of the amateurs, although he had spent considerable money on boxing lessons. Already he was in demand for preliminaries among the smaller clubs, and the kids in the neighborhood where he lived, knowing this fact, looked upon him as a sort of demi-god.

Jack Moore, who spent his waking hours handling a string of fighters, had decided to add Jimmie to his stable as a permanent asset and meal ticket. He had seen the boy show all the stuff of which champions are made and he wanted to be in on the big money cuts that were in prospect. When he spoke to Jimmie about his plans the young bonehead told him that he couldn't see how it could be done, and he had a girl, that he had to work for a living, that he was doing well in the paper house, and again that he had a girl.

Moore wasn't what one would call hard-boiled. That term fails to describe him. Rather might he be described as a congealed mass of contention hammered together throughout 20 years of dealing with "tough mugs and tougher managers." When Jimmie told him his objection to getting into the game for keeps, the iron jaw of the older snapped into rigid lines as he mumbled:

"Another case of a skirt ruining a man!"

"What did you say?" queried the affable Jimmie in a tone that suggested the need for an answer.

"You heard me," answered Moore, "you're just another case of a fall guy for some cheap dame."

Those are not the exact words the manager used, but they are sufficient to introduce the reader to Jimmie's wallop, which caught the manager contiguous to the cleft of his stern chin with such good effect that he was laid out in quick time on the tanbark floor of his own training quarters, and in sight of the pugs and near-pugs that he was accustomed to call his own. When Moore finally got to his feet he showed a disposition to follow up the fight, but he found Jimmie ready to mix with him, and he substituted the wiles that had eased him out of many a difficult position for an uncertain offensive.

"My dear fellow," and crocodile tears filled his eyes, "I'm sorry you took offense, I didn't mean any. What I was thinking about was only you. I wouldn't say anything against this girl in a thousand years. You get me, don't you? What I've on my mind is to help you earn money in the big time that will make possible your marriage soon."

Fallon fell for this as quickly as he had previously shown his resentment. He was that kind of a boy, and before he left Moore's place they had signed an agreement—the kind of a document that makes life a pleasant performance for managers, and one fight after another for fighters. And Jimmie didn't take it unkindly when Moore hinted that he would have to keep hours that would interfere with going to the movies or dances or other places where he and Mary had always loved to go.

The doughty Moore hadn't removed the ideas out of Jimmie's head. That wouldn't be possible. What he had done was to add an additional idea, one that made the young bruiser feel that his marriage day was much nearer than he could imagine. And when he went to Mary's house that evening and told her all about it, that is all but the insult and the wallop part, she told him that she hoped it was all for the best for him but that she thought he had been fine in the paper house, and that she didn't like that Moore man anyhow.

But the contract was signed and Jimmie was going to be as good as his word. Grueling days of road work, boxing, gym stuff and all the other things that managers think fighters ought to do followed in succession for the embryo fighter, and in consequence he slept well. Mary had lost everything in the world that had made life real to her the day that Jimmie came under the Moore spell, and as she journeyed backwards and forwards to the great department store where she worked she was a sad little creature. Some of the boys in the store wanted to "make up" to her, but her true Irish heart was only for the boy she loved, and she would have no association with them. The girls who worked with her knew how it was and refused to try to force her out of her gloom. To their dear little romantic hearts Mary was enjoying the sweetest thing in life—love that suffers—and they were simple enough to envy her the experience.

Jimmie's first fight proved to the very capable Moore that he had guessed right; the second fight placed the boy in the contender class for a championship; the third placed several thousands of dollars to his bank account as well as adding to his fight prestige and about the time that his manager was arranging for a chance at the championship the contract between them expired, and Jimmie went to see Mary before renewing it.

Mary was sad at the idea of another two years of waiting and told him so. They had more than enough of money for a start. And strange as it may seem, with all the glory ahead of him Jimmie agreed with her, and brought her along when he decided to tell Moore he was all through. Moore, unfortunately, became maddened at the idea of losing his most lucrative asset, and wandered into another attack on the girl. Jimmie gave him his several ways while the triumphant little Mary rooted him on with a voice and smile that made each blow more effective.

"I never had an idea you carried such a wallop," she told him as they went on their way to talk things over with Father Murphy and the boss at the paper factory.

And the funniest thing about that couple was that three years after Father Murphy had done his bit for them they were discovered in the yard of their pretty cottage with a 2-year-old who was trying to knock the stuffing out of his old man while his mother egged him on with voice and laughter. Moore passed along during the performance and told the world:

"That kid sure has fighting blood in him."

"Where did he get it from?" asked an innocent bystander.

Alabama Racial Trouble Denied

MONTGOMERY, Ala., Dec. 29.—(AP.)—S. E. Tranun, member of the state law enforcement force, declared last night there was no evidence of trouble between races in Marengo and Sumter counties. Tranun said he and Potter Smith, another member of the force, were sent into the section to aid local officers in searching for a Negro who killed Deputy Sheriff Hood, of Sumter county, but that he had escaped.

Important Weddings Await '29

JUST two more days of 1928! And doesn't the end of the old year and the beginning of the new awaken you to a sharp awareness of the passage of time? It doesn't seem possible, any more than it did this time last winter, that another 12 months have gone by. But if we look backward for a moment we can see that quite a few important events happened during that time. There was the usual number of big dances and benefits and, it seems to me, several more important weddings than usual. And did you notice, too, how many of those weddings united two local families? Our men and girls seem to have selected partners from their own Pittsburgh circle, instead of finding them in other cities.

Several bridal parties are standing in the wings now, waiting for the curtain of 1929 to go up, and the prospects look bright for a number of others. Right at the beginning of the new year is Marjorie Babcock's wedding to James McKay, Thursday, to be exact—and two days later, Eleanor McCargo will be married to William Lloyd Standish III. These two important weddings start the year off brilliantly, and since we know about three or four others set for later in the month, it begins to look as if 1929 would be no mean rival for its predecessor.

Speaking of Marjorie and her wedding, Paul Mellon, who is going to be best man, will give the bachelor dinner for Mr. McKay tonight in the Rolling Rock Country Club. And Mrs. J. Scott Burke is to give a supper later in the evening in her home in College avenue.

BUT to get back to those prospective weddings, I want to tell you about a most interesting engagement, announced today by Mrs. Edwin Lewis Porter, of St. James street. It is the betrothal of her niece, Mary Louise McBride, to Homer Saint-Gaudens, of the Bellefield Dwellings and Cornish, N. H. Mr. Saint-Gaudens, you know, is director of the department of fine arts of Carnegie Institute and is largely responsible for the tremendous success of our international exhibits. No wedding date has been made public.

WE have among our holiday visitors in Pittsburgh the Lessile Stockton Howells, of Haverford, Pa., who are the guests of Mrs. Howell's parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Stevens Page, of Thomas boulevard. Mrs. Howell, who was Pauline Page, you remember before she was married in September, arrived here more than a week ago, and her husband came on last Sunday. They are planning to return home tomorrow, I believe.

AND now the last bud of the season has been presented. Of course you know I'm referring to Marian Stone, whose father and mother, Judge and Mrs. Stephen Stone, presented her last night at a dance in the University Club. At the entrance to the ballroom, before an embankment of cibotium ferns and palms, the bud received with her parents. Marian's gown was of white satin, fashioned with a V-decolletage and a full, long skirt draped in the front and back. And she carried pale pink roses and lilies of the valley, tied with jade green ribbon, the shade of her satin slippers. Mrs. Stone was in black beaded chiffon, and her corsage was of gardenias.

In the ballroom the chandeliers were entwined with silver foliage, and the corners were banked with Christmas trees. Over 300 guests danced at the event.

Before the dance the A. Wilson McCandlesses, of Beechwood boulevard, gave a dinner for Marian, who is their niece. Covers were laid for 60 guests.

ANNOUNCEMENT is made by the John M. Havertys, of Aylesboro avenue of the engagement of their daughter, Ida Margaret Haverty, to Joseph Gerard Wagner, son of Milton M. Wagner, of Sidney, O. A mid-February wedding is being planned.

TO add to all the merriment and entertainment of the Yuletide season, there'll have to be several social events for the Yale Glee Club. The club will arrive in Pittsburgh Sunday night, and will go to the home of Oliver Evans, Yale '23, for a dinner. On Monday the Yale Club of Pittsburgh will entertain with a luncheon in the William Penn Hotel. That afternoon the members will be guests, I understand, at a tea in the home of Willis McCook Reed, and later at a tea dance at the Hotel Schenley to be given by Mrs. Thomas W. Smith.

Following the concert, the Glee Club men will attend the dance at the Pittsburgh Golf Club to be given by the John G. Fraziers, you know, for their daughter, Katherine.

Southard Hay, Dr. Thomas S. Arbuthnot, Frank P. Brooks, Thomas Watson, Charles Oliver, Earl C. B. Gould, and J. Verner Scaife, Jr., are members of the Pittsburgh Club in charge of the concert.

MRS. EDWARD A. TOBEY, of the Bellefield Dwelling, entertained yesterday afternoon in the Twentieth Century Club with a bridge tea in honor of her niece, Miss Janet Morris, of Los Angeles, Cal., who is her house guest, and Mrs. Frank R. Curtis, of Washington, D. C. The tea table was decorated in keeping with the holiday season.

MR. AND MRS. ROBERT CHALMERS, of Blawnox, entertained at bridge Wednesday night to announce the engagement of their daughter, Miss Dorothy Freund Chalmers, to Henry Francis McFarlin, of New Castle, Del., and Easton, Pa. Miss Chalmers is home for the holidays from Easton, where she is an instructor in the high school, and her sister, Miss Olga Chalmers, is home from Europe, where she has been touring with a ballet.

Southern Club Gives Charity Ball

A BIT of the old South was brought to life last night when the Southern Club gave its annual charity ball in the Hotel Schenley and the aides wore the costumes of their grandmothers' day. These same young girls, led by Myron Elde and Jean Scott, Jack Kiefer and Janet Greer, danced the cotillion figure, for which the favors were in the Confederate colors.

The ballroom was decorated with poinsettia and palms on the stage, but the real decorative effect of the evening was in the colorful gowning, not only of the aides, but of all the women present.

Mrs. Arthur B. Lynn, president of the club, looked charming in black satin and lace and Mrs. C. C. Moore, chairman of the ball committee, had on cream colored georgette that was trimmed with tiny mirrors and beaded fringe. Mrs. Joseph W. Marsh was in dark green velvet and Mrs. William E. Hammett in blue velvet. Mrs. John William Rese wore an especially attractive gown of green georgette trimmed with rhinestones and silver beads. Her niece, Miss Jacqueline Alvey, of Baltimore, who is her house guest, was in apricot taffeta and lace. Powder blue chiffon was worn by Mrs. William O'Lee. Mrs. C. Fitzhugh Lee came in green georgette, beaded and fringed, and Mrs. Elder Marshall in black lace. Her daughters, Miss Janet and Miss Betty Marshall, wore (the former) flesh colored chiffon over blue and, the latter, a French frock of cream net over blue chiffon. Mrs. C. C. Bunton appeared in beaded white georgette and Mrs. Walter K. Long in turquoise blue taffeta.

Among the aides there was some distinctive dressing. Miss Mary McClelland wore her grandmother's wedding gown of white mousellaine de soie and lace with a skirt that measured six yards around the hem. Her great-great grandmother's chain completed the costume. Miss Margaret Patterson's flounced and pantaleted gown was set off with her grandmother's lace fichu and Miss Margaret Paul, in blue organdy, wore a bertha of rose point lace that had been on her mother's wedding gown. Miss Greer, who danced with Mr. Kiefer, wore lavender chiffon caught here and there with clusters of velvet pansies and she carried an old fashioned nosegay of pansies. Miss Scott was in mulberry taffeta with lace pantalets.

MRS. AMBROSE NEVIN DIEHL, chairman of the motion picture committee of the General Federation of Women's Clubs, will be the only Pittsburgher attending the annual mid-winter meeting of the Federation board of directors, which is to be held at headquarters in Washington January 9 to 11. The board consists of officers, state directors, department chairmen and trustees. State presidents and division chairmen are conference members. A wide range of subjects relative to Federation work will be discussed by these 100 leaders of 3,000,000 women who will assemble from every state in the Union. Speakers from government departments will be heard, and President Coolidge will receive the club women. The outstanding social event of the week will be the reception at headquarters on the evening of January 8.

THE Travellers celebrated the holiday season with a luncheon of unusually attractive appointments yesterday in the Congress of Clubs. Tall red tapers stood in holly wreaths, while silver and red poinsettia lying flat on the table added beauty to the affair. The program was given by Mrs. Adele Eggers Furniss, soprano, accompanied by Mrs. William H. Patterson, and Mrs. Norval R. Daugherty, who read. Both chose their programs with reference to the season.

SONGS by Frances Schriner Lane, accompanied by Frances Zeigler, piano solos by Miss Zeigler and readings by Grace Jarrett made up the program for the first meeting of the juniors of the Sarah Sloan Scholarship Club, held yesterday in the Congress of Clubs. Covers were laid for about 20 at luncheon.

MRS. SAMUEL E. DIESCHER, of South Negley avenue, will be hostess for the Forum's monthly card party to be held next Wednesday.

Weds New Year's Night

MISS MARGARET R. LINCOLN

The marriage of Miss Margaret R. Lincoln, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. F. Lincoln, Washington, Pa., to Charles L. Leish, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Leish, Canonsburg, will be solemnized New Year's night in the Allison Avenue Baptist Church, Washington.

Two Pittsburghers In Princeton Show

Two Pittsburghers will be presented in this year's production of the Princeton Triangle Club, the new comic opera, "Zuider Zee," which will be staged at Syria Mosque next Wednesday.

A. Douglas Hannah, 357 Morewood avenue, is the club's assistant program manager. He is a graduate of Schenley High School. John A. Metz, 2800 Espy avenue, Dormont, will sing two solos. The comic opera will be presented at a regular evening performance at 8:30 o'clock and a special matinee at 2:30 o'clock.

STRANGE MALADY ASSAILS CONQUEROR OF PELLAGRA

WASHINGTON, Dec. 29.—(AP.)—Dr. Joseph Goldberger, of the U. S. Public Health Service, who for 15 years battled pellagra and finally found the cause and cure of the disease, for three weeks has been fighting for his own life here against an ailment his doctors are at a loss to explain.

At the Naval Hospital the physicians have agreed that he is suffering from some form of anaemia, though this may not be the primary illness.

When fellow health officials learned that blood transfusions at regular intervals had been ordered, 20 of them volunteered as donors. Fourteen were accepted and they agreed to offer themselves in relays of one every Tuesday and every Thursday.

Already two of the scientist's comrades have given a pint of their blood. The others will take their turns as long as they are necessary.

The Public Health Service has refused to reveal the identities of the officials, explaining that their action was "a matter of course."

Dr. Goldberger, an Austrian by birth, has been in charge of field investigations of pellagra by the Public Health Service. Through his work and that of associates, it was proved that the disease is caused by unbalanced diet. Studies in connection with this discovery have added materially to the world's knowledge of nutrition in general.

One of Dr. Goldberger's studies showed that vitamin "B" is composed of two substances; another that pellagra is caused by the absence of a specific vitamin, "PP."

A threatened outbreak of pellagra in the Mississippi Valley following the flood of 1927 was averted through the distribution by the Red Cross of several tons of dried yeast among refugees. Dr. Goldberger's investigations had shown that dried yeast is both a preventive and a cure.

He was at work on dietetic studies here when he became ill.

Woman, 84, 'Feels in The Way,' Hangs Self

CHICAGO, Dec. 29.—(AP.)—At the age of 84 Mrs. Anna Lauman felt she was "in the way."

Wife's Talk Wins Husband Court's Sympathy

Beaver, Pa., Dec. 29.—J. M. Smith, a railroader, of Canton, O., was on the witness stand defending himself against a charge of desertion when his wife, now a resident of Beaver Falls, interrupted his testimony. So insistent were interruptions that Judge Frank E. Reader remarked:

"If you talked to your husband as much at home as you do here, I do not blame him for leaving you."

However, Smith was directed to pay $15 per week for the support of his family.

CONGRESSMEN ON RADIO

WASHINGTON, Dec. 29.—(AP.)—A New Year's congressional greeting will be broadcast Tuesday night, January 1, from station WJSV at Washington by 25 members of the House.

The following Representatives will extend New Year's greetings to their constituents: Reece and Davis, Tennessee; Ketcham, Michigan; Fulmer, South Carolina; Morrow, New Mexico; Burtness, North Dakota; McKeown and Swank Oklahoma; Johnson, Washington; Roy G. Fitzgerald, Ohio; Letts, Iowa; Moore, Virginia; Parks, Arkansas; Strong, Kansas; Crowther, New York; Hall, Illinois; Christopherson and Williamson, South Dakota; Woo, Elliott and Purnell, Indiana; Green and Drane, Florida; Winter, Wyoming, and Abernethy, North Carolina.

Kerr Here Arranging 1929 Flag Day Fete

William T. Kerr, formerly of Pittsburgh and now assistant chief of the divisional bureau of the Pennsylvania Railroad in Philadelphia, is here arranging for the 1929 celebration to be held by the National Flag Day Association, of which he is president. Units of the organization are being formed in St. Louis and Philadelphia, and plans are under way for the extension of the association's membership into every state in the Union, Mr. Kerr said.

Burglars Bind Four And Take $10,000

CHICAGO, Dec. 29.—(AP.)—Binding four members of Samuel Blisky's family and two servants with adhesive tape, robbers took jewels and valuables worth $10,000 from the Blisky home last night.

Real Estate

The Pittsburgh Coal Company has sold to Charles Sterner and Raymond J. Rodgers 117 acres along Bower Hill road, Mt. Lebanon, for a consideration of $90,000.

MUSIC
MENDELSSOHN CHOIR
Carnegie Music Hall

The Mendelssohn Choir gave its annual performance of Handel's "Messiah" in Carnegie Music Hall last night. Influenza depleted not only the audience, but played havoc with the personnel of the chorus, yet there was much enthusiasm on both sides of the footlights and Handel's music conquered as always.

There need be no apology on the part of Ernest Lunt for the decrease in tone due to so many absent singers. The volume of huge choruses and orchestras so often obscures the wonderful figures in fugual writing, that the great choral numbers seemed to have gained musically whatever they may have lost in breadth of tone.

The "Messiah" can be made mediocre or distinguished by the solo tenor. The other singers of the solo quartet are sure fire.

Pittsburgh has been fortunate in having so frequently the veteran Dan Beddoe, and last night made the acquaintance of a new and brilliant young tenor in the person of Allan Jones.

His voice is of natural beauty, clear, evenly developed. He sings with musical assurance, his declamation is dramatic, and all florid passages are rich with nuance and phrased with greatest control. His attitude to oratorio style is most sympathetic.

Esther Nelson, soprano, is another newcomer. Even if her first air was a little too much for her present technique, she more than distinguished herself in the repeat of the contralto air, "He Shall Feed His Flock." "I Know That My Redeemer Liveth" was a very sauve bit of singing on her part.

Earl Mitchell was at the organ.

Carroll Is Drunk When He Returns to Take Madge Away

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE

Madge Sayre, pretty and young, craves luxuries of life. She meets handsome Carroll Dudley, artist and aviator and "man about town," at a party given by Frances Storrs, a friend. Frances warns Madge against Dudley's professions of love. She dines in his luxurious studio apartment, takes midnight air rides in his plane and accepts his suggestion to pose for him in the nude. After professing his love for her, which she accepts, it develops that he is already married. She is struck by the automobile of Michael Winchester, who falls in love with her. They are married. The event is one of startling magnificence. Madge had previously described to Michael her affair with Dudley. Later a barrier of misunderstanding which neither is able to surmount arises. Michael receives a cable to go to his sister in England. He fails to ask Madge to accompany him. Shortly after in a darkened theater a man takes the seat next to her. "Ecstacy! Ecstacy!" he whispers. It is Dudley's pet name for her. Refusing to be jilted by her coldness, Dudley forces her to ride with him through the park. An agreement is reached based solely on "friendship." She invites him to dinner. She deserts Michael and goes to Carroll. Michael is heartbroken when he discovers Madge has left him. Michael plans a trip to Africa in order that he might forget her. Madge is again deceived by Carroll and makes up her mind that she is through with him. Madge realizes now that she loves Michael and mistook thrills for love. Madge saves Celeste's life after she is bitten by a rattlesnake. Madge tells Martha about leaving Michael for a cad like Carroll. Martha tells her to go back to Michael, but she claims it is too late. Madge's hatred for Carroll grows as she thinks of how she treated Michael. She hears a plane and thinks it is Carroll and goes with a gun to shoot him. She is disappointed when the plane passes by.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

WORN out by emotion, Madge slept that night although she had feared that she would get no rest. The following day she spent most of the time alone.

Little Celeste was still in bed, and Madge made her frequent visits, but in the afternoon wandered away to her favorite place by the waterfall.

She sat there day-dreaming. What was she going to do with the shattered fragments of her life? It occurred to her that after she had established herself in some little business and could feel assured of a moderate income, she would like to adopt a child. Celeste had grown so around her heart that she felt as if she could win and hold the love of some youngster and that there would be her greatest chance of happiness.

"But you mustn't be weak," she addressed herself. "You've made an utter mess of everything, but have some courage and don't pity yourself! One would think you were the only girl who ever wrecked her life!"

She spent the rest of the day helping Martha in simple household duties, and when the latter objected, Madge said:

"I've got an idea, Martha that work makes one forget quicker than anything else. I don't see any happiness ahead—there can be none—but I may feel better when I begin to work."

"One would think you were a fortune teller," Martha chided her. "How can you know that you will never be happy again?"

On the Friday morning, Madge wondered if Carroll would arrive that day or on the Saturday. She wanted to have the final interview with him over and done with. She determined that she would stay a week or two longer at the farm, and that she would then go to New York to talk business with Frances.

But in the early afternoon, soon after lunch, she heard the whirl in the sky, and she knew it was Carroll as he circled and made a perfect landing in the meadow. She was surprised at the sense of detachment with which she watched this maneuver. How could she ever have been thrilled by him and by his spectacular sobriquet of "the flying painter?"

She did not go to meet him in the meadow, but waited by the well. She saw him quicken his pace, and it was with this same sense of detachment that she watched the eagerness of his expression as he approached her.

"Ecstasy! O Moon of My Delight! How it is possble that anyone can be so beautiful?" he asked; and instantly Madge knew that he had been drinking and was partially intoxicated.

Where they stood, they were out of the view of the house owing to a high bank of rhododendrum bushes, which flower so plentifully in the Delaware country. Carroll would have taken her in his arms, but seeing Madge's expression of cold contempt, he stepped back from her.

"Carroll, I know!"

"Know what? What do you mean?" he blustered.

"I have been talking on long distance with your wife," Madge said almost listlessly, so profound was her indifference.

He was not even as good-looking as she had imagined her prince of romance to be, she reflected critically. And his face was dissipated-looking. Why had he ever had that fascination over her, this slightly-intoxicated man, who dropped into bluster upon realizing that lying would not help him? She contrasted his rather flashy good-looks with the aristocratic and essentially poised charm of Michael. And she had given up Michael Winchester for this.

"I admit it," Carroll was saying, and for the past few moments Madge had been too preoccupied with her thoughts even to listen to him. "I did it—I lied—for love of you, Ecstasy! I could not see any other way to win your warm beauty! Can you blame me because I love so much?"

Madge's expression was almost one of boredom as she interrupted him:

"Carroll, you're such a cheap cad! You sound like a phonograph record! You repeat yourself all the time."

"You!" he almost snarled at her, as her stinging words penetrated his self-complacency. "You're in a position to talk to me, aren't you? It would be wiser for you, you silly little fool, to be particularly charming or you may be faced with the unpleasant necessity of working for a living!"

From his pocket, Carroll produced a huge silver flask. "To your better temper, darling!" he said, and drank. "But you might as well remember the fact that I am an artist," he added, "and my nerves won't stand for very much of this sort of thing."

Martha came towards them, while Celeste, a little lame, went up to Madge and slipped her hand in hers.

"Martha, I apologize," Madge said distinctly, "that a cad such as this fellow should annoy you with a visit."

"Let me talk to you, Mrs. Ferris," Carroll said suddenly in an ugly way, the liquor obviously affecting him.

"I want to see the airship!" Celeste announced.

"Take her with you, and let me talk to Mr. Dudley," Martha said emphatically.

"Now you seem sensible, Mrs. Ferris," Carroll said in a patronizing tone as Celeste and Madge moved slowly away towards the plane in the meadow. "I see that you know the whole story. Now, as a woman, do you blame me for hiding from Madge the fact that my wife is alive, when I explain to you that I did it for love of Madge? I'm going to do the right thing by Madge, and I shall marry her—when everything adjusts itself. But I don't see why we should wait—do you? Why should convention stop a love like ours?"

His speech was becoming thicker and thicker, and now he paused for another big drink.

For the Lovelorn

Justyn

DEAR MISS GALE:

I have written to you before but have never seen my answer yet. I hope this gets in this time for I believe your advice is wonderful and I need it quite bad. Miss Gale, I am in love with a fellow two years my senior. I have been introduced to him, but he avoids our speaking. Is it my place to speak first? I guess I am foolish and all my friends tell me he doesn't even recognize me and it's hard to take all this. I love him Miss Gale, and would do anything to win his love. He knows I like him and I guess that is more reason why he won't pay any attention to me. Please tell me what I can do to win him? Is it all right for me to invite him to my home or have a bridge and invite him? If I can't have him I belive I shall be an old maid. Please tell me what to do. My friends tell me he is going to leave in a few weeks, his home is in Ohio, but I shall never forget him. Please tell me what would be best to do, don't tell me to forget him; I've tried that oh, so often, but to no avail. I am old enough to know what love is and I do love him so; if you can please help me. JUSTYN.

P. S. Thank you for your trouble.

It is your place to speak first, Justyn. But from your letter I get the impression that he doesn't like you, so it would not be very wise to invite him to call. You might invite him to a party though.

BEAUTY, USEFUL AND ORNAMENTAL

Drawn by Dorothy Flack

ONCE upon a time it was considered that beauty was nothing but ornamental. That is, as far as Lovely Woman was concerned. But how times do change! Of course there are still beauties who are nothing but just that—something lovely to look at, and without an ounce of brains in their beautiful heads. Just gay butterflies fluttering their brilliant way through a short life until all the beauty is gone—and then what? Nothing but vain regrets and useless repinings.

On the other hand, there are the beauties who have done marvels in all lines of business. Girls whose beauty is not their sole asset, but whose pleasingness of personality, coupled with their loveliness, and mostly the brains that repose so calmly in their little heads—who have accomplished wonders where some men have failed.

And these are the beauties whose loveliness is a secondary consideration. At first they attract through sheer power of beauty alone. Then, after a bit, the looks are forgotten and men speak in admiring terms of their ability. And this is the Beauty which lasts.

Either way—useful or ornamental—beauty is greatly to be desired. But the beauty which lasts is the beauty that forgets self and rises above mere looks to heights of attainment where beauty is brushed as ruthlessly aside as incompetence.

Even in the game of love the beauty which attracts and has nothing more to offer but itself, soon loses its brightness. But the beauty which has itself and brains wins over and holds itself as a gleaming inspiration to all who wish to see.

Meditations of a Wife

By HELEN ROWLAND

Woman's Weakest Link

NEVER waste time trying to make a woman happy by telling her that she looks regal or impressive or distinguished or even "smart."

* * *

Tell her that she looks "cute!" Of course, "beautiful" or "swell" or "ravishing" will do. But they take a detour when there is a straight cut to her heart?

Secretly or subconsciously, every woman thinks of herself as "cute." She would rather be CUTE than President! Or even than Peggy Joyce or John D. Rockefeller or the Queen of Rumania!

She always speaks of herself and her belongings in the diminutive. It is always "my little pink voile" or "my little brown tam" or "my little blue sports suit."

* * *

She fondly refers to her number sixes as "my little silver pumps" or "my little tan walking-shoes." "CUTE!" That's what!

She may resemble the Washington Monument or the latest ocean liner, but she can still console herself with the reflection that her ankles are slender or that her nose is cute or that she wears a number five glove! That's why we women will always cling to the short skirts and bobbed hair. They make us feel "cute." They give us that "half-portion feeling."

* * *

When a blindly doting man calls a hefty hundred and sixty-pound woman "Cutey," she doesn't even smile—or wince. She FEELS that way, anyhow. She's somebody's "little girl!"

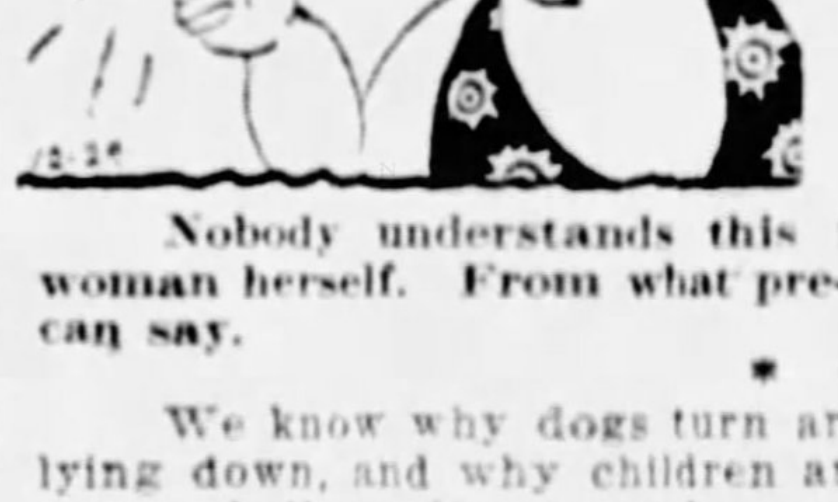
It's perfectly safe to call a woman "You little boob!" but positively fatal to call her "You great big boob!" And no man ever got very far with a woman by calling her a "Fine, big, husky girl!"



* * *

The man who treats her like a queen may flatter her; but it's the man who treats her like a baby or a kitten who wins her.

Nobody understands this feminine weakness—least of all, woman herself. From what pre-historic instinct it sprang, nobody can say.

* * *

We know why dogs turn around three times on a rug before lying down, and why children are afraid of the dark. But never, never shall we discover why women yearn to be CUTE!

* * *

Horoscopes

Sunday, December 30

SUNDAY'S horoscope shows reward for faithfulness and merit, with preferment and honors, or else promotion or increase of salary. Favors from elders or superiors may be sought, but be careful in making new contracts and wary in new ventures.

Those whose birthday it is may look for a year of favors, promotion and preferment, with increase of business and money. It is a time for seeking advancement and for pushing the ambitions and desires, but be careful in making contracts or in new negotiations.

A child born on this day will be industrious, responsible, capable and ambitious and should reach a good place in life by these qualities.

To whom can riches give repute or trust, content or pleasure, but the good and just?—Pope.

Monday, December 31

MONDAY'S astrological map shows great benefits for those in the employment of others and for young folks generally. It is a time to seek favors, promotion and increase of salary or to renew contracts or agreements. All things pertaining to letters, writings or publishing flourish under this benign aspect of Mercury, sustained by the trine of the luminaries.

Those whose birthday it is are under excellent auspices for promotion during the year. They should push for advancement, favors or increased salary. Also it is advisable to renew contracts or agreements, to attend to publishing, correspondence and kindred activities.

A child born on this day will be clever, versatile and should make excellent success in employment.

Heaven forming each on other to depend, a master servant or a friend, bids each on other for assistance call.—Pope.

Bridal Bouquets

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:

A discussion arose recently as to who is supposed to pay for the bouquets for the bride and bridesmaids. A says the bridegroom, B claims it is the best man's duty and C says the bride should pay. Will you please settle this for us?

G. W. S.

THE groom always sends his bride her bouquet—or, at least, a bridegroom who knows what's what does. Sometimes, too, he sends the bouquets to the attendants of his bride. But usually the bridesmaids' bouquets and the bouquet of the maid or matron of honor is sent by the parents of the bride, who plan this detail to "go with" the color scheme of the costumes. In no case should it be expected that the best man provide these bouquets.

Gallant Acts

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:

Is it proper, when you are with your boy friend in a bus, for him to get up and give a lady his seat?

MARGE.

IT is proper and manly and gallant and courteous—and, nowadays, very seldom seen. But there are still gentlemen who show this respect to women.

Cordial Thanks

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:

1. Will you kindly advise me as to the correct way to thank one's hostess after having spent an evening and having had dinner at her home?

2 Also please tell me how to reply politely when asked to call again?

A READER.

"THANK you so much for such a happy evening. I have had a most delightful time." Or, "Thank you so much for asking me to come tonight. I have had a glorious time." Or. "I have had a wonderful time tonight, Mary. You were a dear to ask me to come." Or, "What a superb hostess you are. I had a wonderfully happy time at your party."

Do not mention the dinner as a dinner—that is, don't mention the food. Sum up the hospitality, the graciousness of the hostess, the charm of the party. The food is only a contributary element in the general hospitality. Of course, if you know the hostess exceptionally well, or if there has been a special plan to have a "specialty of the house," then you may mention the food in a more or less "spoofing" way: "When may we come again to have some of that justly famous blueberry pie?"—or, "Please plan another beefsteak dinner soon—we like them!" But of course such informal comments as these indicate a very informal party and a very informal relationship with one's hostess.

2. "Thank you very much. I should love to come." Or, "It is very kind of you to ask me, and indeed I'll come, with the greatest pleasure."

Madge Plans to Entertain the Brixtons

"BUT, of course, never like you."

The words with the affectionate tone which invested them brought a comforting little glow to my heart, although I did not need the assurance that outside of her family I stood highest in Lillian's roster of friends. I smiled back at her, and voiced the offer of hospitality to the Brixtons which I had been planning from the moment when Lillian had read to me the startling letter which Samuel Brixton, old business associate of her first husband, had sent to her.

"Of course, you must have them come here," I said.

"I must do nothing of the kind," she retorted sharply, rising to her feet. "Isn't it enough that Harry and Marion and I should be quartered upon you, without bringing down a horde of strangers? I'll write him the name of that hotel where Phil Veritzen is staying—if he's made his pile, as he says, he can afford that place—and tell him I'll see them there."

"If you use that word 'quartered' again," I threatened, "you'll be quartered and drawn and hanged, reversing the old process—"

"And what'll be done to you for that pun?" she said grimly.

"Yes, it's pretty bad," I admitted, "but you brought it on yourself. Now listen to reason, for if you don't I shall use force. You well know you've carried your end whenever we've lived together like this."

I was speaking only the truth, for, though we have no regular schedule of payments, Lillian and I always adjust the household expenses when we are sharing each other's homes so that the burden is equally divided.

"What bearing does that have on this question?" she asked tartly.

"A close one," I retorted, "because in it is the crux of the agreement that you are to consider the farmhouse as your own home. You know very well that if you were the chatelaine of the farmhouse, you never would permit your old friend Helen Brixton or her children to go to a hotel. And as you cannot invite them without including her husband and his half-brother—what else is there to do but to ask them all here for whatever time they can stay. Now, please," as she started to speak, "don't make me unhappy by persisting. You know I mean exactly what I say when I tell you that you not only will hurt, but offend me if you do anything else but accept my hospitality for the Brixtons, as I would accept yours for friends of mine were conditions reversed."

"Yes, you would," she scoffd, but what she saw in my eyes, changed her protest to immediate surrender.

"I give up," she said, stretching both arm as high in the air as possible. "There's nothing else to be done when you are 'on hospitable thoughts intent.' But I really should like to know (being a curious person) where you intend to put them all."

"That is no problem at all," I told her cheerily. "You know the farmhouse is a most adjustable place. In all probability if they are coming east to place the boy and girl in their schools, they won't stay over two or three days, and for that time, I'll have some extra emergency beds put in Dicky's room, mine and Mary's. Then Harry can bunk with Dicky, you and I can share a room as we have done before, and Marion and Mary will enjoy camping together I am sure. That will give us your room, mine and that small one of Marion's for the guests. So write your letter inviting them as soon as you can. Ask them to wire at once the date of their arrival. Then we can see how much time we have before they come."

"Yea, yea. Personification of Energy," she groaned. "I'll write it within the hour. You surely are the most relentless prodder of laziness I ever knew."

"Thank you," I said with a little bow. "But," hesitantly, for I knew I was treading on dangerous ground, "aren't you going to tell Harry about this before you write to Mr. Brixton?"

How to Keep Well

By Royal S. Copeland, M. D.

Mistakes in Diet Will Shorten Life

IF YOU knew there was smallpox in a certain home in your town, would you pay a visit to the family? You think I am crazy even to mention the idea! Of course you wouldn't. But, why wouldn't you call at that house?

DR. COPELAND

The answer is natural enough. You wouldn't do it for fear of catching the disease. You don't want any kind of illness, certainly not smallpox.

Why are we afraid of smallpox and infantile paralysis and influenza, and give no thought to illness which may cause a lot more pain and carry with it much greater probability of death? Why are we disturbed over diseases which are contagious and yet give never a thought to ailments far more prevalent, ailments facing us every day, indeed?

You never sit down to a meal without being in danger of overeating, taking something your digestive machinery cannot handle, or consuming food which is otherwise capable of doing you temporary and even lasting harm.

Of course, these are pretty strong statements. Believe me, I make them, not to frighten you, but to attract your attention long enough to warn against the evils of wrong eating.

Your life and health are precious to you, they mean everything to your family and friends. I may not know you personally, but I have an interest in the health and welfare of the human race. For all these reasons I am keen to increase your length of days and the effectiveness of your life.

By wrong eating practices you may not acquire actute illness. But just as sure as you are born, such practices will shorten your life and decrease your usefulness.

A man may know everything about engineering, or law, or running a mill, but he may not know how to eat. A woman may be an expert milliner, or a popular actress, and not know how to eat.

Not knowing how to eat would not be so serious if ignorance of the sort did not result in lessening the chances for continued success in your calling, no matter what that may be. Likewise, it makes you a bad insurance risk.

Now let us look at the matter from another standpoint. Isn't it rather a shame not to have knowledge of things so important to the world as foodstuffs, the manner of their preparation and how they affect the body?

I've heard a story about Billy Sunday's asking a boy how to get to the post office. After receiving directions, Sunday asked the lad if he would like to know how to get to heaven. The boy retorted: "Shucks! You don't even know the way to the post office!"

Many a person of my acquaintance has encyclopedic knowledge of many things and at the same time is densely ignorant of how to eat.

Well, I have that out of my system, but have taken so much space to write it, there is no room to attempt even the most elementary instruction in foods and their eatings. Perhaps enough has been accomplished, however, if I have succeeded in holding your attention long enough to arouse the desire to give study to a thing of such vital importance to every individual on earth.

EAST-WEST AWAIT KICKOFF

GENERAL

Howard Harpster, Carnegie Tech's all-America quarterback, who leads the All-East team against the All-West stars at San Francisco today, as he appears in the role of signal-barker.

PASSER

SAFETY

Harpster is one of the finest safety backs in the business. He stars in running back kicks, breaking down passes and tackling runners who have broken through the first line of defense. Here he is seen catching a punt prior to running back the ball.

KICKER

The Tech star is one of the best punters and drop-kickers in the college ranks. He hasn't had occasion to do any drop-kicking lately, but his fine work in this department against Notre Dame at Forbes Field a few years ago still is remembered by the local fans. His punting has been a big factor in many Tartan victories.

SURE TACKLER

Harpster is one of the surest tacklers in the open ever developed in college circles in these parts. He hits them low and hard, as illustrated above. The coast ought to get quite a treat out of his play today. His own story on the game will be an exclusive feature of Monday's Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph.

FEEDING THE BALL

Harpster is a sure handler of the ball in feeding it to the other backs via the indirect pass route. He makes his last appearance as a college star in the intersectional game today.

Traynor Shows Value.
Only Four Yanks Safe.

Boxing Lay-Off Here.

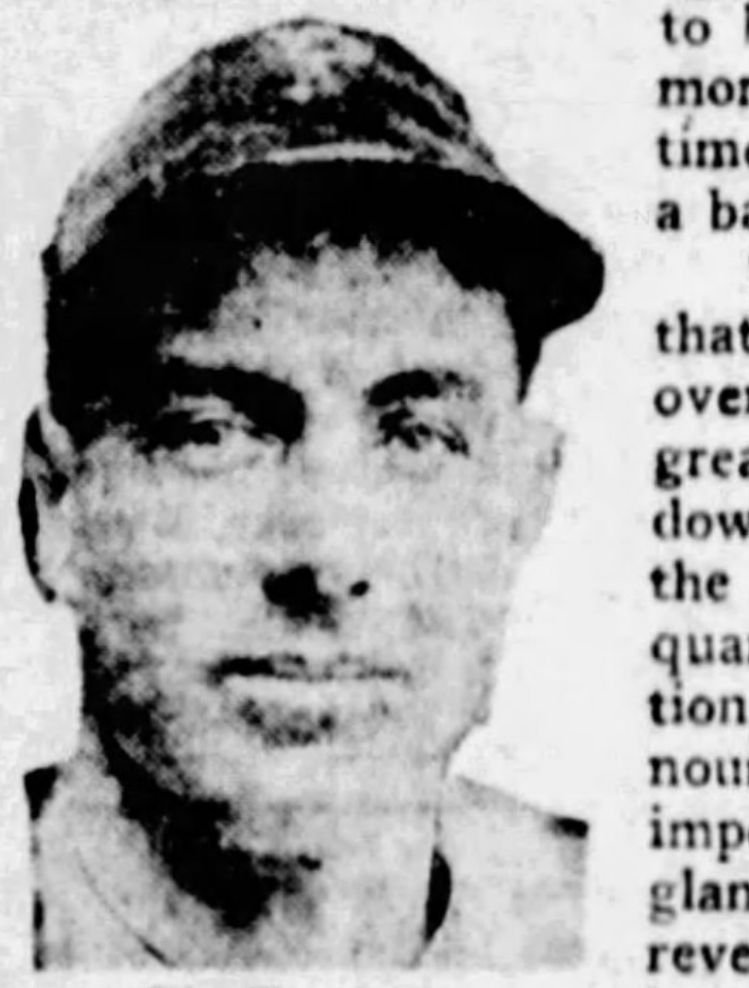
Reunion of Sterlings.

BUC CAPTAIN STAR RUN PRODUCER

THOUGH he never has received any most-valuable-player prizes, and gets only a comparatively few scattered votes each year in the balloting on that award, Pie Traynor is shown to be one of the most serviceable diamond performers in the country every time the National League makes public a batch of official statistics.



Pie Traynor.

The contention of Pittsburgh fans that the valuable-player voters annually overlook one of the greatest of the greats in placing the Pirate captain far down on the list is borne out again by the latest set of figures from the headquarters of the senior major organization, the miscellaneous records announced today. These include the all-important item of runs batted in, and a glance through that column of the table reveals that only one man in the entire loop knocked more tallies across the platter than did Traynor. The lone player to rank ahead of Pie is Jim Bottomey, of the Cardinals, who drove in 136 runs against 124 credited to the Buccaneer star.

AND even at that there is room for argument as to whether Bottomley actually excelled Traynor, as the Cardinal first-sacker played in five games more than Pie. Only six other players in the league reached the 100-mark at driving in runs, these being Chick Hafey, Hack Wilson, Adelphia Bisonette, Bill Terry, Freddie Lindstrom and Arthur Whitney.

Traynor was easily the leader of the Pittsburgh club in this respect, knocking in 38 runs more than the second highest man on the team. His closest Pirate rival was Paul Waner, with 86, George Grantham ranking third with 85. Waner's run-production showed a great falling-off as compared with his performance in the preceding season, as in 1927 he knocked in 131 markers, 45 more than in 1928.

TRAYNOR'S record for last season is only added evidence of his value as a run-producer. It is the fourth time that he has passed the century lines at knocking in runs, and in two seasons he has scored more than 100 himself. Here are his figures for his seven full campaigns as a Pirate: 1922, scored 89 and knocked in 81; 1923, scored 108 and knocked in 101; 1924, scored 86 and knocked in 82; 1925, scored 114 and knocked in 106; 1926, scored 83 and knocked in 92; 1927, scored 93 and knocked in 106; 1928, scored 91 and knocked in 124.

That spells a total of 664 runs scored and 692 knocked in during seven years, an average of very close to 95 scored and 99 knocked in per season. As there never has been any doubt of Traynor's right to be ranked as the king of third basemen in a fielding sense, it would be interesting to know by just what system he is figured to be worthy of nothing better than an obscure place among the also rans in the most-valuable-player list.

Bob Meusel.

ACCORDING to New York reports, Manager Miller Huggins is not yet ready to call a halt on the work of weeding out the Yankees, though he has dropped Joe Dugan, Mike Gazella, Pat Collins and Rosy Ryan and decided not to take on Jimmy Reese, for 1929, at least. For one thing, it is said that Gene Robertson is booked for a trip to the minors, and as the club's two other third basemen have already been let out there appears to be better ground than ever for the belief that Huggins expects to get Ossie Bluege from Washington in a trade, possibly for Mark Koenig. And for another thing, it is reported that even Bob Meusel's job is not safe, and that the veteran outfielder who has been a Yank fixture since 1920 and has performed in six world series will not last through the season of 1929 with his old club.

IN ANY event, the rumor goes, at least one outfielder is to be discarded, and if Meusel isn't given the gate the transfer slip will be

HUDKINS TAKES CLOSE VERDICT OVER DE VOS

NEW YORK, Dec. 29.—(AP.)—Ace Hudkins, the Nebraska Wildcat, lived up to his reputation as a slashing slugger last night when he gained a close decision over Rene de Vos, hard-hitting Belgian middleweight, in a spectacular 10-round match at Madison Square Garden.

Hudkins won by the ancient and simple expedient of outpointing the Belgian in a bout that was fought at an astonishingly furious as well as exciting pace from start to finish. The Nebraskan with the corn-colored hair and flailing fists, kept on top of his rival in nearly every round, but he was hard pressed to withstand a great rally by the Belgian in the eighth and ninth rounds.

After 10 bristling rounds, in which Hudkins' persistent punching was matched against De Vos' sharper, cleaner hitting, the Nebraskan gained the official decision only through votes of the two judges. Both agreed on the Ace after the referee, Lou Magnolia, voted the battle a draw.

There was considerable booing, as a good share of the crowd, as well as many of the ringside critics, appeared to agree with the referee that a draw would have been a fair verdict, but on the Associated Press score sheet Hudkins was accorded the edge in five rounds and De Vos in four, with one, the fourth, even.

The crowd of 18,090 customers who contributed to a gate of $74,505.59, got its biggest thrill in the ninth round when De Vos had Hudkins bleeding and groggy under a

GRID COACHES IN RULES DEBATE

NEW ORLEANS, Dec. 29.—(AP.)—The great and near great among the nation's football coaches gathered here today to discuss the advisability of recommending changes in the gridiron rules.

While a few of the approximately 200 coaches and athletic directors here to attend the annual meeting of the National Association of Football Coaches had indicated the budding of ideas for the rules committee to ponder, most of the coaches informally expressed themselves favoring the rules much as they are.

One proposed recommendation, however, which would revise the rule to make a fumble dead at the point of recovery met with favorable lobby comment. Coach Fielding H. Yost, of the University of Michigan, told newspapermen he favored such a change, believing the loss of the ball was enough penalty for such a mechanical error.

Coach Alonzo Stagg, of the University of Chicago, a member of the rules committee, says he opposed a change in the rules.

The coaches expected to meet in open session both in the morning and afternoon, and will close tonight with a banquet.

The National Collegiate Athletic Association closed yesterday after re-appointing the same football rules committee and the same officers with General Palmer E. Pierce as president. The associa-

About a year ago, Dr. H. C. These four victories, all of which were startling and of much importance, were the first of a string of 21, which gained for Pitt almost the uncontested National intercollegiate title.

WEST HAS EDGE ON EAST, TECH STAR SAYS

By

Howard Harpster.

All-America Quarterback of Carnegie Tech and Member of All-East Team.

(Written Exclusively for The Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph.

PALO ALTO, Dec. 29.—On the morning of the big battle between the all-star teams from the East and the West, there is much speculation as to which is the stronger. The California sport writers in the last few days have broken away from their original views in favoring the West, and now declare that the teams are evenly matched and that the game is a toss-up, probably to be decided by the breaks.

I disagree, however, with their version of the strength of the two teams, and I am inclined to believe that the West has a big edge. There are many reasons for such a point of view.

In the first place, the West team has six players who have played all year with the Olympic Club of San Francisco, which team beat Stanford, 13 to 0, and Stanford was supposedly the greatest team on the coast. You will remember what they did to Army again. They have four Stanford players in the lineup. Now, when you consider that these men have played together all year and that they are used to each others' style of play, it is not hard to imagine that they will work together much better than a team which is made up of men who have never seen each other before.

The East team has three men from

Harpster Is Named East Team Captain

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 29.—(INS.)—Butch Nowack, Illinois tackle, and Howard Harpster, Carnegie Tech quarterback, have been named to captain the eastern all-star grid team which battles with the westerners here today. Nowack will handle the squad on defense and Harpster on offense.

Sports Review Tomorrow

The annual review of the year in the world of sports, illustrated with pictures of the outstanding performers, and including statistics on the accomplishments of the stars, will be a feature of Sunday's Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph, which also will include James J. Long's weekly review and the other regular departments.

ELEVENS EVEN IN DOPE

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 29.—(AP.)—East and West will clash on the gridiron here today in the fourth annual charity game for the Shriners Crippled Children's Hospital and upward of 50,000 persons are expected to attend. It matches two teams of practically equal strength, with the Eastern squad holding an advantage in the matter of practice and favored with a more versatile backfield combination. On the line, the Westerners are more powerful.

Several all-Americans named this year by the Associated Press will parade their wares before the assembled thousands. Malcolm (Ike) Frankain, St. Mary's end, who was picked for the first all-American, will play the left flank position for the West. He will be opposed by Jonsos of Northwestern. Alongside of Frankain will be Mel Dressell, Washington State tackle, who made the second mythical team. Biff Hoffman, Stanford fullback and a second team selection, will do the fullbacking for the West.

The outfit from the Eastern side of the Rockies includes McMullen, Nebraska, and Gibson, Minnesota, both guards, and Harpster, Carnegie Tech quarterback and Nowack, Illinois tackle.

Several members of the teams have received injuries during scrimmages the last week, but the only player known to be definitely on the shelf is Brick Marmus, Califor-

IRISH FIVE VICTOR

KANSAS CITY, Dec. 29.—(AP.)—Outclassing the Jayhawkers in the last half, the Notre Dame basketball team last night defeated the University of Kansas team, 32 to 21, in an intersectional contest here. The score was 14 to 14 at the end of the half.

PING BODIE QUITS

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 29.—(AP.)—Ping Bodie, one of those old-fashioned sluggers who managed to stay in baseball for 20 years, has given up the game for good. Henceforth he will be found at his automobile service station in the vicinity of the park where he started with the San Francisco Seals two decades ago.

MAROONS BATTLE BUCS

Pittsburgh at Montreal.
N. Y. Americans at Ottawa.
Detroit at Toronto.

MONTREAL, Dec. 29.—The Pittsburgh Pirates, who lost to the Toronto Leafs on Thursday, and the Montreal Maroons, who bowed in defeat to the same club on Tuesday, will meet in a National League game here tonight. Neither the Pirates nor the Maroons have indulged in any league exercise since meeting the Leafs, and a fast, fierce battle is anticipated, for both are eager to get back into a victory stride. The game will mark the first meeting of the Bucs and Maroons this season.

Odie Cleghorn's skaters arrived here late yesterday. The Pittsburghers brought forwards primed for battle, but the absence of Bert McCaffery, stalwart defense ace, is likely to handicap them in their fight with the local heavyweights of the circuit. McCaffery is confined to his home in Toronto with an attack of tonsillitis, and it is probable that he will be out of the lineup for an extended period. The Pirates missed his services in the duel with the Leafs, and the heavy Maroons are confident that they will be able to wear down the Bucs' crippled defense and smash through to a triumph.

Freddie Frederickson, Pittsburgh's new center, is understood to have added to the smoothness and effectiveness of the Pirate attack, but the local sextet, having rested since Saturday, is ready for anything that they have to offer.

The Pirates will be fighting to keep ahead of Chicago, now occupying the American Group cellar, and a win will give the Maroons an opportunity to tie the New York Americans for the Canadian Division lead.

The locals are odds-on favorites to win. The probable lineup:

MONTREAL.		PITTSBURGH.
Benedict	G	Miller
Dutton	D	McKinnon
Hicks	D	R. Smith
W. Smith	C	Frederickson
Ward	W	Darragh
Stewart	W	Milks

PITT PLAYS

ler College, Northwestern and Wisconsin have all taken the measure of Pitt, only the pelt of Ohio State being tacked on the local shanty. A victory tonight will put Pitt on a .400 basis, two games won and three lost.

There will be new and glowing faces on the Panther squad when it takes the floor this evening, although only two members of last year's great five were lost by graduation. Sykes Reed and Stash Wrobleskie will be among the missing, but in their places will be coming luminaries of the caliber of Charley Arthurs, Milt Cohen, Willie (Two Points) Arture, Moritz, Eddie Baker, Phil Aielo and Ferrarro, Chipper Cholly Hyatt, Capt. Jerry Wunderlich, Paul (Poison) Zehfuss. Les Cohen and Sandberg are the veterans from last year's squad who are still sticking around.

IOWANS HUSKY

The cognoscenti of this fair village are of the opinion that Dr. Carlson's ball club will find its stride tonight and that the result will be just too bad for Iowa. This will be pleasant from local angles if it pans out. At the same time, Iowa is here with a veteran and hefty outfit, with three big fellows more than six feet in stature and weighing better than 185 pounds. The class of the Hawkeye material is so high that three members of last year's varsity have been unable so far to make the club, as regulars and are posted as reserves. Cheering news, that.

Capt. Francis Wilcox and Plunkitt are the big guns of the Iowa ball club, and will bear watching tonight. Ex-Capt. Twogood is ill and was unable to make the trip, else Iowa would be far more dangerous.

In a preliminary game, Georgie Kowallis' Pitt freshmen will play the University of Pittsburgh Junior College varsity of Uniontown. This will be enlightening, to say the least.

The probable lineup for the varsity contest:

PITT.		IOWA.
Hyatt	F	Nelson
Zehfuss	F	Plunkett
Arthurs or Baker	C	Wilson (C.)
Wunderlich (C)	G	Geneva
L. Cohen	G	Kinnan

Referee—Calvin Boister.
Umpire—Fred Young.

DUKES TRIM ALUMNI

Last night on the Bluff court, the Dukes whetted the appetites of some 600 cage fans by manhandling the Alumni tossers most shamefully. The best part of the game was not the score, nor was it the brilliancy of some of the Duke regulars, but it was the antics of Messrs. Coy Harrison and Richard Schrading, Alumni players.

Coy and Dick, at a time not so long flown, sported the varsity colors of Duquesne, and sported them honorably. Last night, they had one sweet time. Both attempted shots that made one's Adams apple wither away and turn to dust—and some of 'em flipped straight and true. Coy, carrying around a German goiter of no mean dimension, soon tired of guarding Capt. Rosenberg and picked himself out a spot on the Duke floor about five feet square, staying within its bounds for the greater part of the evening.

Oh yes, the score of the ball game was 55 to 24. Of course, the varsity won. To prove it, here is the lineup and scoring detail:

Duquesne—55.		Alumni—24.
Benedict	F	Cingolani
Lubic	F	Harrison
Vernon	C	Monohan
Rosenberg	G	Cherdini
Stephens	G	Schrading

Score by periods:
Duquesne	17	13	10	15—55
Alumni	5	5	5	9—24

Field goals—Benedict, Lubic 3, Vernon 2, Rosenberg 5, Stephens 3, Vizza 3, Wilder, Collodi 3, Kaercher, Palamone 2, Rozenas, Cingolani 2, Harrison 2, Monohan, Cherdini 2, Schrading.

Fouls—Duquesne 7 out of 17; Alumni 6 out of 12.

Substitutions—Alumni, Rozenas for Cingolani, Cingolani for Monohan; Duquesne, Loeman for Vernon, Collodi for Benedict, Vizza for Stephens, Palamone for Loeman, Wilder for Lubic, Vernon for Palamone, Benedict for Wilder, Stephens for Vizza, Vizza for Benedict, Kaercher for Vernon, Phillips for Collodi.

Referee—Weitzel.
Time of quarters—10 minutes.

GOLDENSON FIVE MEETS CHAMPS TONIGHT

By JULIUS LEVIN.

THE South Side Market House will be the mecca of professional basketball enthusiasts tonight when the Duquesne Lafayettes, twice winners of the Allegheny County League championship and favorites to capture the laurels this winter, clash with the Goldensons in a league encounter that promises to develop into one of the greatest of the season.

Remembering the one-point defeat suffered at the hands of the Lafayettes at Duquesne in the opening league game of the season, the Goldensons, considerably improved as a result of the return of Whitey Littell to the regular lineup and the fine showing of Moon Klinzing, Eddie Siegel and Monk Ketchell in recent games, are determined to put a check to the Lafayettes' winning streak, which to date shows four victories without a defeat.

MAY CLINCH TITLE

The Duquesne Lafayettes, although holding one decision over the popular South Siders, are not taking anything for granted in the battle tonight, and will line up against the Goldensons dtermined to continue their winning streak. A victory over the Goldensons will all but clinch the first-half County League title for the Scarlet Hurricane, while a defeat means there still is a mathematical chance for the other contenders to overtake the champions of the last two years.

The Goldensons have been drawing large crowds to the Market House this season, but tonight's game likely will set a new attendance record. The two clubs shape up as the strongest in the County League race this winter, and they should present a spectacle tonight that should keep their respective followers on the toes from the first whistle.

The game tonight marks the first of the season for George Ramsay as a member of the Duquesne Lafayettes and brings him into action with four of his former teammates on the old Morry team. Norm McVicker, Moon Klinzing, Whitey Littell and Art McGuirk, who formerly played with the Morrys, now are regulars with the Goldensons.

DRIBBLES

Having overtaken North Side Community House in the fight for first place in the Institutional League, the Y. M. H. A. quintet will be out tonight to strengthen its hold on the lead when it meets Heinz House in a league game at the Y. M. H. A. The reserve teams of the two institutions clash in the preliminary game.

One of the largest crowds of the season is expected at North Side Community House tonight when the A. A. U. champions of last season meet the crack Westminster College quintet. The Community House Reserves meet the National Music passers in the preliminary game.

tion left certain recommendations of its president concerning the Amateur Athletic Union and the American Olympic Association to a committte to study. General Pierce had charged that the 1928 games violated the spirit of the Olympic Association's constitution inasmuch as he said the A. A. U. virtually controlled the naming of the Olympic body.

He recommended that the Olympic body be asked to meet soon to consider what he declared was a violation of its constitutional spirit.

Old Sterling Club Feted at Banquet

Former members of the original Sterling A. C. football team, organized in Wilkinsburg in 1898, held its thirtieth annual reunion in the Penn-Lincoln Hotel, Wilkinsburg, last night. The club paid a silent tribute to the members who have passed away. Nineteen of the original members, including Samuel S. Woodside, who played center, were in attendance. Bill McKechnie, former manager of the Pirates and Cardinals and now serving Rochester in a similar capacity, was one of the guests.

BLAWNOX WINS

The Blawnox hockey club defeated the DeMolay Alumni in a West Penn Amateur League game at Duquesne Gardan last night, 3 to 0. The withdrawal of Carnegie Tech as a member was announced by league officials last night. The lineup:

BLAWNOX—3.		DEMOLAY—0.
Brooks	G	Avery
Donaldson	D	Weltz
James	D	Shaw
J. McSorley	C	Beebout
B. McSorley	W	Briggs
Dale	W	McGregor

DeMolay spares—Kramer, Karn, Blair, Norton and Scott.

Referees—Lafferty and Colean.

Summary: First period—Bowser, 10:33. Second period—J. McSorley, 3:09. Third period—J. McSorley, from B. McSorley 5:02. Penalty—Dale, slashing.

PASADENA, Cal., Dec. 29.—(AP.)—The Golden Tornado was gaining in volume as 50 home towners, including Mayor I. N. Ragsdale, of Atlanta, breezed into Southern California ready to blow for Georgia Tech in its clash with California's Golden Bears here in the annual East-West New Year's Day grid festival.

While the Atlantans were shaking hands with an official welcoming party, including Mayor George E. Cryer, of Los Angeles, and Rose Tournament officials, former Capt. Fritz Coltrin, now with the coaching staff, told reporters at the Rose Bowl that California expected a hard fight, but would win.

The California team is intact, none of the players being injured, and all have had the flu early in the season.

Geneva Defeats Carroll by 24-17

CLEVELAND, Dec. 29.—A quintet of tall men representing Geneva College trounced John Carroll University, 24 to 17, here last night in the local team's opening game of the cage season. The lineup:

GENEVA—24.		CARROLL—17.

JIM BOTTOMLEY LEADS IN RUNS DRIVEN IN

By CHARLES J. DOYLE.

Jim Bottomley and Pie Traynor had quite a race for the honor of being in front in driving in runs during the 1928 championship race in the National League, the official figures, announced today, reveal. Sunny Jim, however, copped the laurel, with Traynor in second place and Hack Wilson a good third.

The Cardinal slugger had a short park in which to pole circuit drives in his home games, which probably accounts for his leadership on Traynor. Sunny Jim's four-baggers gave him an edge which Traynor could not surmount.

Bottomley drove in 136 tallies, Traynor's card for the season showing 124. Wilson spanked over 120 counters. Harold Pie was the only Bucco to reach the "century" class.

HORNSBY HITS .632

Rogers Hornsby, leading hitter of the league, had the best slugging percentage—.632, with Bottomley only four points below his former clubmate. But Sunny Jim topped everybody in total bases with a mark of .362. Fred Lindstrom was second in total bases, with 330, and Paul Waner was a fine third, with 329.

Hack Wilson, besides tieing Bottomley in homers, with 31, established a new league record for fanning. Hack struck out 94 times.

Capt. Traynor of the Pirates was the "toughest" player to fan in the league throughout the season. A sure hitter all the way, Traynor fanned only 10 times.

The Waner boys, as per custom, were hard to bring down on strikes. Lloyd fanned only 13 times. Paul struck out on 16 occasions.

HARPSTER

Northwestern and three from Carnegie, but aside from these two schools, no other Eastern college has more than two representatives.

It was a great break for the West when they signed Morton Kaer at the last minute to hold down the safety job. The former All-America halfback from U. S. C. is taking the place of Marcus, of the Olympic Club, who was injured in practice two days ago. Marcus was admitedly a great ball carrier, but that's about all he could do. Kaer, on the other hand, is not only an exceptional ball carrier, but is a great passer and safety man as well. One of the best passing combinations on the coast this last season was that of Kaer to Ford.

With Kaer's name added to the West's lineup, this combination will again be in play, as Ford is holding down one of the end positions for the Westerners.

Kaer was a unanimous choice for All-America honors in 1926. He played for the West last year in the Shrine game, so this will make his second appearance. The coaches of the West team were at a loss as to what to do for a safety man before Kaer agreed to play, but their worries are over now, for Kaer was one of the best ever developed on the coast.

Edge or no edge, the team from the East is set to give these Westerners a real ball game, and today comes our chance to take back to the East some of the prestige which the West won when they defeated Notre Dame, Army and New York U. during the past season.

DE VOS BOWS

series of solid hooks and smashes to the head. This was the nearest either battler came to being wobbly at all. Hudkins, however, not only weathered the storm, but emerged in the tenth with so furious an attack that he checked the Belgian's rush and actually took the lead once more in a rousing finish. Hudkins won the tenth round by a shade and the fight along with it, for there appeared little or no difference on points as they went into the final flurry of gloves.

De Vos had a slight weight advantage, scaling 158¾ to 155½ for Hudkins, whose victory over the widely-heralded foreigner with the aristocratic backing of Tony Biddle of Philadelphia establishes him as the leading contender for Mickey Walker's title.

FIVE SOCCER TILTS CARDED FOR TODAY

TODAY'S GAMES

DISTRICT LEAGUE.
Union Switch and Signal at Pittsburgh Rovers.
Pittsburgh at Twin Boro.

BEAVER VALLEY LEAGUE.
American Bridge at Ambridge.
New Brighton at Harmony.

NATIONAL AMATEUR CUP.
Corinthians at Clan Douglas. (Homewood).

By TOM BIRKS

With a re-play of a national amateur cup tie, two games in the District and Beaver Valley leagues, local soccerdom should have an interesting afternoon's sport today.

The game to be re-played at Homewood will feature Dougles and the Corinthians. Douglas won the first meeting, but later it was found that Marshall had signed a professional form, and that nullified the game.

The best game will find Switch meeting the Rovers. Last Saturday the Vale hung a 4-goals-to-0 defeat on the Rovers, and that did not go so good with the Strip rooters. So today the Dunlop outfit will be battling hard to avenge that defeat.

Pittsburgh will meet Twin Boro, and this game will hardly extend the Blue and White. Twin Boro has improved, but hardly enough to give Carl Ekequist's aggregation a real game.

Two games will be played in the Beaver Valley League. A local derby will be fought at Ambridge when the Bridge Works meets the Independents. The other game will find Harmony meeting the New Brighton eleven. Llmshrdlupeta shrdlup shrdlup up nu

RISKO BEATEN BY SCHAAF

BOSTON, Dec. 29.—(AP.)—Johnny Risko, Cleveland baker boy, dropped a few more rungs down the fistic ladder here last night when he lost a close 10-round decision to Ernie Schaaf, the rugged Boston former sailor heavyweight. Schaaf led in five rounds, Risko in four and one was even.

Risko, who came in at 192, a pound lighter than Schaaf, made a gallant tenth round rally, during which he almost dropped the former gob with terrific lefts and rights to the body. The score card, however, showed that his only chance for victory was to drop Schaaf for the count.

TUSS M'LAUGHRY HUGE SUCCESS AT BROWN

By HARRY KECK, Sports Editor.

ANNOUNCEMENT recently was made by Brown University of the retention of DeOrmond (Tuss) McLaughry, of Mercer, Pa., as head football and basketball coach for the next three years, and the news was hailed with enthusiasm by alumni of the institution.

Well may the Brunonians celebrate the signing of McLaughry, former Westminster College star and coach, for he already has worked wonders at the Providence (R. I.) temple of learning in the three years since he was drafted from Amherst College, where he also was signally successful.

A resume of McLaughry's record as football mentor at Brown reveals the fact that his teams have beaten Dartmouth twice in three games, Yale, Harvard, Holy Cross, Lehigh and Dayton once each and tied Colgate twice and beaten this rival once. He has turned out the undefeated Iron Men eleven of 1926, which went undefeated, and another team that lost only to Yale across a hard season. That 1926 outfit defeated Yale, Harvard, Dartmouth and Lehigh and tied Colgate.

In his playing days, McLaughry, who is the son of Judge McLaughry, of Mercer, also starred at Michigan State College, in addition to Westminster, which is located at New Wilmington, Pa., hard by Mercer.

THE Tri-State Officials' Association is operating this basketball season with less than 15 members, where last year it carried more than 25 on its roster, and finds its men very much in demand, according to J. J. Freund, Jr., veteran local promoter of the sport, who founded the group of arbiters and developed most of the whistle-tooters. In the three years the body had been in existence prior to this season Tri-State officials have handled more than 3,000 games and their fees have totaled approximate $18,000, the services of the officials being placed within the reach of all classes of teams. Freund, who has been interested in basketball in this section for some 30 years, is justly proud of the work of his compact group of survivors of almost 100 who were given the opportunity of making the grade in the organization.

Invitation is at hand from Carnegie Tech announcing that its annual football banquet under the auspices of the Varsity Clan will be held in the William Penn Hotel ballroom Saturday afternoon January TWELVETH. We'll be there, if we can find out when that is.

JACKIE RODGERS ENDS GRIND

Fight Results

At Camden, N. J.—Gene Moretti defeated Al Traynor, 8 rounds; Joey Parker defeated Tommy West, 8 rounds; Young Joey O'Donnell defeated Jose Allano, 6 rounds.

At Memphis—Tony Caponi and Louis Andrews drew, 8 rounds; Tommy Fowlkes defeated Bip Luntzel, 8 rounds; Billy Britton defeated Sailor Bishop, 8 rounds.

COMMISSION, A. A. U. CLASH; BOUTS OFF

The long smouldering feud between the State Athletic Commission and the Allegheny Mountain Association of the A. A. U., over the control of amateur boxing in Western Pennsylvania, broke out afresh last night and resulted in the cancellation of a show scheduled to be held in Flynn's Gymnasium, Sixth street, below Penn avenue, with about 75 persons already in the hall and others coming in.

A test case in court long has been threatened and last night's incident may precipitate it.

The state commission, through Havey J. Boyle, commissioner, notified the sponsor of the show, Francis Flynn, owner of the gymnasium, that the bouts would not be permitted unless the commission supervised it and Red Robinson, a commission referee, acted in that capacity, while a commission physician was to examine the boxers and the commission was to receive 5 per cent of the receipts, as provided by law.

The A. A. U. authorities, who had issued a sanction for the show, took a stand against all of these demands and named Billy Lewis, one of their referees, as the arbiter. Both Robinson and Lewis dressed for the role and were ready to enter the ring when the show was called off by Flynn rather than risk running afoul of the law by defying the commission.

With the A. M. A. junior and senior championship tournaments slated to be held within the next month in the Motor Square Garden ring, a speedy showdown on the battle between the commission and the amateur officials is expected.

Blackburn Victor In Pinehurst Play

PINEHURST, N. C., Dec. 29.—J. B. Blackburn of Pittsburgh reached the semi-final round of the second division in the twenty-sixth annual mid-winter tournament of the Number Two links here yesterday. Blackburn defeated J. H. Bruggeman of Fort Wayne, Ind., by 1 up. In the fourth division J. H. Bialas of Pittsburgh lost by 3 and 2 to Charles Gimbel of Philadelphia.

LONG'S SPORT COMMENT

handed to Benny Paschal. The dope is that, apart from the battery men, the only old Yankees absolutely certain to be retained are Babe Ruth, Lou Gehrig, Tony Lazzeri and Earl Combs.

A surprising angle to the Meusel-Paschal report is that the outfielder whom Huggins decides to part with will go to the Athletics. It is no secret that the Mackmen need outfield material, and it may be true that Huggins is thinking of releasing a fly-chaser, but why the Yankee pilot should be considered willing to strengthen his most dangerous pennant rival is not altogether clear. Meusel, in particular, might be expected to take a big brace with a change of scenery and perhaps make flag winners of the A's.

THE New Year's Day boxing show at Motor Square Garden will be followed by a long shut-down at the East End arena as far as professional fistic operations are concerned. After Tuesday's affair no more pro fight shows will be held there until April.

The extended lay-off is necessitated by the booking of a series of automobile, airplane and other exhibits at the Garden for a string of dates after the holidays. An amateur boxing tournament will follow late in March, and it will be April before the place can be put back in shape for the resumption of pro fights. At that time Manager John L. Hernon intends to start a series of shows with admission prices reduced to $1 and $2, to be continued as long as patronage warrants.

Al Singer.

"GET the money first" is the slogan of New York fight promoters. They have a "natural" in a bout between Al Sanger and Kid Chocolate, and there is a strong popular demand for a meeting of those crack featherweights, but instead of making the match for an early date, and thus risking the killing-off of either Singer or Chocolate as a big card, Tex Rickard and his partners have chosen a course whereby they can squeeze the last possible dollar out of both fighters as gate attractions. They have matched Singer to meet the winner of the Johnny Dundee-Charley (Phil) Rosenberg bout on January 4 and for a tilt with Bud Taylor later. A similar program is being mapped out for Chocolate, and finally, in March, either Chocolate or Singer, or both, if the first loses will be sent against Andre Routis for the featherweight title. Those clamoring for a Chocolate-Singer match will have to wait until the big showmen have cleaned up as much as possible with both attractions.

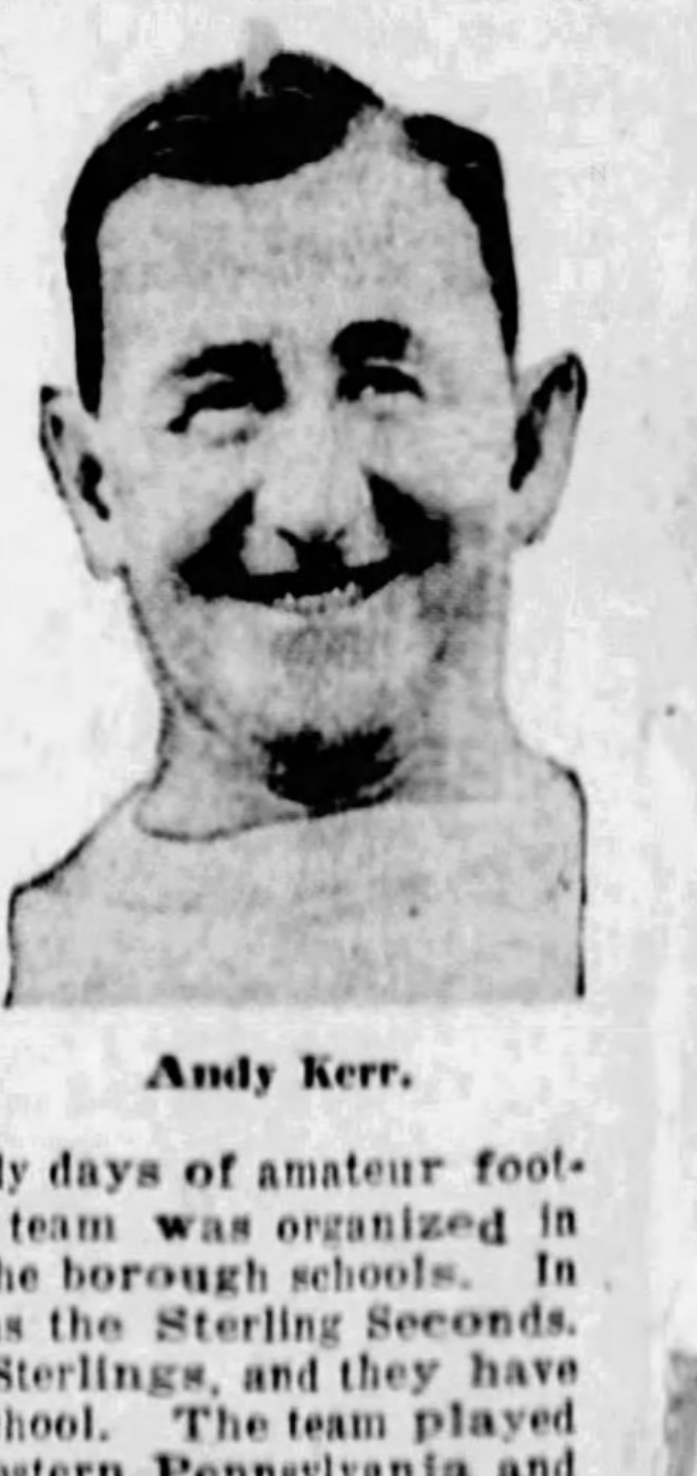
THE action of the promoters in signing Chocolate and Singer for a series of fights, as they did with Tuffy Griffiths before their plans were upset by the latter's defeat at the hands of James J. Braddock, recalls that the New York Boxing Commission adopted a rule a year ago prohibiting matchmakers from binding a fighter for more than one bout at a time. Like a lot of other New York rules it appears to be operative only when convenient.

Meanwhile Rickard is going ahead with the arrangements for the Jack Sharkey-Young Stribling thing to be staged at Miami Beach on February 26. If any doubt had lingered that everything was set for a comeback by Jack Dempsey it would have been dispelled by Rickard's announcement yesterday that the winner of the Sharkey-Stribling affair "likely" will meet Dempsey next September in a contest and that the victor in that encounter "likely" will be declared the heavyweight champion. Tex might just as well have omitted the word "likely" as the whole business was clinched weeks ago.

WHILE the sentiment of football fans in this district naturally is with the "East" team in today's big charity game in San Francisco against the "West" eleven, largely because of the presence of Howard Harpster, Mike Getto, Alec Fox and Carl Aschman in the lineup of the Easterners, it is realized that Andy Kerr's outfit will have to overcome heavy odds to win.

In the first place, the Eastern boys may not easily throw off the effects of the long trip, and in the second place they will be playing in a strange climate that may prove another handicap. The success of Stanford and the Oregon Aggies in New York showed that a trip across the country into a different climate is not always a bar to victory, but such instances are the exception rather than the rule.

WHILE Coach Andy Kerr was giving his "East" team its final preparations for today's game, something that was going on in Wilkinsburg last night no doubt had a place in his thoughts. For at the Penn-Lincoln Hotel the members of the old Sterling football team, of Wilkinsburg, were holding a get-together banquet and talking over the high spots in the career of the famous eleven that once held a place among the best of its class in this part of the country. Kerr was one of the regular halfbacks on that team, and it was a source of deep regret to him that his trip to the coast for the charity game prevented him from being present at last night's gathering.



Andy Kerr.

THE reunion of the Sterlings recalls the early days of amateur football hereabouts three decades ago. The team was organized in 1898, most of the players being students in the borough schools. In 1900 another team was formed and played as the Sterling Seconds. Red and Blue were the colors adopted by the Sterlings, and they have survived as the colors of Wilkinsburg High School. The team played school and independent elevens throughout Western Pennsylvania and during its existence made a record that stamped it as being one of the best of its time.

SIDE-WALKS OF PITTSBURGH

by HAVEY J. BOYLE

A REPORTER turns over to this department a neat, red booklet which purports to be the constitution and by-laws of the International Order of Bar Flies (I. B. F.) and its subsidiary, the Amalgamated Order of Beer Shifters. I hasten to add the booklet was handed over to make up a paragraph, and not as a method of recruiting.

A Pittsburgh chapter was recently formed, the informant reports, and officers elected. Candidates were judged solely by their capacity for office and other things. The various branches are called Traps. A petition to international headquarters, Trap No. 1 in Harry's New York bar, in Paris, has been forwarded on behalf of the Pittsburgh Trap. The organization is devoted to the cause of serious drinking. I could name the president of Pittsburgh Trap, but suffice to say he is a former soldier, and not curiously, he made quite a record with the Tanks.

NOW FOR PRESIDENT HOW 'BOUT ER-- !
WAIT— HOW 'BOUT HIS CAPACITY ?

"As an old South Sider," writes a resident of Sewickley, John J. O'Brien, "I write to ask a few questions. I understand you were born in the South Side." The questions and answers follow:

"How long ago is it since George Plant, of the Jones & Laughlin's mills, fought Jack Bennett, of McKeesport?"

The bout took place in Williamsport (South Thirty-sixth and Carson streets) in 1897.

"Who was the referee?"

The referee was Sam Austin, then sporting editor of the Police Gazette. The bout, by the way, went 20 rounds with Bennett the winner. It was held in a tent. The promoter was Mike McNamara (Mickey Mack) who made a handsome profit. The bout was the talk of all Pittsburgh in the Mauve Decade.

"Who was steward at the Lotus Club?"

Don't know. Harry Lochbaum is the present steward and he makes great apple pies.

"Who was Billy Hummell?"

He opened the swellest restaurant and bar in Pittsburgh history up to that time in the Jenkins Arcade. He was noted as a restaurateur and a man of unusual avoirdupois.

"Where did Charley Schwab spend his evenings, when he worked at Homestead?"

"Who owned the Hotel Arthur?"

Situated at South Twenty-seventh and Carson streets, the Hotel Arthur was owned by various men. Would it be unreasonable to guess that a man named Arthur owned it?

"Who was then president of the A. O. H?"

"Where was Sankey's row?"

"Where did Martin Murphy live?"

I wouldn't know, but quite a few of the Murphys lived behind the Stone Wall, as it was colloquially called.

"Who was principal of the Wickersham Public School?"

A man named Wilkinson.

The Rev. Thomas Devlin.

"What became of the famous football team known as the Carey Alley Indians?"

They were either before my time or I might have been afraid to go around Carey alley, which seemed to be a tough place, and which was a great place for the boys to gather up empty whisky bottles on a Monday morning following Sunday jousts, sell the bottles to the dealers, and with the proceeds pay to see the Tom-Tom Girls or the Bounding Beauties or what other show happened to be at the old Academy.

VOTE BOX HIDES GIN, WHISKY

Gin and whisky were found hidden in a ballot box in the Lang Avenue Spaghetti House, at 932 North Lang avenue, prohibition agents reported last night, following a raid on the place. The box, marked from the Fourth district of the Thirteenth Ward, was taken to headquarters. Agents arrested Anthony Trenga, 23.

Prohibition agents also visited the rear room of a trunk store at 320 Frankstown avenue last night. A small quantity of whisky was reported seized and Aaron Bennett, 40, arrested. A 250-gallon still and large quantities of mash and moonshine were destroyed in a house at 6 Monaca way. No one was in the place at the time of the raid.

Driver in Hospital After Car Hits Light

Andrew Padovo, 18, of 527 Paulson avenue, suffered a probable fracture of the skull when a truck he was driving was knocked against a traffic signal light when struck by an automobile driven, police said, by P. J. Harris, 33, of 5418 Penn avenue, at Aiken and Center avenues, last night. Padovo was taken to the Homeopathic Hospital and Harris was arrested, police report.

Two Hit by Auto, Bring Joint Suit

A joint suit for $15,000 damages was filed in Common Pleas Court yesterday by Mrs. Sarah N. Josselson and her husband, Joseph, of Turtle Creek, against Elmer Tresser, of Turtle Creek. The brief sets forth that Mrs. Josselson was struck by Tresser's automobile in Linn avenue, Turtle Creek, July 10, last, resulting in a broken hand and internal injuries to herself.

YALE GLEE CLUB TO GIVE CONCERT HERE MONDAY

One of the Pittsburgh musical season's feature events is scheduled for Monday evening, when the Yale Glee Club will give a concert at Carnegie Music Hall. This will be the famous choral organization's first appearance here in two years.

Last summer the club toured Europe, where their rendition, especially of Negro spirituals and sea chanteys, won unstinted praise from the music critics in the principal capitals.

The Pittsburgh program includes all of the familiar Yale songs, Christmas songs and several American and foreign choral selections. Morris W. Watkins is the club's acting director.

MARSHALL BARTHOLOMEW

B. & O. Engineer Injured in Cab

William T. Pahlow, 49, of 415 North Elizabeth street, Hazelwood, a Baltimore and Ohio Railroad engineer, is in McKeesport General Hospital suffering from several fractured ribs and internal injuries. Pahlow was injured in the cab of his locomotive while operating in the Demmler yards this morning.

ASHES GIVE CLUE TO THEFT

Partly burned 1929 calendars may solve the alleged theft of a quantity of butter from a refrigerator car in the East Liberty yards of the Pennsylvania Railroad, according to Railroad Detectives B. H. Richards and H. A. Steiner.

As a result of their investigations, Benjamin Ginyard, 15, Negro, of 1125 Wheeler street, is being held for further investigation by Justice of the Peace George C. Blair, 620 Ross avenue, Wilkinsburg.

While investigating the theft yesterday, the detectives came upon the remains of a fire near the looted car. Scratching through the ashes they found several partly burned 1929 calendars advertising an East Liberty undertaking establishment. At the undertaker's they learned, they say, that Ginyard and another boy had been hired to distribute the calendars. Ginyard's arrest followed. He is charged with breaking into and entering a sealed car. The detectives are looking for the other boy.

Old Sterling Grid Team Has Reunion

East End Residence Looted of Gems, Cash

Jewelry and silverware valued at $1,600 and $16 in cash were stolen from the home of H. C. Krider, at 314 South Aiken avenue, late yesterday, police were informed today. A rear cellar door was jimmied during the absence of Mrs. Krider and the entire house ransacked. The loot consisted of two lady's rings and a wedding ring.

Wilkinsburg Gives $2,760 To Welfare

Wilkinsburg contributed $2,760.35 in the recent Allegheny county welfare drive, according to the final report submitted by Chairman Royal E. Cook. Mr. Cook pointed out that this is a very good showing, in so far as there was an unavoidable delay in the forming of an organization to work in the borough.

Arbitration Pact Given China's Envoy

WASHINGTON, D. C., Dec. 29.—(AP.)—Negotiation of an arbitration treaty between the United States and China has been initiated, the State Department announced, by transmission of a draft pact to the Chinese minister, S. Alfred Sze, to serve as a basis for agreement. It is similar to the treaties recently signed with France and 10 other countries and those now in process of negotiation with 20 other nations.

Three Philadelphia Fugitives Indicted

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 29.—(AP.)—Eight bills of indictment, containing 26 counts, against Richard and Charles Kaelker and Moe Weinback, declared by District Attorney Monaghan to be the heads of a police-protected gambling syndicate, were returned yesterday by the December grand jury.

Fugitive warrants for the three were issued several weeks ago. So far none of them has been found.

Man Rescues Boy From Icy River

NEW KENSINGTON, Pa., Dec. 29.—Attracted by screams of a child from the direction of Kiski River, Paul Murray, Leechburg-New Kensington Transportation Company shop foreman, saw a boy floundering in the ice-filled stream. He ran over the ice and caught the victim—a boy between 8 and 10—as he was sinking for the third time. The child did not reveal his name.

500,000 - Year - Old Ground Sloth Dug Up

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Dec. 29.—(AP.)—A ground sloth, classified nothrotherium, believed to have lived 500,000 to 1,000,000 years ago, has been obtained by the Peabody Museum at Yale, it was announced yesterday.

The animal is described by Prof. Richard S. Lull, director of the museum, as being in an amazing state of preservation. The entire skeleton is intact, the bones being held in articulation by the original tendons and ligaments. Several patches of the hide still remain, bearing patches of the hair.

The sloth was found beneath the surface of an extinct crater in Dona Ana county, New Mexico. When alive it measured eight feet.

SEEK TO KEEP DRAMA LEAGUE CHAMPIONSHIP

OLIVIA KELLY MARGARET MURRAY RITA CRISTE

Three students of the Carnegie Tech school of Drama comprise this stage aggregation known as the "Puppets," winners of the Samuel French trophy awarded in the annual players' contest sponsored by the Pittsburgh center of the Drama League of America. These young women, Olivia Kelly, Margaret Murray and Rita Criste, will present a short aketch, "The Rescue," by Rita Creighton Smith, a scene from which is shown above, and hope by its presentation to keep the trophy permanently and avail themselves of the right to participate in the international contest to be held in New York next spring.

EAST END CHURCH WILL OBSERVE BISHOP'S DAY

Bishop Herbert Welch of the Pittsburgh area of the Methodist Episcopal Church preaches his first sermon tomorrow morning at 11 o'clock before the congregation of Christ Methodist Episcopal Church. This is in keeping with the annual custom of the church to observe the last Sunday of the year as Bishop's Day. At the evening service at 8 o'clock, Ben Scovell, English-American actor, gives a dramatic reading, "The Fanatic."

The Rev. Dr. A. Gordon MacLennan, pastor, Shadyside United Presbyterian Church, speaks tomorrow morning on "The Sacredness of Life," and evening on the subject "King of Kings, Lord of Lords." Special musical programs will be given at both services.

The Rev. Dr. Selby F. Vance of the Western Theological Seminary occupies the pulpit of Homewood Presbyterian Church, Bennett street, tomorrow at both morning and evening services. At the morning service he speaks on the subject "Purpose," and evening on "The Two Ways." An organ recital by Prof. A. R. Norton precedes the evening service.

CHRISTMAS MUSIC

A program of Christmas music will be presented by the quartet and senior and junior choirs, assisted by Mary Redmond, violinist, and William Roberts 'cellist, tomorrow in the First United Presbyterian Church, Wilkinsburg. The program will be under the direction of Mrs. Adalaine Merrill Biddle, organist and director, and was originally scheduled for last Sunday.

"The Most Popular Sin of 1928" is the sermon subject of the Rev. Dr. Percival H. Barker tomorrow evening in Point Breeze Presbyterian Church, Fifth and Penn avenues. Dr. Barker speaks at the morning service on the subject "The Fine Art of Right Living."

The Rev. Dr. W. L. McEwan preaches both morning and evening tomorrow in the Third Presbyterian Church. In the morning he uses as his sermon theme "Go Forward," and evening, "Be of Good Cheer."

"Taking Stock" will be the Rev. Homer C. Renton's sermon subject tomorrow morning at the Oakland-Wesley Foundation Church, Forbes and Boquet streets. In the evening at 7:45 o'clock the Rev. Renton also will preach.

WILL ILLUSTRATE SERMON

An illustrated sermon, "Jesus the Great Teacher," will be given tomorrow evening at 7:45 o'clock in Edgewood Presbyterian Church. The Rev. Ralph W. Lloyd, pastor, speaks in the morning at 11 o'clock on the subject "Available Resources."

A communion service will be held tomorrow morning at 11 o'clock in Lemington Presbyterian Church, Vassar street. A New Year's address will be given by Mrs. W. E. Allen, wife of Dr. Allen, pastor, at the evening service at 7:45 o'clock.

"The Dying Year" and "Good News" are the sermon themes of the Rev. Dr. Norman C. Milliron, pastor, First Evangelical Church, Center avenue and Graham street, tomorrow.

The Rev. Dr. George Taylor, Jr., speaks tomorrow morning at 11 o'clock in the First Presbyterian Church, Wilkinsburg, on the subject, "A New Year's Message." "What Shall I Carry Over From the Christmas Season?" is his evening sermon subject.

The Rev. Dr William J. Reid, pastor, First United Presbyterian Church, Fifth avenue and Thackeray street, occupies his pulpit tomorrow morning and speaks on the subject "The Endless Kingdom." Dr. Reid speaks at the evening service at 8 o'clock on the theme, "The Sustaining Staff."

"Balancing Life's Account" is the sermon topic of the Rev. Sheridan Watson Bell, pastor, South Avenue Methodist Episcopal Church, Wilkinsburg, tomorrow evening at 7:45 o'clock. His morning theme is "Making Things New."

WILL DISCUSS NEW YEAR

"Day by Day in 1929" will be the theme of the Rev. W. R. McGeary, pastor, Second United Presbyterian Church, North Negley and Station avenues, tomorrow morning at 11 o'clock. The Rev. McGeary preaches at the evening service at 8 o'clock on the subject "Christian Mathematics."

The Rev. Dr. W. Wofford T. Duncan, pastor, Emory Methodist Episcopal Church, North Highland avenue and Rippey street, preaches tomorrow morning on the topic "The Value of Institutionalism." In the evening at 7:45 o'clock an old year farewell service will be held in place of the usual watch-night service. Dr. Duncan preaches on the topic "Retrospect and Prospect."

The Rev. Dr. Robert MacGowan, pastor, Bellefield Presbyterian Church, Bellefield and Fifth avenues, occupies his pulpit tomorrow and preaches upon "The Drift of the Years" at the morning service at 11 o'clock and "How to Face the New Year" at the evening service at 8 o'clock. The vested quartet sings.

"Making the New Year a Success" is the sermon theme of the Rev. Dr. W. M. Woodfin, pastor, Third United Presbyterian Church, Shady avenue and Northumberland street, tomorrow evening at 8 o'clock. Dr. Woodfin speaks at the morning service at 11 o'clock on the subject "And They Forgot God."

Candy Man Accused By 20 Girls Freed

MORRISTOWN, N. J., Dec. 29.—(INS.)—After deliberating more than six hours the jury tryink G. Ross Lansing, Dover (N. J.) confectioner, accused of mistreating 20 little girls, failed to reach an agreement and was discharged early today by Judge Albert H. Holland. The gray-haired defendant is one of eight men recently indicted on the same charge in Dover.

No move was made for further prosecution of the confectioner.

4 ROBBERIES BOOKED BY POLICE

Robbery of an East End home, two gasoline service stations and a Strip restaurant was reported to police today.

The home of H. C. Krider, 314 South Aiken avenue, was entered last night by jimmying cellar windows and the first floor ransacked, police were notified. The thieves escaped with several diamond rings and silverware. A check-up was being made to determine value of the loot.

Thieves entered the Beechwood Service Station, Beechwood boulevard, near the Murray Avenue Bridge, by forcing open the front door and obtained $30 from the cash register. Accessories valued at $190 were taken by intruders who forced their way through a rear door in the Becker & Cole Garage, 537 Wilmot street.

Two revolvers and cigarets valued at $15 were taken from the Produce Restaurant, 2009 Penn avenue, according to the police report. The cellar door was jimmied.

LITHUANIAN, 105 MISSES RUM

Living to the age of 105 years is easy in Lithuania—on a diet of whisky and sour milk, according to Jurgis K. Skinderis.

"But not in the United States," he opined. "The whisky isn't whisky at all."

Mr. Skinderis was 105 on December 16. He is in Pittsburgh to give a song and dance program in St. Casimir's school hall, Twenty-second and Jane streets, tomorrow evening. Singing and dancing is one of the things he does best. In fact that's the way he makes his living.

A son and four daughters of Mr. Skinderis live in the United States. Three sons are dead. He has been in this country for three months and will remain through the winter. He is a guest in Pittsburgh of James Moneck, Hotel Schenley.

Will Rogers Says

NEW YORK, N. Y., Dec. 29.

Another Republican, an old colored fellow, called the turkeys up to where he could shoot 'em. So it was really another 100 per cent Republican victory over Democratic trustfulness.

Coolidge, calling Hoover to Washington now, makes me believe he will turn the thing over to him now, and not wait till March, saying "here is the Senate. You take 'em and wrestle with 'em. Me for the rod and gun."

Yours,

WILL.

BYERS CO. GAINS $2,500,000 BY INVESTMENT

By GEORGE H. SNYDER.

THE A. M. BYERS COMPANY has a hidden profit of $2,500,000 on its investment in the stock of the Oil Well Supply Investment Company. The balance sheet of September 30 shows an item, "Investment in stock of associated company at cost, $500,000."

This represents 100,000 shares of Oil Well Supply Investment for which $5 a share was originally paid. Yesterday this stock was quoted bid 29, asked 31, which indicates a total value of about $3,000,000.

THE stock was acquired two years ago when the investment company was formed to take over blocks of stock in both the Oil Well Supply Company and the A. M. Byers Company. All three organizations are under the control of J. H. Hillman, Jr., and his associates. The holding of Investment Company stock was valuable to Byers since it, together with other Hillman holdings, made the 90 stores of the Oil Well Supply Company available as sales outlets for Byers pipe.

THE Investment company is very much of a mysetry in financial circles. A year ago it disposed of its holdings of Oil Well Supply stock to Spang, Chalfant & Company when the latter absorbed the Standard Seamless Tube Company. The Oil Well Supply stock still remains "in the family" since Mr. Hillman is also the dominant figure in Spang.

Oil Well Supply Investment is understood to have taken Spang stock in exchange for its Oil Well Supply Company stock. After the transaction the $2,000,000 of 5½ per cent notes were retired . Just what the Investment Company's present holdings are and at what prices it sold portions of its holdings are unknown.

THE annual report of the A. M. Byers Company for the year ended September 30, 1928, showed practically no change from the net profit in the preliminary report. This was $1,577,513 or $5.76 a share on the 199,340 shares of common stock after deducting dividends on the $6,726,000 of seven per cent preferred.

In spite of the fact that sales were less than in the previous year, net profit was the greatest ever reported by the company.

DURING the year minor changes and improvements in operations made it possible to greatly increase the company's capacity for making pipe. It is interesting to note that the large earnings were shown with average operations for the year of only 65 per cent of the present rated capacity. The output based on the capacity as rated a few years ago would have been close to the maximum.

THE change from the production of hand-puddled wrought iron to iron made by the Aston process has necessitated the scrapping of the puddle furnaces at the South Side plant here.

The blast furnace at Girard, Ohio, is of the old, inefficient type which is unprofitable under present conditions in the pig iron market. For this reason it also is being abandoned.

These two items made it necessary to write off $684,348 from the property account. This was in addition to the normal allowances for depreciation and depletion. It was not deducted from income for the fiscal year.

IN commenting on the Aston process and the $11,000,000 improvement program, A. H. Beale, president, and E. M. Byers, chairman, said in their remarks to stockholders:

"Work on this process has been continued during the year, at the experimental plant leased by the company at Warren, Ohio, with very satisfactory results. It has been definitely proved that genuine wrought iron, superior in quality to hand-puddled iron, can be produced on a quality basis and at a cost considerably lower than the cost of hand-puddled iron.

"The experimental plant now produces about 40 per cent of the company's present muck bar requirements, and, even though this experimental plant was not designed for quantity production but primarily for the purpose of determining the possibility of absolute control of operation and quality, the cost of muck bar produced in this plant is somewhat lower than the cost of hand-puddled muck bar."

STOCKS MOVE TO HIGHER LEVELS

NEW YORK, Dec. 29.—(AP.)—Stock prices moved irregularly higher at the opening of today's market, with buying orders fairly well distributed. Initial gains of a point or so were recorded by Jordan Motors, Corn Products, Union Carbide, American locomotive and Atlantic Refining. Wright Aeronautical opened 2¼ points higher and General Electric and Chesapeake and Ohio each touched new high records. Packard Motors fell back 1¼ points.

With only one more day of extreme tight money expected, bullish operations were conducted with confidence in a number of copper, food, public utility, electric, steel, rail and equipment shares. Relatively little "tax selling" made its appearance in the early trading on the last day in which such transactions can be cleared in the regular manner. Losses for tax purposes on Monday must be made in cash as ordinary transactions that day will not be cleared until the first business day of the new year.

Wright Aeronautical and National Tea sold 5 points above yesterday's final quotations before the end of the first half hour. Youngstown Sheet and Tube, Safeway Stores, General American Tank and Electric Auto-Lite were added to the list of new high records.

Early gains of 2 points or more were recorded by Chicago Pneumatic Tool, Cerro De Pasco Copper, Bordens, National Bellas Hess, American Sugar Refining, Purity Baking preferred and American Smelting.

Further selling developed in some of the rubber issues, Goodyear falling back 2 points. Montgomery Ward, General Railway Signal and Vanadium Steel fell back a point or so on realizing.

Foreign exchanges opened easier, with sterling cables down to $4.85 7-16.

COTTON MARKET

NEW YORK, Dec. 29.—The Cotton Market opened steady at an advance of 2 to 4 points on some trade buying and week-end covering. Rather disappointing Liverpool cables appeared to be offset by favorable reports from the cotton goods trade, but the advance to 20.24 for March met some realizing of a little Southern selling, and the market eased back to about yesterday's closing quotations by the end of the first half hour. Private cables said that trade calling had been satisfied by continental and Bombay liquidation in Liverpool, but noted an improved cloth demand from India and China. The amount of cotton on shipboard awaiting clearance at the end of the week was estimated at 174,000 bales against 143,000 last year.

LIGHT TRADING VOLUME IN PITTSBURGH MARKET

The volume of transactions was light and price changes were narrow during the half-day session in the Pittsburgh Stock Exchange. Prices were generally firm and there were a number of fractional advances.

Pittsburgh Investment shares sold ¼ higher at 24¾. This is the highest price reached by the stock since it was listed several weeks ago.

American Window Glass Machine common was in supply and sold down to 25. This was a decline of 4¾ points. Intense competition and new machinery in the glass industry is held responsible.

Westinghouse Air Brake sold a fraction higher in sympathy with higher prices in the New York market. Arkansas Natural Gas preferred was active but sold unchanged. Salt Creek Consolidated Oil sold a fraction higher.

Standard Motor Construction.

The Diesel engine business being secured by Standard Motor Construction Company is showing a consistent increase, according to officials of the company. The company has spent $1,000,000 in developing and perfecting the Diesel engone, all of which was charged off against earnings. It is now reaping the fruit of this large investment. The stock is on the active lowpriced issues on the New York Curb. The financial condition is excellent, with a conservative capitalization. It has 180,000 shares of no-par common stock and $45,540 of $10 par 7 per cent cumulative stock, convertible into common in the ratio of three shares of common for one of preferred. Standard Motor history dates back to 1900 through the present corporation succeeding the old company in 1927. A group of bankers recently took a substantial interest in the company.

Frigidaire Outlook Brighter.

E. G. Beicher, president of Frigidaire Corporation, says the company in 1928 did the greatest volume of business in its history. "Prospects for 1929 are more encouraging," he says. "The corporation has never been in such excellent condition as now. Our 1929 sales should reach a mark never attained before."

Baldwin and Midvale.

Baldwin Locomotive Works gross sales for 1928 will be about $21,500,000, against $32,901,143 in 1927. While the locomotive business has been the poorest in the company's history this year, the Midvale company, in which Baldwin holds controlling interest, had a good year, and in November increased the quarterly dividend to 75 cents from 50 cents. Baldwin holds slightly over 50 per cent of the 200,000 shares of Midvale stock, and as the cost to Baldwin is estimated at around $25 a share, the return on the investment at the present dividend rate is 12 per cent.

Post Holiday Trade Dull.

Bradstreet's Weekly Trade Review says: "With seasonal conditions ruling, the trend has been toward quiet in all lines, but especially in retail trade and in industry, which are still, however, relatively more active than a year ago. One reason for retail trade, after a probably record turnover, remaining active, is found in one area in the volume of bonus money released late and employed in picking up bargains from after holiday clearance sales. It might be noted here that the mild weather before and during the holiday period was a retarding element at most markets, heavy clothing and similar lines being so much slower as to have cut down the volume of retail buying as a whole. Reports of influenza retarding buying come from several points, South as well as North. Industry has naturally quieted, but as above indicated, even at this, the inventory season seems more active than last year, when shutdowns were much more marked. In wholesale and jobbing trade, demand was mainly for goods to be used in early January "sales." Collections were fair to slow. Weekly bank clearings $10,562,037,000, an increase of 23.4 per cent over the same week a year ago."

POLICE DRY UP 'ROARING 40'S'

NEW YORK, Dec. 29.—(INS.)—Police Commissioner Whalen's threat to "dry up New York's white light district by New Year's Eve" resulted in raids on 12 alleged speakeasies last night and early today in which 18 proprietors and waiters were arrested and liquor valued at $200,000 seized. Most of the raids were made in the "Roaring Forties" by police in co-operation with Federal agents.

Speakeasies in the slums and in Greenwich Village, as well as in the white light district, felt the force of the new polise commissioner's campaign. At a dingy tenement on Mott street, only three blocks from police headquarters, liquor valued at $75,000 was confiscated and eight persons arrested.

BOY ACCUSED IN 5 DEATHS

GASTONIA, N. C., Dec. 29.—(AP.)—A 17-year-old boy is being held as a murder suspect, pending an inquest into the deaths of his parents, two sisters and a younger brother, found burned to death in the ruins of their home, four miles from this town.

WOMAN INJURED IN CRASH

Mrs. Elizabeth Klagest, 48, of 5525 Beverly place, was bruised and suffered shock in an auto crash at North Negley avenue and Columbo street today. The car in which she and her husband, A. M. Klagest, 50, were driving was struck and overturned by a machine driven by V. M. Leach, Negro, of 5161 Hillcrest street. The Klagests were compelled to crawl over the top of their car. Mrs. Klagest was taken to West Penn Hospital. Leach was arrested.

Lonely Chicagoan Finds Gotham Girl Cold

NEW YORK, Dec. 29.—(INS.)—Pierre Lynne, 28, of Chicago, was lonely. So he trailed pretty Ida Shapiro, 23, around on the subway for two days. Although he never spoke to her, she had him arrested. When taken in custody Pierre offered the girl two theater tickets.

"Guess I won't need these tonight," he said. "I wanted to take you to see a show. You use them, anyhow." She refused.

Pierre was given a suspended sentence.

BABY CHOKING FOR 13 DAYS IMPROVES

CINCINNATI, O., Dec. 29.—(AP.)—The thirteenth day since baby Frank Brooks swallowed a toy motorcycle at his Asco, W. Va., home, proved anything but unlucky for the little fellow, as his hospital nurses reported last night that his condition showed a great improvement.

The baby, 1½ years old, accidentally swallowed the toy, an inch and a half long, while eating popcorn. The plaything, which came as a prize in a popcorn package, lodged in the child's throat. Several West Virginia physicians were unable to remove the obstacle and the child was brought to a hospital here a week ago.

Since his arrival the baby contracted pneumonia, a natural development, due to throat obstruction, physicians said, and the attending surgeons found his general condition too run down to make an operation advisable.

Attending physicians said many suggestions had reached them, how to remove the toy. One such suggestion was that the surgeons try to remove the toy by means of a strong magnet. Hospital attaches said such a procedure would not be possible.

Scores of requests for permission to photograph the baby were refused with the reply that to do so would require moving the child's body and might possibly cause a spread of pneumonia.

Meanwhile, the baby suffered partial strangulation and is unable to eat solid foods, liquids being the only substance which successfully passes the throat obstruction.

TROOPER SLAIN, HOUNDS TRAIL PRISONER

HIGHTSTOWN, N. J., Dec. 29.—(INS.)—Twenty-five New Jersey state troopers and two bloodhounds were searching a patch of woods near here early today for David Ware, who killed a state trooper last night while being taken to jail.

Peter Gladyes, the slain trooper, was taking the Negro to jail for beating a Negro woman with whom he had been living. The trooper's throat was slashed by a razor. He had been in the service only six months.

A Negro was picked up on suspicion early today at Robbinsville, according to word received here. Pansy Keaton, the woman who caused Ware's arrest, was to make an attempt to identify the suspect.

ALBERT PAYSON TERHUNE AND "GREY DAWN"

As Albert Payson Terhune, noted writer of dog stories, recovers in his Pompton Lakes, (N. J.) home, food for "Grey Dawn," king of the Terhune household, must be given him at his master's bedside, which he has not left in the two weeks since a hit-and-run driver struck Terhune.

INDIAN ORDERED TO PAY ATTORNEYS $139,282.93

NEW YORK, Dec. 29.—(AP.)—Jackson Barnett, Oklahoma Indian, whose oil land made him a millionaire over night and whose gifts of $1,000,000 were set aside in Federal Court because he apparently had no idea of the value of the money, was ordered by Federal Judge John C. Knox yesterday to pay his lawyers $139,282.93.

The four law firms of Patterson, Eagle, Greenough and Day; Summer and Foster; Cochran and Willison, and McCrory and Monk, had handled the case on a 40 per cent contingency basis, but Judge Knox held this too liberal an allowance and reduced the fees to 25 per cent plus $14,282.93. Elmer S. Bailey, of Tulsa, Okla., guardian of Barnett, was given $7,500 for his labors in behalf of the Indian.

Barnett, 81-year-old member of the Creek Tribe, eloped six years ago with a white woman giving her $500,000 as a wedding gift and at the same time establishing a trust fund of equal amount for the American Baptist Home Mission Society.

Oklahoma courts appointed Bailey guardian and he immediately brought suit in Federal court to have the trust fund set aside on the ground that the Indian was incompetent. In 1927, after two years of litigation, Judge Knox declared the gifts null and void and ordered Barnett's funds and property turned over to the Secretary of the Interior for safe keeping, declaring the aged Indian had been "solicited and importuned for donations, kidnaped and married by an adventuress and harassed and annoyed by his attorneys."

THE PRODUCE MARKET

Trading at the local wholesale produce district for practically all lines of fruit and vegetables was liberal today. The quotations were about unchanged.

The poultry market was rather weak, with the demand dull, supplies moderate and quotations unchanged.

Eggs and cheese were steady. Butter was firm. No change was made in the quotations on these markets.

Car lot supplies were moderate, a total of 457 cars being on track. Arrivals included 1 car of apples, 1 cabbage, 2 celery, 1 grapefruit, 3 grapes, 3 lemons, 5 lettuce, 3 onions, 8 oranges, 1 chicory, 1 potatoes, 1 beets, 3 cauliflower and 2 tomatoes.

HAY AND GRAIN.

"MORE service."

Speaking over the entire network of the NBC last night, M. H. Aylesworth, president of the National Broadcasting Company, promised listeners that the policy of the chain for the year 1929 would be "more service."

"The destiny of the NBC will be guided always by the wishes of the vast radio audience," he said, in a very short appropriate speech during a gala "Carnival" program celebrating the second year of the company's existence.

"We cannot predict revolutionary achievements in radio during the next 12 months," Mr. Aylesworth said, "but mechanical achievements are of interest to us only as they contribute to better service. Each new development will be measured by its usefulness to the radio listener.

"Much has been accomplished in the past year. The permanent coast-to-coast circuit is now an established fact. The NBC System spans new geographical areas. But our work cannot rest there. We feel an increased responsibility to continue our efforts to place our organization and facilities at the disposal of the public, to present to the nation the best that radio can give. Our policy has always been service. Therefore our program for 1929 must be 'more service.'"

MILLIONS FOR TALENT

Presentations from studios of the National Broadcasting Company in the past year cost $5,000,000 for talent alone, said Mr. Hall Aylesworth.

In addition, the rental for wires to carry the programs to associated stations totalled $2,000,000, he said.

"In America," he continued, "we have something like 700 radio stations. If they were to be financed on the British license basis—and at the same expenditure per station—it would cost the listeners of America approximately $192,000,000 in radio taxes, or from $15 to $20 a year tax on every owner of a radio set.

"As a matter of fact, in this country we try to raise the money painlessly. In America we obtain our financial support in the same way as does our sister industry—the publication business. That is, by making available a certain proportion of space or time for the printed or spoken messages of commercial concerns. In other words, advertising."

The program was heard in Pittsburgh last night through KDKA and WCAE.

COLUMBIA OPENS.

For the first time since its organization the Columbia System will use its national network on a Saturday, tonight at 10:30 o'clock, to present a Studebaker Motor program, featuring Ben Bernie and his orchestra. Bernie will be master of ceremonies, spreading witticisms and his usual interpretations of popular dance music. The concert will open with "I'll Get By" and will include "How About Me?" "Glad Rag Doll" and "Whoopee." WJAS will broadcast the program in Pittsburgh.

Another feature at WJAS tonight is the appearance of "Ukelele Pat" Haley, at 9:30 o'clock. Haley is now on the Keith circuit. He started his career in the studio of WJAS.

Woman Sues Phone Concern For $53,000

WASHINGTON, Pa., Dec. 29.—Damages in the sum of $53,000 are asked by Mr. and Mrs. Fred Fischer, of this city, in a suit filed against the Bell Telephone Company. The claim is based on injuries suffered by Mrs. Fischer when she was struck by a truck of the defendant company.

CANADIANS SEE SHORT WAVE SOLUTION

OTTAWA, Ont., Dec. 29.—(AP.)—Officials of the Department of Marine and Fisheries, which controls radio in Canada, expressed optimism yesterday over the outcome of an international conference here January 9 on allocation of short wave lengths.

The Toronto Mail and Empire, in a dispatch from the Capital, said the conference was doomed to failure because of a breach by the United States of a Washington agreement for allocation, but the department said "there is reasonable prospect of an agreement being reached that will be fairly equitable to the countries interested, viz. United States, Newfoundland, Cuba, Mexico and Canada."

Two-thirds of the channels of the short wave lengths, which are considerably below those used for broadcasting programs, are reserved for ship-to-shore, television, aeronautical and similar service, leaving the remaining channels for division between the five countries.

Advices from Washington were that less than half the unshared channels had been reserved for allocation by the American radio commission, indicating, the department said, that on a proposal for a 50-50 division, "the commission has not made an unreasonable number of allotments and has not done anything that would prejudice the free discussion by the conference or would preclude a solution of the problem satisfactory to all concerned."

OBITUARY

Confer Funeral

OIL CITY, Pa., Dec. 29.—(AP.)—The funeral of A. L. Confer, 85, wealthy oil operator and refiner of Oil City, who died suddenly yesterday at his winter home at Umatilla, Fla., will be held Monday in Oil City. Mr. Confer was president of the Empire Oil Works, Ltd., and the Tidioute Refining Company. He was a former mayor of Oil City, a member and former officer of the National Petroleum Association and director of several banks here. He also was prominent in Masonic ranks. In early life Mr. Confer played shortstop on the Atlantic and Great Western team. Two daughters survive. They are Mrs. E. W. Chase and Mrs. J. F. Means, both of Oil City. Mrs. Confer died 10 years ago.

Martin Quinn.

Martin (Mercy) Quinn, 55, for more than 30 years a foreman at the Edgar Thomson works of the Carnegie Steel Company, Braddock, who died Thursday, was buried today from the home of a sister, Mrs. William J. Dry Agents Seek "Santa" for Gift of Champagne

Monahen revealed today that while he was absent from home, an unidentified man left the heavy package with the maid. A Christmas greeting card was attached.

The commissioner turned the champagne over to federal agents, who admit the best they can do is file a warrant against Santa Claus.

Official—Pittsburgh 111

NOTICE is hereby given that Ordinance, copy of which is published herewith, was introduced in the Council of the City of Pittsburgh on June 18, 1928, pursuant to the provisions of the several Acts of Assembly authorizing said City, without any petition of property owners, to open, widen, macadamize and otherwise improve streets and alleys, or parts thereof, within its limits, viz:

BILL NO. 1939.

AN ORDINANCE—Widening Richbarn road at the intersection with Brighton road in the Twenty-seventh Ward of the City of Pittsburgh and providing that the costs, damages and expenses occasioned thereby be assessed against and collected from properties benefited thereby.

SECTION 1. Be it ordained and enacted by the City of Pittsburgh, in Council assembled, and it is hereby ordained and enacted by the authority of the same, That Richbarn road at the intersection with Brighton road in the Twenty-seventh Ward of the City of Pittsburgh be widened by taking for public use for highway purposes all the following described property, to-wit:

Beginning at the intersection of the northerly line of Brighton road with the southerly line of the Brighton Villas Plan of Lots of record in the Recorder's Office of Allegheny county in Plan Book, Vol. 30, page 182; thence extending along said southerly line of the Brighton Villas Plan of lots south 75° 29' 30" east 2.52 feet to a point on the easterly line of Richbarn road; thence extending along said easterly line of Richbarn road produced south 15° 35' 10" west 1.81 feet to a point on the northerly line of Brighton road; thence extending in a northwesterly direction along said northerly line of Brighton road by the arc of a circle having a radius of 180.0 feet and a central angle of 0° 58' 30", 3.06 feet to the place of beginning.

SECTION 2. The Department of Public Works is hereby authorized and directed to cause said Richbarn road at the intersection with Brighton road to be widened in conformity with the provisions of Section 1 of this Ordinance.

SECTION 3. The costs, damages and expenses occasioned thereby and the benefits to pay the same shall be assessed against and collected from properties benefited thereby in accordance with the provisions of the Acts of Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania relating thereto and regulating the same.

SECTION 4. That any Ordinance or part of Ordinance, conflicting with the provisions of this Ordinance, be and the same is hereby repealed, so far as the same affects this Ordinance.

NOTICE is hereby given that Ordinance, copy of which is published herewith, was introduced in the Council of the city of Pittsburgh on December 10, 1928, pursuant to the provisions of the several Acts of Assembly authorizing said city, without any petition of property owners, to open, widen, straighten, extend, vacate, grade, pave, curb, macadamize and otherwise improve streets and alleys, or parts thereof, within its limits, viz:

BILL NO. 3403.

AN ORDINANCE—Opening Legion street in the Twenty-sixth Ward of the City of Pittsburgh, from Maple avenue to Perrysville avenue, fixing the width and position of the sidewalks and roadway and establishing the grade hereof and providing that the costs, damages and expenses occasioned thereby be assessed against and collected from properties benefited thereby.

SECTION 1. Be it ordained and enacted by the City of Pittsburgh, in Council assembled, and it is hereby ordained and enacted by the authority of the same, that Legion street in the Twenty-sixth Ward of the City of Pittsburgh, from Maple avenue to Perrysville avenue, be and the same is hereby opened to a general width of 38.0 feet by taking for public use for highway purposes the hereinafter described property, to-wit:

Beginning on the westerly line of Maple avenue at a point distant north 10° 29' 40" west 62.88 feet along the westerly line of Maple avenue from the northerly line of Charles street north; thence extending in a northerly and westerly direction by the arc of a circle deflecting to the left with a radius of 15.0 feet and a central angle of 87° 43' 00" for a distance of 22.96 feet to a point of tangent; thence by the tangent south 51° 47' 20" west 137.59 feet to a point of curve; thence in a westerly and southerly direction by the arc of a circle deflecting to the left with a radius of 8.0 feet and a central angle of 102° 51' 05" for a distance of 14.36 feet to a point on the easterly line of Perrysville avenue distant 21.55 feet northwardly along the easterly line of Perrysville avenue from the first point of curve in the same north of Charles street north; thence in a northerly direction along the easterly line of Perrysville avenue by the arc of a circle deflecting to the left with a radius of 185.91 feet and a central angle of 19° 09' 15" for a distance of 62.15 feet to a point; thence in a southerly and easterly direction by the arc of a circle deflecting to the left with a radius of 20.0 feet and a central angle of 57° 59' 40" for a distance of 20.24 feet to a point of tangent; thence by the tangent north 81° 47' 20" east 149.32 feet to a point of curve; thence in an easterly and northerly direction by the arc of a circle deflecting to the left with a radius of 15.0 feet and a central angle of 92° 17' 00" for a distance of 24.16 feet to the westerly line of Maple avenue; thence along the westerly line of Maple avenue south 10° 29' 40" east 68.05 feet to the place of beginning.

SECTION 2. The sidewalks shall have a general width of 8.02 feet and shall lie along and contiguous to their respective street lines.

The roadway shall have a general width of 22.0 feet and shall occupy the central portion of the street lying between the above described sidewalks.

The grade of the northerly curb line shall begin at the westerly curb line of Maple avenue at an elevation of 432.64 feet (curb as set); thence by a convex parabolic curve for a distance of 20.0 feet to a point of tangent to an elevation of 431.81 feet; thence falling at the rate of 7.5% for a distance of 112.78 feet to a point of curve to an elevation of 423.35 feet; thence by a concave parabolic curve for a distance of 60.0 feet to the easterly curb line of Perrysville avenue to an elevation of 421.04 feet (curb as set).

SECTION 3. The Department of Public Works is hereby authorized and directed to cause said Legion street in the Twenty-sixth Ward of the City of Pittsburgh, from Maple avenue to Perrysville avenue, to be opened in conformity with the provisions of Section 1 of this ordinance.

SECTION 4. The costs, damages and expenses occasioned thereby and the benefits to pay the same shall be assessed against and collected from properties benefited thereby in accordance with the provisions of the Acts of Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania relating thereto and regulating the same.

SECTION 5. That any Ordinance or part of Ordinance conflicting with the provisions of this Ordinance, be and the same is hereby repealed, so far as the same affects this Ordinance.

NOTICE is hereby given that Ordinance, copy of which is published herewith, was introduced in the Council of the City of Pittsburgh on December 10th, 1928, pursuant to the provisions of the several Acts of Assembly authorizing said City, without any petition of property owners, to open, widen, straighten, extend, vacate, grade, pave, curb, macadamize and otherwise improve streets and alleys, or parts thereof, within its limits, viz:

BILL NO. 3399.

AN ORDINANCE widening South Aiken avenue in the Seventh Ward of the City of Pittsburgh, from Ellsworth avenue to Center avenue, and providing that the costs, damages and expenses occasioned thereby be assessed against and collected from properties benefited thereby.

SECTION 1. Be it ordained and enacted by the City of Pittsburgh, in Council assembled, and it is hereby ordained and enacted by the authority of the same, That South Aiken avenue in the Seventh Ward of the City of Pittsburgh, from Ellsworth avenue to Center avenue, be and the same is hereby widened so that the street as widened shall lie between the street lines hereinafter described, to-wit:

The westerly line from Ellsworth avenue to Center avenue shall coincide with the westerly line of South Aiken avenue as at present opened to a width of 50.0 feet.

SECTION 2. The Department of Public Works is hereby authorized and directed to cause said South Aiken avenue, in the Seventh Ward of the City of Pittsburgh, from Ellsworth avenue to Center avenue to be widened in conformity with the provisions of Section 1 of this ordinance.

SECTION 3. The costs, damages and expenses occasioned thereby and the benefits to pay the same shall be assessed against and collected from properties benefited thereby in accordance with the provisions of the Acts of Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania relating thereto and regulating the same.

SECTION 4. That any Ordinance or part of Ordinance, conflicting with the provisions of this Ordinance, be and the same is hereby repealed, so far as the same affects this Ordinance.

NOTICE is hereby given that Ordinance copy of which is published herewith, was introduced in the Council of the City of Pittsburgh on December 10, 1928, pursuant to the provisions of the several Acts of Assembly authorizing said City, without any petition of property owners, to open, widen, straighten, extend, vacate, grade, pave, curb, macadamize and otherwise improve streets and alleys, or parts thereof, within its limits, viz:

BILL NO. 3410

AN ORDINANCE—Authorizing and directing the grading, regrading, paving, repaving, curbing, recurbing and otherwise improving to the re-established lines and re-established grades of Grant street, from Second avenue to Water street, and providing that the costs, damages and expenses of the same be assessed against and collected from property specially benefited thereby.

SECTION 1. Be it ordained and enacted by the City of Pittsburgh, in Council assembled, and it is hereby ordained and enacted by the authority of the same, that Grant street, from Second avenue to Water street be graded, regraded, paved, repaved, curbed, recurbed and otherwise improved to the re-established lines and re-established grades thereof.

SECTION 2. The Mayor and the Director of the Department of Public Works are hereby authorized and directed to advertise, in accordance with the Acts of Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, and the ordinances of the said City of Pittsburgh relating thereto and regulating the same, for proposals for the grading, regrading, paving, repaving, curbing, recurbing and otherwise improving to the re-established lines and re-established grades of said street between said points; the contract or contracts therefore to be let in the manner directed by the said Acts of Assembly and ordinances; and the contract price or contract prices, if let in separate contracts, not to exceed the total sum of Twenty-three Thousand Four Hundred ($23,400.00) Dollars, which is the estimate of the whole costs as furnished by the Department of Public Works.

SECTION 3. The costs, damages and expenses of the same shall be assessed against and collected from properties specially benefited thereby, in accordance with the provisions of the Acts of Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania relating thereto and regulating the same, and the City's share of said work to be chargeable to and payable from Code Account ——— People's Bond Issue, 1928.

SECTION 4. That any Ordinance or part of Ordinance, conflicting with the provisions of this Ordinance, be and the same is hereby repealed, so far as the same affects this Ordinance.

NOTICE is hereby given that ordinances, copies of which are published herewith, were introduced in Council of the City of Pittsburgh on November 26, 1928, pursuant to the provisions of the several Acts of Assembly authorizing said City, without any petition of property owners, to open, widen, straighten, extend, vacate, grade, pave, curb, macadamize and otherwise improve streets and alleys, or parts thereof within its limits, viz:

BILL NO. 3240.

AN ORDINANCE—Vacating the unnamed 15.0 foot way, from Coltor street to its northerly terminus and Coltor street, from Forty-fifth street to its easterly terminus in the Ninth Ward of the City of Pittsburgh.

SECTION 1. Be it ordained and enacted by the City of Pittsburgh, in Council assembled, and it is hereby ordained and enacted by the authority of the same, That the unnamed 15.0 foot way, from Coltor street to its northerly terminus and Coltor street, from Forty-fifth street to its easterly terminus, as laid out in the Plan of Building Lots situate in the Ninth Ward of the City of Pittsburgh by James S. Devlin, and of record in the Recorder's Office of Allegheny County, in Plan Book, Volume 6, page 157, be and the same are herby vacated.

SECTION 2. That any Ordinance or part of Ordinance, conflicting with the provisions of this Ordinance, be and the same is hereby repealed, so far as the same affects this Ordinance.

NOTICE is hereby given that Ordinance, copy of which is published herewith, was introduced in the Council of the City of Pittsburgh on November 30, 1928, pursuant to the provisions of the several Acts of Assembly authorizing said City, without any petition of property owners, to open, widen, straighten, extend, vacate, grade, pave, curb, macadamize and otherwise improve streets and alleys, or parts thereof within its limits, viz:

BILL NO. 3352.

AN ORDINANCE — Authorizing and directing the grading and paving of Fitch way, from Glenarm avenue to Flatbush avenue and the construction of a storm sewer for the draining thereof; letting a contract therefor, and providing that the costs, damages and expenses of the same be assessed against and collected from property specially benefited thereby.

SECTION 1. Be it ordained and enacted by the City of Pittsburgh, in Council assembled, and it is hereby ordained and enacted by the authority of the same, That Fitch way, from Glenarm avenue to Flatbush avenue be graded and paved and a storm sewer constructed for the drainage thereof.

SECTION 2. The Mayor and the Director of the Department of Public Works are hereby authorized and directed to advertise, in accordance with the Acts of Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, and the Ordinances of the said City of Pittsburgh relating thereto and regulating the same, for proposals for the grading and paving of said street between said points and the construction of a storm sewer for the drainage thereof; the contract or contracts therefor to be let in the manner directed by the said Acts of Assembly and Ordinances; and the contract price or contract prices, if let in separate contracts, not to exceed the total sum of Ten Thousand Two Hundred ($10,200.00) Dollars, which is the estimate of the whole cost as furnished by the Department of Public Works.

SECTION 3. BUGS BAER Says

Arthur "Bugs" Baer

WHEN Mr. Hoover, traveling salesman for a big American good-will concern, arrives back in Washington he will find an army that will match his navy.

All honest men voted for Herbert.

And some even more honest who voted for Herbert twice.

Herbert committed a social blunder when he said, "A job for every voter."

It sounded beautifully over the radio. But fails to tune in with our national resources.

There are not 100,000 political chairs in Washington. If Herbert is intelligent he will stay on his battleship.

We think that Herbert meant to say, "A job for every voter who has already got a job."

But when he got to, "A job for every voter—" he was interrupted by the roar of affirmative static.

When we look through the bunghole of the pork barrel we discover very little bacon and rind for the boys.

That would make 16 cabinet members with eight singing tenor and the other eight soprano.

He could stuff a few thousand more into the Senate without changing the general effect on bargain days.

We might afford 20,000 or 30,000 more enforcement agents for the suburbs.

There is always room in the world for 10,000 extra diplomats leaping from conference to conference.

But when 100,000 political orphans want jobs you know they don't mean pick and shovels.

And we don't want to increase the Army and Navy by buying 100,000 more desks.

Every time Mr. Hoover takes a walk down Pennsylvania avenue he will be a one-man parade flanked by 100,000 cheering spectators.

The only way to get rid of a politician is to give him a job at the next desk to yours. After that you never see him until your term is up.

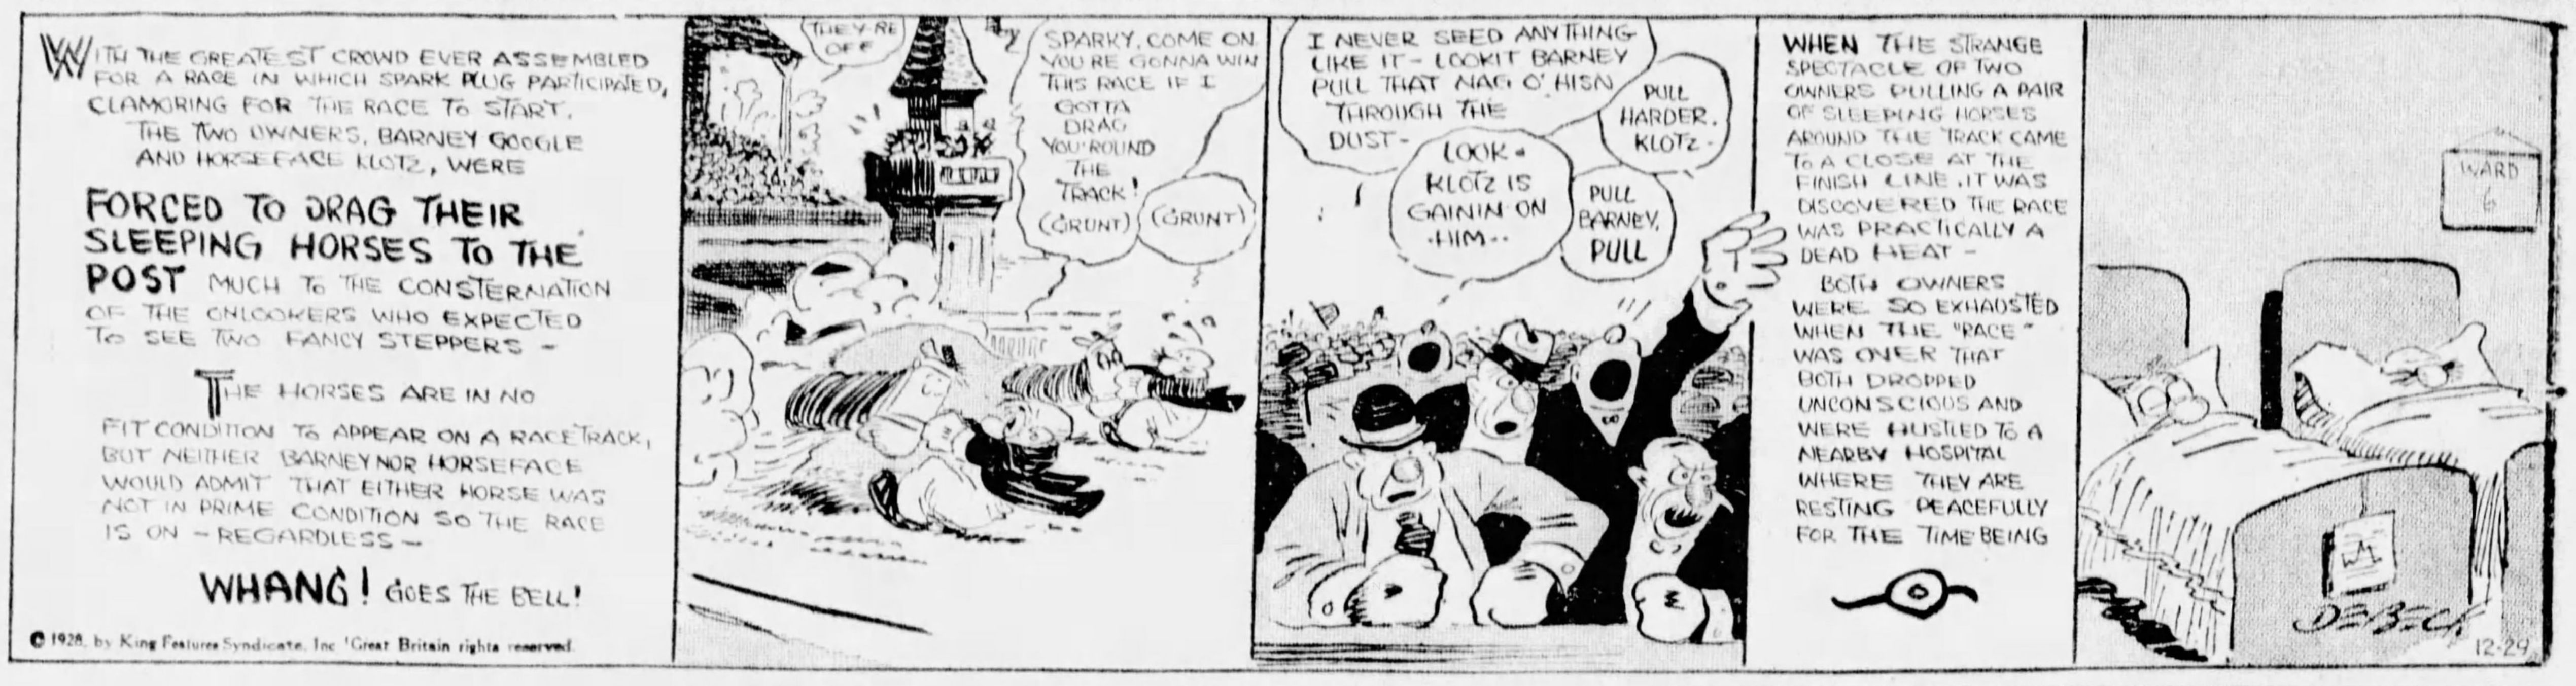
BARNEY GOOGLE AND SPARK PLUG

A Race For Sleepers



WITH THE GREATEST CROWD EVER ASSEMBLED FOR A RACE IN WHICH SPARK PLUG PARTICIPATED, CLAMORING FOR THE RACE TO START. THE TWO OWNERS, BARNEY GOOGLE AND HORSEFACE KLOTZ, WERE FORCED TO DRAG THEIR SLEEPING HORSES TO THE POST MUCH TO THE CONSTERNATION OF THE ONLOOKERS WHO EXPECTED TO SEE TWO FANCY STEPPERS -
THE HORSES ARE IN NO FIT CONDITION TO APPEAR ON A RACETRACK, BUT NEITHER BARNEY NOR HORSEFACE WOULD ADMIT THAT EITHER HORSE WAS NOT IN PRIME CONDITION SO THE RACE IS ON - REGARDLESS -

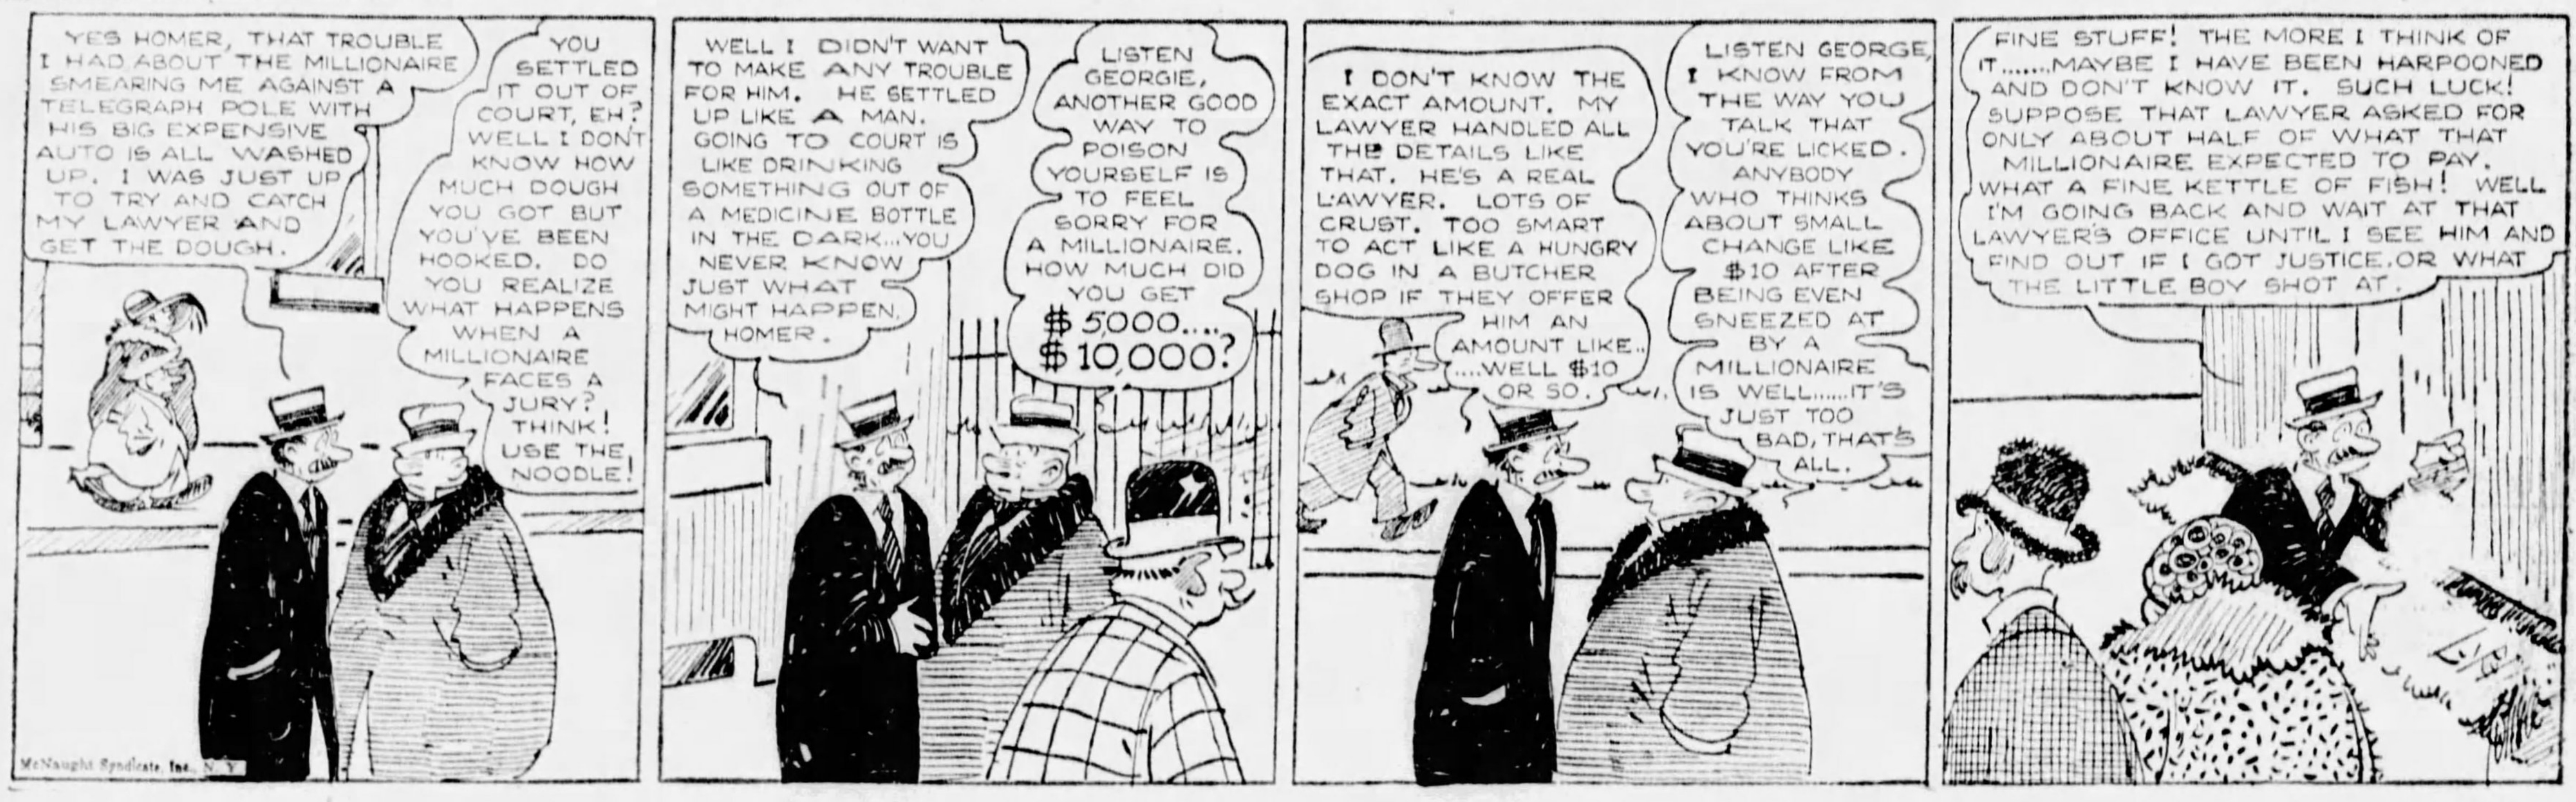
THE BUNGLE FAMILY

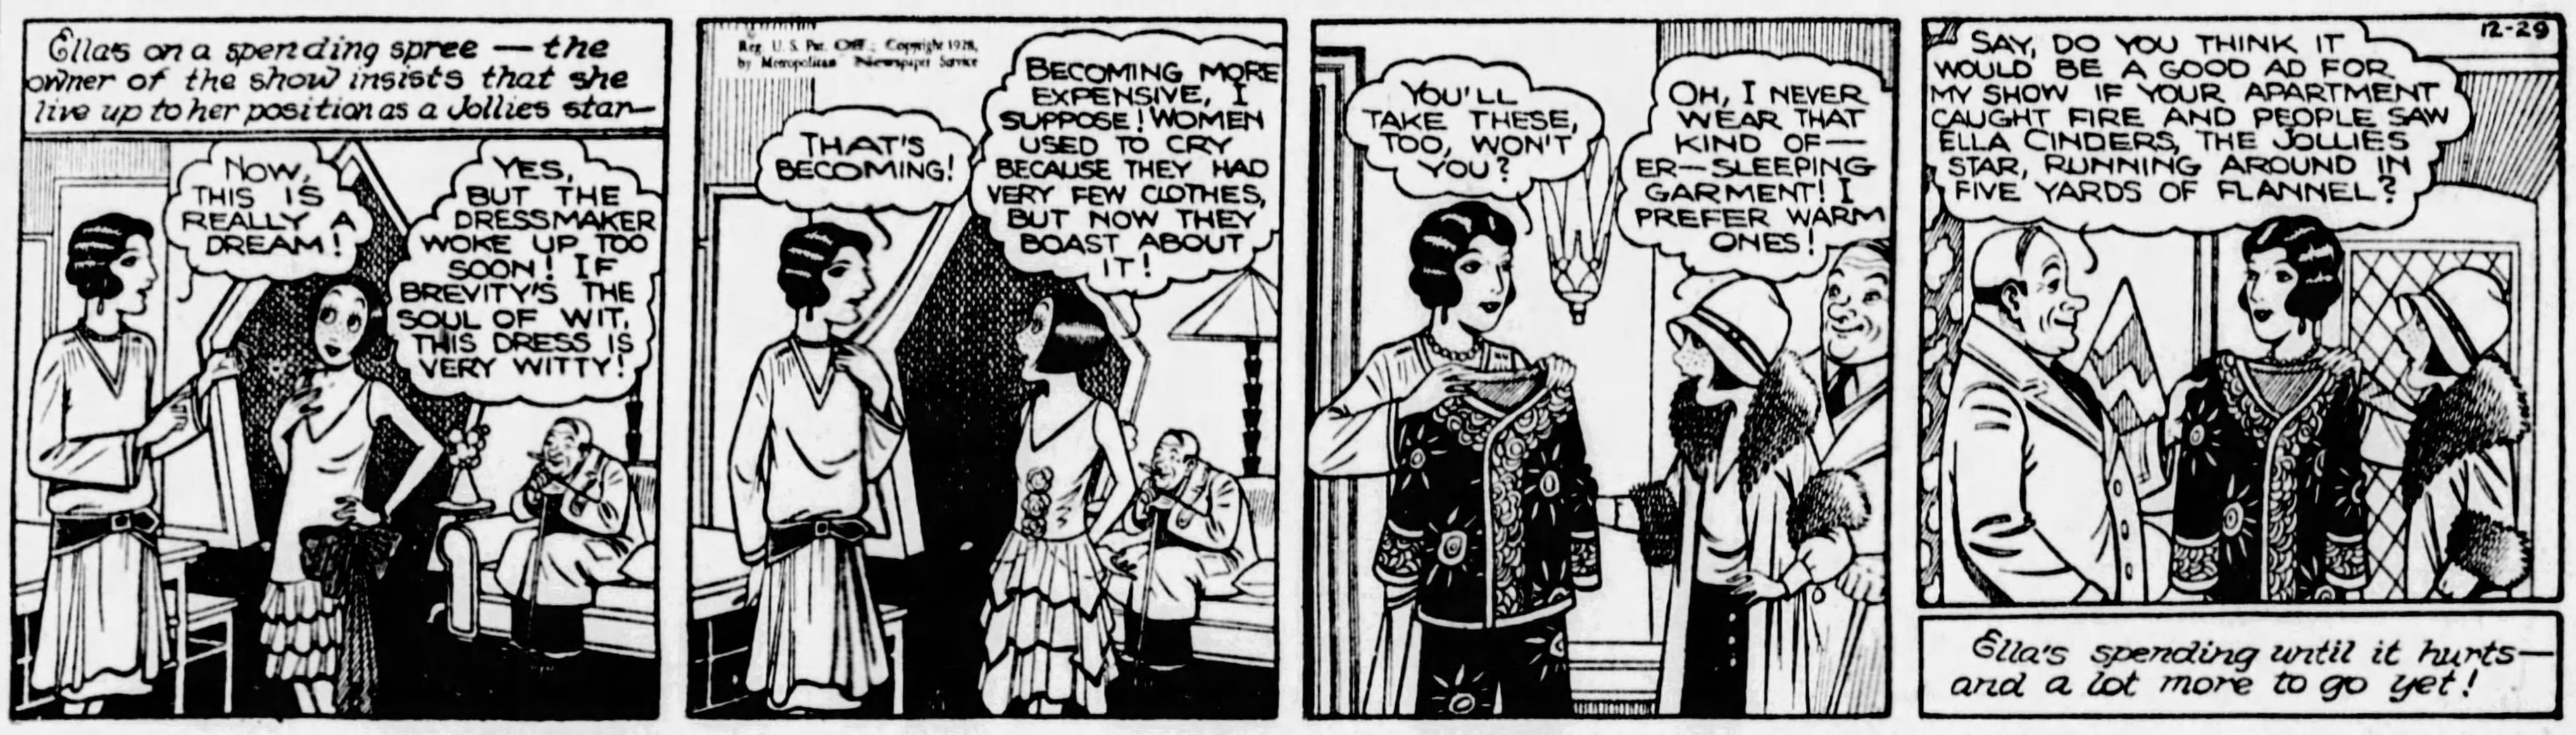
Friendly Gloom



YES HOMER, THAT TROUBLE I HAD ABOUT THE MILLIONAIRE SMEARING ME AGAINST A TELEGRAPH POLE WITH HIS BIG EXPENSIVE AUTO IS ALL WASHED UP. I WAS JUST UP TO TRY AND CATCH MY LAWYER AND GET THE DOUGH.
YOU SETTLED IT OUT OF COURT, EH? WELL I DON'T KNOW HOW MUCH DOUGH YOU GOT BUT YOU'VE BEEN HOOKED. DO YOU REALIZE WHAT HAPPENS WHEN A MILLIONAIRE FACES A JURY? THINK! USE THE NOODLE!
McNaught Syndicate, Inc., N. Y.
WELL I DIDN'T WANT TO MAKE ANY TROUBLE FOR HIM. HE SETTLED UP LIKE A MAN. GOING TO COURT IS LIKE DRINKING SOMETHING OUT OF A MEDICINE BOTTLE IN THE DARK...YOU NEVER KNOW JUST WHAT MIGHT HAPPEN, HOMER.
LISTEN GEORGIE, ANOTHER GOOD WAY TO POISON YOURSELF IS TO FEEL SORRY FOR A MILLIONAIRE. HOW MUCH DID YOU GET $5000.... $10,000?
I DON'T KNOW THE EXACT AMOUNT. MY LAWYER HANDLED ALL THE DETAILS LIKE THAT. HE'S A REAL LAWYER. LOTS OF CRUST. TOO SMART TO ACT LIKE A HUNGRY DOG IN A BUTCHER SHOP IF THEY OFFER HIM AN AMOUNT LIKE.. ....WELL $10 OR SO.
LISTEN GEORGE, I KNOW FROM THE WAY YOU TALK THAT YOU'RE LICKED. ANYBODY WHO THINKS ABOUT SMALL CHANGE LIKE $10 AFTER BEING EVEN SNEEZED AT BY A MILLIONAIRE IS WELL.....IT'S JUST TOO BAD, THAT'S ALL.
FINE STUFF! THE MORE I THINK OF IT......MAYBE I HAVE BEEN HARPOONED AND DON'T KNOW IT. SUCH LUCK! SUPPOSE THAT LAWYER ASKED FOR ONLY ABOUT HALF OF WHAT THAT MILLIONAIRE EXPECTED TO PAY. WHAT A FINE KETTLE OF FISH! WELL I'M GOING BACK AND WAIT AT THAT LAWYER'S OFFICE UNTIL I SEE HIM AND FIND OUT IF I GOT JUSTICE, OR WHAT THE LITTLE BOY SHOT AT.

ELLA CINDERS

Some New Things



Ella's on a spending spree — the owner of the show insists that she live up to her position as a Jollies star—
NOW, THIS IS REALLY A DREAM!
YES, BUT THE DRESSMAKER WOKE UP TOO SOON! IF BREVITY'S THE SOUL OF WIT, THIS DRESS IS VERY WITTY!
Reg. U. S. Pat. Off.; Copyright 1928, by Metropolitan Newspaper Service
THAT'S BECOMING!
BECOMING MORE EXPENSIVE, I SUPPOSE! WOMEN USED TO CRY BECAUSE THEY HAD VERY FEW CLOTHES, BUT NOW THEY BOAST ABOUT IT!
YOU'LL TAKE THESE, TOO, WON'T YOU?
OH, I NEVER WEAR THAT KIND OF — ER — SLEEPING GARMENT! I PREFER WARM ONES!
SAY, DO YOU THINK IT WOULD BE A GOOD AD FOR MY SHOW IF YOUR APARTMENT CAUGHT FIRE AND PEOPLE SAW ELLA CINDERS, THE JOLLIES STAR, RUNNING AROUND IN FIVE YARDS OF FLANNEL?
Ella's spending until it hurts— and a lot more to go yet!

Editor's Note—Today's Sermonette was delivered by the Rev. Carl Harbaugh before the City Club.

IT OFTEN comes to pass that a man steps into another's shoes, and yet can't walk in them. A poor tool of a parson gets into a good man's pulpit and takes the same text, but the sermons are chalk, and not cheese. A half-baked swell inherits his father's barns but not his brains—he has the fiddle but not the stick, and more's the pity. The other day a Johnny No-Good stopped me on the street and said, "I have a scheme to make money by wagering on a horse race." "See here, Wilson," said I, "You cannot open oysters with a straw. You can't run a steam engine without coals."

How the King Fell Ill

The King's Costly Devotion to Duty.

ARMISTICE DAY, 1928. KING GEORGE SALUTING THE UNKNOWN DEAD SOLDIER.

The King, not in good health, coming from his warm residence nearby, stood with head uncovered for a considerable period, during religious and other ceremonies at the dead soldier's tomb.

His doctors vainly urged him not to expose himself, and believe that the exposure was the beginning of the pleurisy and illness that attacked him after Armistice Day.

You read sincere reverence in the King's expression as he looks down on the grave, typifying the sacrifice to duty and country of so many brave lives.

He thought how the unknown man among so many had fought and died to make his country safe. His heart was depressed with sorrow and regret. Such depression unfortunately opens wide the door to any attacking disease.

When King George leaves this earth—may it be many years hence—to join Kings that reigned before him, and to meet THE King that reigns over all, will King George meet the "Unknown Soldier" and will he know him? You might imagine him saying, at the Gate of Heaven: "First after beholding the Divine glory, I should like to see that British boy beside whose grave I stood before I came here."

Would the King meet a boy from cold Canada, from Australia on the other side of the world, a fighting Briton from South Africa, or some cheerful, smiling "Tommy" from the east end of London?

No one on this earth will ever know.

In any case, the King would meet a good man, dead for his country. And the dead soldier would meet a good King. And up there, where only One is King, the well-known, much-honored King George, and the "Unknown Soldier" will be alike in rank.

Blind Law Maker Urges Pension for Sightless

Representative Matthew A. Dunn, member of the Legislative delegation which will represent Allegheny county in Harrisburg, asserts he will push his proposed amendment to the state constitution to permit pensions for the blind. About 3,000 of the 10,000 blind in the state, it is estimated, would be eligible for the aid, which, Mr. Dunn says, has been adopted by 19 states.

As a sightless man who is able to care for himself, Mr. Dunn has a greater appreciation of the handicap blindness brings than those of us who are blessed with power to see. We can only imagine it and that, of course, is far short of actual experience. Hence, Mr. Dunn's views are worthy of consideration since he speaks for the person afflicted as he is but who is without the same capacity for providing for himself.

The employment given to the blind in workshops, he says, is congenial to only a limited number, and he describes such labor as a makeshift at the best. He feels that it is unfair to expect the average blind man to compete with modern industrial machinery.

Coming from the source they do, Mr. Dunn's words bear extra weight and value.

Paternal Ambition—

It Forgot Other Men's Children.

Mr. Grescius, of Chicago, says he went into the bootlegging business to educate his children. One of his daughters is in a fashionable girls' school in Boston; his son is a university student. Mr. Grescius was sentenced to jail for thirty days.

It seems to be customary for lonely widows arrested for bootlegging to explain that their children need food. Fashionable education had not been mentioned previously. The difficulty about raising children on bootleg proceeds is the necessity of poisoning other men's children with the bootleg product.

Tales That Are Told

Waiting in Vain

HIGH up, 100 feet above the ground, the steeplejack proceeded with his perilous task. Beneath him a crowd of expectant people watched with breathless interest.

"He gives me the cold shivers," cried a girl.

There was silence for half an hour, then the same girl spoke again.

"He makes me tremble at the knees," she remarked.

Quick Work

"One of the directors, I presume?"

Quite Safe

IT WAS their first visit to an aviation field and the old ladies were so interested in all they saw and heard that they decided to go up for a short trip.

Having paid the necessary fees, they were about to embark in a certain machine when one of the pair turned anxiously to the pilot.

"You will bring me back safely, won't you?" she asked, with a kindly smile.

Worst Story I Have Heard Today

By WILL ROGERS

SOMETIMES the little kids mean it when they say smart things, and sometimes they don't know why it's so smart. Maybe that's the way it was with Belinda. She had a doll and was showing it to Miss Forbes, the school teacher, who was visitin' 'round.

"But last time I was here you had a doll that said 'Mama' when she was squeezed."

"This is the same one."

NEW YEAR'S FLIGHT

By Garrett P. Serviss

PROBABLY the general impression is that at the stroke of midnight, December 31, we get back again to the old place—same old place where we have been before, a kind of rendezvous, trysting place, in space, on the same side of the sun where we started a year ago. We shake hands and say to one another: "Just 12 months ago we were here, and isn't it wonderful to come back and find winter, with the old frosty stars glittering in the same places, waiting for us like old friends?"

But how far do you think it is from one New Year to the next? "Twelve months," you reply. Ah, yes, but you are only measuring it in the units. Einstein has taught us that we cannot separate time from space. How far is it, then, in space? "Why, we are back again in the same place aren't we?" you exclaim, perhaps in surprise.

No, we are not back in the same place—we are at least 378,000,000 miles from the place where we were last New Year. We have not only gone around the sun, but we also have traveled with the sun We shall never get back to that same place again, or to this place where we are now. You will never return to the same spot in the universe where you were born. You have been flying away from it, together with the earth, at the rate of about 12 miles every succeeding second, or say something over a million miles a day. That is an "old home" to which no one can ever return.

Consider that in both time and space the inhabitants of opposite sides of the globe find New Year widely separated. Those who live 180 degrees east of us reach New Year in space about half a million miles this side of the place where we find it. No doubt you had some time thought of the fact that New Year's celebrations are not coincident in time everywhere, for they trail around the earth from East to West, like sunrise; but very likely you had not thought that after New Year has occurred at London, the earth will carry us more than 200,000 miles nearer the star Vega before the same holiday meets us.

The track of the earth in space is a spiral, made up of its orbit around the sun and its motion with the sun toward the region of the sky where the bright star Vega, in the Lyre, is the most conspicuous object in sight. But it is not Vega that is drawing us on. We are moving in consonance with some vast revolution of the starry system and Vega simply happens to lie, at present, almost "in the eye" of our tremendous voyage.

LISTEN, WORLD!

By Elsie Robinson

IT'S easy to pass judgment on criminals, but have you ever stopped to think what you would do if you were really up against it?

Doubtless you have a conviction that your character is fireproof and that you deserve a lot of credit for the same. And you probably regard criminals as perverse pests who have deliberately chosen deeds of darkness. Most of us enjoy such convictions. But have you ever had that fireproof character of yours tested? And have you ever had to face the circumstances which criminals face?

Suppose you had been born of diseased and imbecile parents, as so many of our criminals are born—would you then have had this solid intelligence of which you are so proud?

Suppose you had been half starved all your life so that there wasn't a sturdy bone or tissue in your weedy body—would you then have had the "spunk to stand up to temptation" which you so stoutly advocated?

Suppose you had been surrounded all your life by vulgar, shoddy seconds of humanity, without tradition or standards, pride or position—would you, in spite of that, have developed a discriminating taste which would turn you instinctively toward righteousness?

Suppose you were sick and penniless and desperate—or that the one you loved best lay ill and you could not help, would you still stick firmly to the paths of rectitude?

Maybe you would but I wouldn't—and I know what I'm talking about.

For many years I, too, had these snooty ideas about my innate righteousness. Then at last life put me up against it and I discovered the tensile strength of my morality. It was exactly nil.

I was sick, broke and frantic with fear and my little son lay sick and hungry. There came a night when I walked out into the street. I did not know what I would find in the street, and I did not care. I wanted food for my boy and some escape from my own terror. I would have stolen—I would have murdered—to have found that relief. I would have done any of the other pitiful things which women in such trouble do—luckily I did not have to do any of them. Help came in time.

BUT I HAVE NEVER FORGOTTEN THAT I WAS PERFECTLY WILLING TO DO THINGS — THAT I WAS ONLY WAITING FOR A CHANCE.

Robert Louis Stevenson, gentlest of souls, wrote this:

"It is all very fine to talk about tramps and morality. Six hours of police surveillance (such as I have had) or one brutal rejection from an inn door change your views upon the subject like a course of lectures As long as you keep in the upper regions, with all the world bowing to you as you go, social arrangements have a very handsome air; but once get under the wheels and you will wish society were at the devil. I will give most respectable men a fortnight of such a life and then I will offer them two pence for what remains of their morality."

Think of that before you regard the next jail with smug satisfaction. Are you intrinsically different from the murderer, the prostitute, the thug. Or are you merely lucky?

Bible Passages

God and Mammon

(Matthew 6: 24-34)

NO man can serve two masters: for either he will hate the one, and love the other; or else he will hold to the one, and despise the other. Ye cannot serve God and mammon.

Therefore I say unto you, Take no thought for your life, what ye shall eat, or what he shall drink; nor yet for your body, what ye shall put on. Is not the life more than meat, and the body than raiment?

Behold the fowls of the air: for they sow not, neither do they reap, nor gather into barns; yet your heavenly Father feedeth them. Are ye not much better than they?

Which of you by taking thought can add one cubit unto his stature?

And why take ye thought for raiment? Consider the lilies of the field, how they grow; they toil not, neither do they spin:

And yet I say unto you, That even Solomon in all his glory was not arrayed like one of these.

Wherefore, if God so clothe the grass of the field, which today is, and tomorrow is cast into the oven, shall he not much more clothe you, O ye of little faith?

Therefore take no thought, saying, What shall we eat? or, What shall we drink? or, Wherewithal shall we be clothed?

But seek ye first the kingdom of God, and his righteousness; and all these things shall be added unto you.

Take therefore no thought for the morrow: for the morrow shall take thought for the things of itself. Sufficient unto the day is the evil thereof.

Gold

THE glint of gold
Can make hearts cold
That once were true and kind;
Love which of old
They used to hold,
Forgotten, falls behind.

So this I say:
"Gold, fly away,
Slip, slip my fingers through;
Love's lips, love's eyes
Far more I prize
Than coins shining, new.

"Who knows? Some day
I yet may stray,
A beggar, lone and old;
But my desire
Will still aspire
To other alms than gold!"

Isn't It So?

There are no "idle rich." All are kept busy dodging people who want some of it.

NEW YORK DAY BY DAY

By O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, Dec. 29.—Old-timers enjoy squeezing out a glycerine tear or so for Broadway's decadence. "It's not what it used to be"—they cry. And there are reasons for the lamentation. Glories of other days have faded and many traditions are just a memory.

To a new generation it may be just as glamorous, but for the old it diffuses a different charm. Broadway characters pointed out today are racketeers, night club gorillas, grafters, exploiters of plays with perversion themes, millionaire kids who wind up in alcoholic straight jackets, and blackmailing ladies.

There are few such figures as Oscar Hammerstein and his high-peaked silk hat; James Buchanon Brady and his diamonds; Berry Wall, the fashionplate, with his 300 suits; "Honest John" Kelly and Richard Canfield. These representative Broadwayites had intelligence and charm. There was a difference between a sportsman and a sport.

Broadway had an easy-mannered eye lift for sham, and its contempt for the "tin horns" was pronounced. The Bowery plug-uglies had not shed sweaters and crept out of cellars to spread in Tuxedo elegance at ringside night club tables. Gentlemen did not slap their ladies in public.

Such restaurants as Rector's, Shanley's, Sherry's and Delmonico's flourished as did sporting rendezvous like Considine's and the old Metropole with red-blooded patronage. In their stead are sanitized stands serving pale orange drink to effeminate men and chop suey cafes run by Wun Lung Fooeys.

Cafes whose tables were once patronized by broad-gauged men as discriminating in their choice of ladies as in their vintage wines are now overrun with pimply youths in high-belted coats, who permit their gum-chewing ladies to pay the check. And like it.

Broadway corners had such illustrious loiterers as Weber and Fields, David Warfield, Nat Goodwin, Richard Harding Davis, Francis Wilson, James J. Corbett and Augustus Thomas instead of sallow worldlings in shiny serge talking out of the side of the mouth, prison fashion, "awaiting the breaks."

Seven theaters this season listed the fugitive George Spelvin in their programs. Mr. Spelvin is well known to theatergoers, but none has ever met him. In fact, he does not exist in the flesh. He is one of the stage's harmless Frankensteins—just a name used for players who double in character bits. Thus the butler may appear under his regular name, but in his role of policeman is catalogued as Spelvin. His origin is nebulous, and I would hate to tell you how many theatergoers have told me they know George well, the fibbers. Almost as many as those who have met the Prince of Wales.

* * *

In the nocturne of a Broadway night, is an aged, white-haired couple who move from corner to corner, a little off the beaten path, and collect a crowd with old-time hymns sung in quavering voices. Then the venerable gentleman with pathetic earnestness tells of sacrificing a son to Broadway's consuming flame. No collection is taken, and I have seen many men and women drift up with an expression of amusement, listen, and walk away slowly and a little solemnly.

* * *

A lady known in certain New York circles as a pronounced brunette recently toddled down the gangplank from Paris a striking blonde. In a dressmaking salon—she tells this herself—she was attracted by the magnificent hair of a manikin. In textures, gloss and shade it was the loveliest she ever beheld. She promptly offered $2,000 for the tresses, and the hair was made into the wig the lady wears.

* * *

Incidentally, the most expensive transformation of the season is one spun of silvery threads and worn by a girl in a musical show when she appears in public. It is said to have cost $2,200. And even then she looks dumb.

* * *

During the noon-day rush on Fifth avenue a stream of motors was held up by a policeman's lifted arm after the green lights flashed. I somehow imagined the Mayor or the Duke of Dillwater approached. Instead, a trembling old man with palsied head teetered across the street, pushing a wheelbarrow. And if one wasn't likely to be talked about for embracing policemen in public, I think the one at Forty-sixth street would have received a big hug.

OH, THESE WOMEN

By Leola Allard

IF you have in the rush of holiday buying, neglected to make your resolutions, ladies, perhaps a suggestion would be in order.

Why not resolve to be bigger and better women?

No more diet of hard boiled eggs and raw tomatoes. Just the cushiony kind of girl that children like to nestle their heads upon, and that men can go to work without worrying about.

Girls want to marry. At least, most of them want to land the fellow and tag him. The men strut with the slim ones, but in these days men are honing for the old type that doesn't take as much as they can squeeze out, and give as little as possible, if anything. Thanks to the newspapers, they have been educated, thoroughly, and their cry is bigger and better women.

There are few men, of the right kind, who don't both like and want children. When they don't, usually it is because they know they haven't the kind of wife to care for them properly and be happy at home with them.

Women who must, at any cost, stay slim, and look smart in her clothes, can't take chances having babies. When they do have them, the only responsibility they care to shoulder is that of kissing them good night.

A woman took her husband to an orphanage to look at a baby she had chosen to adopt. He fumbled a bit with his cane, and looked embarrassed, and wouldn't touch the child. When the nun lifted the baby (that was prearranged) and placed it in his arms, the baby (this was not prearranged) looked up at him and laughed a toothless and thoroughly amusing, delightful, winning laugh. Then she stuck her finger in his eye.

He wouldn't even put the baby down long enough to have the package wrapped. The sisters threw a blanket over the child and he crawled into his limousine out front. He forgot his cane and his wife carried his hat.

Another smart woman!

There may be better ways of cementing a home happiness, but God evidently don't think so, and as usual He was right.

ONCE OVERS

By J. J. Mundy

ARE you willing to take the blame for mistakes you make?

Must you always hold another responsible for errors?

In your department do you try to get someone to advise you how to go ahead and what you should do under conditions intricate and puzzling?

In this way, having divided the responsibility, you relieve yourself of the effort you might have to make if you alone were held responsible for performance.

You have always sought to divide responsibility.

Finally you are beginning to lose faith in yourself.

This has reduced your usefulness to your firm and to yourself.

To carry responsibilities and discharge them efficiently is a requisite of success in any direction.

The big men in business never sidestep a burden of any kind if it is necessary to their welfare or to the good of their firm.
